All Jaws Imperfect.

DR. H. CAMPBELL, British authority, says no living Briton has a normal jaw, because British food, as now used, does not compel chewing muscles to do their work. 'We are the only nation that insists on a soft pudding every day. We cut off crusts and live on sponge and pulp."

DR. CAMPBELL urges parents to give children food that will exercise their jaws, and says "the people of England are the worst fed of any in the world."

He evidently does not know America, land of professional teeth straighteners, where every prosperous parent figures about fifteen hundred dollars for straightening each child's teeth.

HIGH palates, narrow, undeveloped jaws, unused salivary glands, consequent bad digestion, malnutrition, imperfect development, all come of giving our young children soft pap, swimming in milk or cream, nothing to chew.

And men eat soft stuff, that they may get it down in a hurry, stew, pie, milk toast, pancakes. Look at the teeth of a dog, chewing his bone.

DR. G. DEWEY of Harvard wants the nations using our alphabet to save a thousand million dollars a year merely by improving on the work that the Phoenicians began. The new alphabet would have 24 consonants, 13 vowels, four diphthongs and a sign [illegible] makes up 7 per cent. of the words on a printed page.

BOOKS, magazines, newspapers would be smaller, lighter, cheaper, printers, stenographers, typewriters would save time. Reading would be a swifter process.

IT IS a good suggestion that will not be adopted. But this country and Britain, at least, ought to adopt the metric system in weights, measures, and in Britain for money also. That would be simple.

EUROPE'S great powers, Britain, France, Italy, Germany, will have another Locarno conference, and Senator Borah says it is aimed at us.

Europe wants to make herself economically independent of this country, and in certain lines, rubber and oil, for instance, Europe wants America to be dependent on her.

True, perhaps, but why not? Life is a struggle, trade is a polite cut-throat game. Many nations, with trade forced on them at the bayonet's point, can swear to that.

This nation can protect itself and not whimper. Europe owes us billions, does not want to pay. If she does pay, she means to pay with our money.

AND what about people? We need Europe's markets to sell goods to people there. Why not change the

SHOCK GIVEN SIMPSON WHEN DOCTOR PROVES "BOOMERANG"

STATE IS AMAZED

Family Physician is Trifle Evasive at First.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

COURTHOUSE, SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 30.—Prosecutor Alexander Simpson was given a distinct shock at the Hall-Mills trial today when one of his rebuttal witnesses, called to testify as to the character of Mrs. Jane Gibson, declared the woman's "reputation for veracity" was "not so good." The "boomerang" witness was Dr. J. H. Cooper, of East Millstone, N. J.

Simpson looked amazed. He turned to one of his assistants for a conference.

Insists on Answer.

Dr. Cooper said he was Mrs. Gibson's [illegible] and had known her for five or six years.

The witness was a trifle evasive at first and Simpson demanded:

"Tell me flat-footed whether her reputation is good or bad."

"Now Mr. Simpson, I don't know where you are trying to hang me—"

Laughter broke out in the courtroom and the court rapped for order.

Simpson insisted on an answer—was her reputation good or bad?

"Well," drawled the big, heavy-set doctor, with the quizzical, humorous expression, "I should say from what the neighbors say, it was about fifty-fifty."

There was more laughter and Simpson himself smiled and confessed that

FALL ENDEAVORED TO PAY OFF HIS DEBT

SON-IN-LAW TESTIFIES OF PLAN TO DISCHARGE LOAN BEFORE INQUIRY

C. C. Chase Tells Jury in Washington Conspiracy Trial of Ex-secretary's Appeal to Cleveland Man for Money to Liquidate Obligation to E. L. Doheny, Oil Millionaire.

PRICE McKINNEY, HOWEVER, REFUSED TO ADVANCE CASH, WITNESS SAYS

Father-in-law's Unsuccessful Effort to Exchange Creditors Was Made When Senate Committee Was Conducting Vigorous Investigation Into Private Affairs of Accused Man.

By GEORGE E. DURNO.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Albert B. Fall, ex-secretary of the interior, endeavored unsuccessfully to discharge his $100,000 obligation to E. L. Doheny before the transaction became known to the senate investigating committee, it was testified today by Fall's son-in-law, C. C. Chase.

Chase, the first witness called in the trial of his father-in-law and Doheny for alleged conspiracy to defraud the government in oil leases, testified that in November of 1923 Fall endeavored to obtain a loan of $100,000 from Price McKinney of Cleveland, but without success.

Fall's effort to exchange McKinney for Doheny as his creditor came at a time when the senate committee on public lands was conducting a vigorous investigation into his private affairs, particularly with respect to the $100,000. It was within two months of this [illegible] Doheny came forward and Fall had announced his beneficiacy was E. B. McLean, wealthy publisher—and announced that he had made the loan.

Cleveland Man is Dead.

Under questioning by Owen Roberts, government counsel, Chase testified that, under instructions from his father-in-law, he had gone to Cleveland to see McKinney.

Chase explained that McKinney had suggested he loan Fall $100,000 with which to retire the Doheny loan, and Fall wanted the Cleveland man to be reminded of that fact.

Chase gave no reason, however, for McKinney's failure to "come through." McKinney is now dead.

The Cleveland man, Chase further testified, had been approached by Fall in 1920 for the loan of $100,000.

Daugherty is Witness.

Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, himself facing trial on conspiracy charges, was the next witness.

He was asked if he knew anything about the Doheny leases or had even been asked for an opinion as to their legality. Answering in the negative he was excused, but was recalled for cross-examination by Frank J. Hogan, defense counsel, who asked him if he had any recollection of Fall handing him a copy of the oil leasing act of 1920 at a cabinet meeting and asking for an informal opinion on the general leasing policy about to be put into effect "and you told him you thought it was all right?"

"I certainly don't recall anything like that," said Daugherty. "That was a long time ago, though, and a lot of water has gone over the dam since."

Before calling Edward G. Finney, assistant secretary of interior, from whom the government expects to get a complete history of the Doheny oil leases, Roberts and Hogan called a number of government employes and oil company officials who produced and identified letters and documents which will figure in Finney's examination.

Arrest Man After He Throws Dismembered Body Into River

New York Police Allege Prisoner Confessed Woman's Murder in Which Butcher Knife and Chisel Were Used.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Francesco Tripia was arrested today on a homicide charge after police claimed he threw a bag containing the arms and legs of a woman from the India wharf into the river at the foot of Hamilton street.

Subsequent search of the prisoner's home, police stated, revealed the remainder of the woman's body, and Tripia is alleged to have confessed the crime.

Near the body in Tripia's home police found a butcher knife more than a foot long and cold chisel, both smeared with blood. He was captured after a chase along the waterfront during which several shots were fired by pursuing policemen, but is said to have admitted the crime as soon as confronted with the body.

Hacked Body to Pieces.

Questioned at police headquarters, Tripia said he knew the woman only as Louise Marie. She was about 50 years old, he stated, and he met her about ten months ago.

Last night the woman reappeared at his apartment, after an absence of some time, said the prisoner, who is a longshoreman. They had some drinks together, and she fell asleep. Tripia thought she was dead, he told the detectives, and fearing police action if she were found in his rooms he struck her several times on the head with the chisel, and then proceeded to sever the limbs.

He worked at this all night, according to the police story, cutting with the butcher knife and hacking through the bones with the cold chisel. Then he wrapped up the limbs and went to the river, intending later to dispose of the rest of the body in the same manner.

Mrs. H. C. Ostermann was named vice chairman, while Mrs. John T. Bowers was chosen secretary. W. E. Dunlap, cashier of the First National bank, will continue as treasurer. Other members of the executive committee are: Charles Boyce, W. O. Bloor, James S. Hilbert, W. H. Nagel, Leon Rubin, Rev. J. Lloyd McQueen, Superintendent of Schools C. S. McVay, Rev. E. E. Lashley, R. W. Sample, F. R. O'Hanlon, Dr. J. O. Campbell and Mrs. Joseph Sutton.

Final report on the roll call showed 886 members to have enrolled, collections totalling $1,117.18. Contributions outside of membership fees amounted to $147. The memberships included 15 of the $5 class and two of the $10 class.

Await Junior Report.

Mrs. Joseph Sutton reported the largest collection, $210.35. Of this money $70 was taken in at the booth maintained at the Y. M. C. A., the remaining $140.35 being collected in the house-to-house canvass.

Regarding the national organization's share, the local chapter will have about $450 for home work, the committee report indicated. This money will be used in meeting the salary of the public health nurse. Because of the limited funds the organization will be unable to engage in relief work during the coming year. No headquarters will be established. Correspondence will be in charge of Mrs. Bowers.

Report of the Junior Red Cross campaign in the public and parochial schools has not been received by Mrs. Bowers. Money contributed by the children will be kept in a separate fund and used in work for children.

President's Wife Ardent Radio Fan, Callers are Told

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—President Coolidge infrequently listens in on the radio receiving set at the White House but Mrs. Coolidge is an ardent radio fan.

This was revealed by the president today in discussing radio legislation with callers. He expressed the hope that congress would take steps to clarify the radio situation.

The president has noted little interference with radio reception in Washington.

REVIVAL OF FARM RELIEF CONTROVERSY IN CONGRESS ASSURED WITH DRAFTING OF NEW McNARY-HAUGEN BILL

BY WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—A revival of the farm relief controversy at the coming session of congress was assured today with the drafting of a new McNary-Haugen bill for the stabilization of the American agriculture through the creation of a government corporation to export surplus farm products.

Defeated at the last session after a bitter fight, the new measure will face a hard road to enactment. It will retain the two principal provisions—which would place an equalization fee upon exported products and require the government to finance it at the outset—that caused its rejection by congress last spring. Its enactment will depend entirely upon the support given it by southern senators and representatives, following the recent upheaval in the cotton industry.

Most of the provisions of the old bill were re-written into the new document. It will authorize a $250,000,000 appropriation to be used as a revolving fund by the proposed corporation. This fund would be repaid the government through the levying of an equalization fee upon the products benefited. Its export features will apply to cotton, wheat, corn, swine and rice.

Drop Live Stock Products.

The inclusion of rice among the products to be exported was a departure for the old bill, as was the dropping of livestock products. The latter, however, may be restored if livestock dealers insist upon it.

There were other changes in the administration features of the bill, the chief one being to place all control of the proposed corporation in the hands of a board of 12 members. This board would be appointed by the president, one member from each of the federal farm land bank districts. The board would elect its own chairman, who would become literally the president of the export corporation.

The bill was written by Senator Charles L. McNary, Republican, of Oregon, who will become chairman of the senate agriculture committee at the coming session. McNary was aided by other members of the senate and house farm blocs. The blocs' conferences, incidentally, were attended by representatives of various farm organizations and by experts from the department of agriculture.

Threats of Opposition.

Even while McNary was completing a draft of the new bill, it met with threats of serious opposition. Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic floor leader, for one, announced he was opposed to any relief measure, placing the government in the export business or levying a "tax" on farmers.

"From my standpoint," said Robinson, "any machinery authorized by national legislation for dealing with surplus agriculture products should be set up and maintained by the farmers themselves, for through their cooperative and voluntary action alone can limitation of production, essential to the maintenance of just prices over a long period, be maintained."

Its chief hopes for enactment will lie in the possibility of a change of heart on the part of southern senators and congressmen, who helped defeat it before. As the recent deflation of cotton prices was due solely to the bumper size of the crop, farm bloc members believe southerners will feel far more friendly to the export corporation idea at the coming session than they were last spring. If the south does support it, the bill undoubtedly will be enacted.

Arrest Man After He Throws Dismembered Body Into River

New York Police Allege Prisoner Confessed Woman's Murder in Which Butcher Knife and Chisel Were Used.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Francesco Tripia was arrested today on a homicide charge after police claimed he threw a bag containing the arms and legs of a woman from the India wharf into the river at the foot of Hamilton street.

Subsequent search of the prisoner's home, police stated, revealed the remainder of the woman's body, and Tripia is alleged to have confessed the crime.

Near the body in Tripia's home police found a butcher knife more than a foot long, and cold chisel, both smeared with blood. He was captured after a chase along the waterfront during which several shots were fired by pursuing policemen, but is said to have admitted the crime as soon as confronted with the body.

Hacked Body to Pieces.

Questioned at police headquarters, Tripia said he knew the woman only as Louise Marie. She was about 50 years old, he stated, and he met her about ten months ago.

He worked at this all night, according to the police story, cutting with the butcher knife and hacking through the bones with the cold chisel. Then he wrapped up the limbs and went to the river, intending later to dispose of the rest of the body in the same manner.

ANNEXATION OF SUBURBAN ZONES NORTH OF CITY APPROVED

County Commissioners Put O. K. on Greater East Liverpool.

ACTION FINAL

New Zones to Get Water Service Fire, Police Aid.

Application of the city of East Liverpool for permission to extend the city limits to include Sherwood, La Croft, Maplewood, Park boulevard, Beechwood and other territory bordering along the north corporate lines, was unanimously approved by the county commissioners, after a conference with Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore in the water works office, Fourth street, late yesterday afternoon.

The new area, which automatically becomes a part of the municipality after a 60-day interval, includes about 560 square acres on which there are 450 homes. It will give the city about 2,000 people, increasing the population to about 25,000, according to conservative estimates. The 1920 census gave the city 21,411 inhabitants.

At a hearing on November 12, the commissioners, sitting as judges, heard evidence for and against annexation. The city was represented by Solicitor Frank Hoover, assisted by Attorney J. H. Brookes, member of the planning commission. Attorneys Charles Boyd and Harry Brokaw represented the Liverpool township trustees and others opposed to the plan.

Money for Water Mains.

The commissioners took the matter under advisement after attorneys delivered their closing arguments at Lisbon on November 15. They made two trips over the territory.

Member J. C. Kelly offered the motion that the application of the city be approved, the motion being seconded by Commissioner Frank Bye.

Plan to Start Work Next Week on New N. B. O. P. Building

Work on the new addition to the N. B. of O. P. headquarters building, West Sixth street, will be started by D. F. Nellis & Sons within the next week unless inclement weather interferes. It is expected to have the structure ready for occupancy by the early part of the summer.

The bid of the Nellis company, together with the heating system contract for which has not yet been awarded, will bring the total cost of the addition up to approximately $41,000 according to officers of the brotherhood. Nellis & Sons submitted the lowest bid of the seven contractors who sought the building job.

TWO MEN FACE TERMS IN JAIL

Alvin Franklin, Drain street potter, will probably be taken to the county jail at Lisbon this afternoon or tomorrow to serve out a $100 fine assessed against him by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley Monday after he was found guilty of operating an automobile while intoxicated.

SON-IN-LAW TESTIFIES OF PLAN TO DISCHARGE LOAN BEFORE INQUIRY

C. C. Chase Tells Jury in Washington Conspiracy Trial of Ex-secretary's Appeal to Cleveland Man for Money to Liquidate Obligation to E. L. Doheny, Oil Millionaire.

PRICE McKINNEY, HOWEVER, REFUSED TO ADVANCE CASH, WITNESS SAYS

Father-in-law's Unsuccessful Effort to Exchange Creditors Was Made When Senate Committee Was Conducting Vigorous Investigation Into Private Affairs of Accused Man.

By GEORGE E. DURNO.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Albert B. Fall, ex-secretary of the interior, endeavored unsuccessfully to discharge his $100,000 obligation to E. L. Doheny before the transaction became known to the senate investigating committee, it was testified today by Fall's son-in-law, C. C. Chase.

Chase, the first witness called in the trial of his father-in-law and Doheny for alleged conspiracy to defraud the government in oil leases, testified that in November of 1923 Fall endeavored to obtain a loan of $100,000 from Price McKinney of Cleveland, but without success.

Fall's effort to exchange McKinney for Doheny as his creditor came at a time when the senate committee on public lands was conducting a vigorous investigation into his private affairs, particularly with respect to the $100,000. It was within two months of this time that Doheny came forward—only after Fall had announced his beneficiacy was E. B. McLean, wealthy publisher—and announced that he had made the loan.

Cleveland Man is Dead.

Under questioning by Owen Roberts, government counsel, Chase testified that, under instructions from his father-in-law, he had gone to Cleveland to see McKinney.

Chase explained that McKinney had suggested he loan Fall $100,000 with which to retire the Doheny loan, and Fall wanted the Cleveland man to be reminded of that fact.

Chase gave no reason, however, for McKinney's failure to "come through." McKinney is now dead.

The Cleveland man, Chase further testified, had been approached by Fall in 1920 for the loan of $100,000.

Daugherty is Witness.

Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, himself facing trial on conspiracy charges, was the next witness.

He was asked if he knew anything about the Doheny leases or had even been asked for an opinion as to their legality. Answering in the negative he was excused, but was recalled for cross-examination by Frank J. Hogan, defense counsel, who asked him if he had any recollection of Fall handing him a copy of the oil leasing act of 1920 at a cabinet meeting and asking for an informal opinion on the general leasing policy about to be put into effect "and you told him you thought it was all right?"

"I certainly don't recall anything like that," said Daugherty. "That was a long time ago, though, and a lot of water has gone over the dam since."

Before calling Edward G. Finney, assistant secretary of interior, from whom the government expects to get a complete history of the Doheny oil leases, Roberts and Hogan called a number of government employes and oil company officials who produced and identified letters and documents which will figure in Finney's examination.

REVIVAL OF FARM RELIEF CONTROVERSY IN CONGRESS ASSURED WITH DRAFTING OF NEW McNARY-HAUGEN BILL

BY WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—A revival of the farm relief controversy at the coming session of congress was assured today with the drafting of a new McNary-Haugen bill for the stabilization of the American agriculture through the creation of a government corporation to export surplus farm products.

Defeated at the last session after a bitter fight, the new measure will face a hard road to enactment. It will retain the two principal provisions—which would place an equalization fee upon exported products and require the government to finance it at the outset—that caused its rejection by congress last spring. Its enactment will depend entirely upon the support given it by southern senators and representatives, following the recent upheaval in the cotton industry.

$250,000,000 Appropriation.

Most of the provisions of the old bill were re-written into the new document. It will authorize a $250,000,000 appropriation to be used as a revolving fund by the proposed corporation. This fund would be repaid the government through the levying of an equalization fee upon the products benefited. Its export features will apply to cotton, wheat, corn, swine and rice.

Drop Live Stock Products.

The inclusion of rice among the products to be exported was a departure for the old bill, as was the dropping of livestock products. The latter, however, may be restored if livestock dealers insist upon it.

There were other changes in the administration features of the bill, the chief one being to place all control of the proposed corporation in the hands of a board of 12 members. This board would be appointed by the president, one member from each of the federal farm land bank districts. The board would elect its own chairman, who would become literally the president of the export corporation.

The bill was written by Senator Charles L. McNary, Republican, of Oregon, who will become chairman of the senate agriculture committee at the coming session. McNary was aided by other members of the senate and house farm blocs. The bloc's conferences, incidentally, were attended by representatives of various farm organizations and by experts from the department of agriculture.

Threats of Opposition.

Even while McNary was completing a draft of the new bill, it met with threats of serious opposition. Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic floor leader, for one, announced he was opposed to any relief measure, placing the government in the export business or levying a "tax" on farmers.

"From my standpoint," said Robinson, "any machinery authorized by national legislation for dealing with surplus agriculture products should be set up and maintained by the farmers themselves, for through their cooperative and voluntary action alone can limitation of production, essential to the maintenance of just prices over a long period, be maintained."

Its chief hopes for enactment will lie in the possibility of a change of heart on the part of southern senators and congressmen, who helped defeat it before. As the recent deflation of cotton prices was due solely to the bumper size of the crop, farm bloc members believe southerners will feel far more friendly to the export corporation idea at the coming session than they were last spring. If the south does support it, the bill undoubtedly will be enacted.

All Jaws Imperfect.
A New Alphabet.
U. S. A. Boycott.
The Mexican Situation.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

DR. H. CAMPBELL, British authority, says no living Briton has a normal jaw, because British food, as now used, does not compel chewing muscles to do their work. 'We are the only nation that insists on a soft pudding every day. We cut off crusts and live on sponge and pulp."

DR. CAMPBELL urges parents to give children food that will exercise their jaws, and says "the people of England are the worst fed of any in the world."

He evidently does not know America, land of professional teeth straighteners, where every prosperous parent figures about fifteen hundred dollars for straightening each child's teeth.

HIGH palates, narrow, undeveloped jaws, unused salivary glands, consequent bad digestion, malnutrition, imperfect development, all come of giving our young children soft pap, swimming in milk or cream, nothing to chew.

And men eat soft stuff, that they may get it down in a hurry, stew, pie, milk toast, pancakes. Look at the teeth of a dog, chewing his bone.

DR. G. DEWEY of Harvard wants the nations using our alphabet to save a thousand million dollars a year, merely by improving on the work that the Phoenicians began. The new alphabet would have 24 consonants, 13 vowels, four diphthongs and a sign for "th," a word that makes up 7 per cent of all the words on a printed page.

BOOKS, magazines, newspapers would be smaller, lighter, cheaper, printers, stenographers, typewriters would save time. Reading would be a swifter process.

IT IS a good suggestion that will not be adopted. But this country and Britain, at least, ought to adopt the metric system in weights, measures, and in Britain for money also. That would be simple.

EUROPE'S great powers, Britain, France, Italy, Germany, will have another Locarno conference, and Senator Borah says it is aimed at us.

Europe wants to make herself economically independent of this country, and in certain lines, rubber and oil, for instance, Europe wants America to be dependent on her.

True, perhaps, but why not? Life is a struggle, trade is a polite cut-throat game. Many nations, with trade forced on them at the bayonet's point, can swear to that.

This nation can protect itself and not whimper. Europe owes us billions, does not want to pay. If she does pay, she means to pay with our money.

AND what about people? We need Europe's markets to sell goods to people there. Why not change the

SHOCK GIVEN SIMPSON WHEN DOCTOR PROVES "BOOMERANG"

STATE IS AMAZED

Family Physician is Trifle Evasive at First.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

COURTHOUSE, SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 30.—Prosecutor Alexander Simpson was given a distinct shock at the Hall-Mills trial today when one of his rebuttal witnesses, called to testify as to the character of Mrs. Jane Gibson, declared the woman's "reputation for veracity" was "not so good." The "boomerang" witness was Dr. J. H. Cooper, of East Millstone, N. J.

Simpson looked amazed. He turned to one of his assistants for a conference.

Insists on Answer.

Dr. Cooper said he was Mrs. Gibson's family physician. He had known her for five or six years.

The witness was a trifle evasive at first and Simpson demanded:

"Tell me flat-footed whether her reputation is good or bad."

"Now Mr. Simpson, I don't know where you are trying to hang me—"

Laughter broke out in the courtroom and the court rapped for order.

Simpson insisted on an answer—was her reputation good or bad?

"Well," drawled the big, heavy-set doctor, with the quizzical, humorous expression, "I should say from what the neighbors say, it was about fifty-fifty."

There was more laughter and Simpson himself smiled and confessed that

Arrest Man After He Throws Dismembered Body Into River

New York Police Allege Prisoner Confessed Woman's Murder in Which Butcher Knife and Chisel Were Used.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Francesco Tripia was arrested today on a homicide charge after police claimed he threw a bag containing the arms and legs of a woman from the India wharf into the river at the foot of Hamilton street.

Subsequent search of the prisoner's home, police stated, revealed the remainder of the woman's body, and Tripia is alleged to have confessed the crime.

Near the body in Tripia's home police found a butcher knife more than a foot long, and cold chisel, both smeared with blood. He was captured after a chase along the waterfront during which several shots were fired by pursuing policemen, but is said to have admitted the crime as soon as confronted with the body.

Hacked Body to Pieces.

Questioned at police headquarters, Tripia said he knew the woman only as Louise Marie. She was about 50 years old, he stated, and he met her about ten months ago.

Last night the woman reappeared at his apartment, after an absence of some time, said the prisoner, who is a longshoreman. They had some drinks together, and she fell asleep. Tripia thought she was dead, he told the detectives, and fearing police action if she were found in his rooms he struck her several times on the head with the chisel, and then proceeded to sever the limbs.

He worked at this all night, according to the police story, cutting with the butcher knife and hacking through the bones with the cold chisel. Then he wrapped up the limbs and went to the river, intending later to dispose of the rest of the body in the same manner.

REV. A. H. O'BRIEN NAMED CHAIRMAN OF RED CROSS EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Reports Show $1,117.18 Was Collected by Workers in Tenth Annual Roll Call.

Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church, and leader of the recent roll call, was elected chairman of the executive committee of the East Liverpool chapter of the American Red Cross at a reorganization meeting in the Carnegie library, Fourth street, last evening.

Mrs. H. C. Ostermann was named vice chairman, while Mrs. John T. Bowers was chosen secretary. W. E. Dunlap, cashier of the First National bank, will continue as treasurer. Other members of the executive committee are: Charles Boyce, W. O. Bloor, James S. Hilbert, W. H. Nagel, Leon Rubin, Rev. J. Lloyd McQueen, Superintendent of Schools C. S. McVay, Rev. E. E. Lashley, R. W. Sample, F. R. O'Hanlon, Dr. J. O. Campbell and Mrs. Joseph Sutton.

Final report on the roll call showed 886 members to have enrolled, collections totalling $1,117.18. Contributions outside of membership fees amounted to $147. The memberships included 15 of the $5 class and two of the $10 class.

Await Junior Report.

Mrs. Joseph Sutton reported the largest collection, $210.35. Of this money $70 was taken in at the booth maintained at the Y. M. C. A., the remaining $140.35 being collected in the house-to-house canvass.

Deducting the national organization's share, the local chapter will have about $650 for home work, the committee report indicated. This money will be used in meeting the salary of the public health nurse. Because of the limited funds the organization will be unable to engage in relief work during the coming year. No headquarters will be established. Correspondence will be in charge of Mrs. Bowers.

Report of the Junior Red Cross campaign in the public and parochial schools has not been received by Mrs. Bowers. Money contributed by the children will be kept in a separate fund and used in work for children.

The bloc's conferences, incidentally, were attended by representatives of various farm organizations and by experts from the department of agriculture.

Threats of Opposition.

Even while McNary was completing a draft of the new bill, it met with threats of serious opposition. Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic floor leader, for one, announced he was opposed to any relief measure, placing the government in the export business or levying a "tax" on farmers.

"From my standpoint," said Robinson, "any machinery authorized by national legislation for dealing with surplus argiculture products should be set up ond maintained by the farmers themselves, for through their cooperative and voluntary action alone can limitation of production, essential to the maintenance of just prices over a long period, be maintained."

Its chief hopes for enactment will lie in the possibility of a change of heart on the part of southern senators and congressmen, who helped defeat it before. As the recent deflation of cotton prices was due solely to the bumper size of the crop, farm bloc members believe southerners will feel far more friendly to the export corporation idea at the coming session than they were last spring. If the south does support it, the bill undoubtediy will be enacted.

No Need to be Embarrassed by Catarrh

There is such humiliation in the offensive breath, catarrhal deafness, constant raising of mucus and other annoyances of catarrh, that no one willingly puts up with it any more.

Q. What are the important aids to air navigation? R. S. S.

A. The first aid to air navigation must be the extension to the air pilot of relatively the same help as furnished pilots on the seas. First is the lighting of the airways. Next is the weather communication system between at least those stations at which aircraft alight; then the radio beacons, the radio markers, the radio telephones for direct communication with the pilot in flight to apprise him of conditions ahead along the route, if the radiophone is found to be the best solution; the radio field localizer to give the pilot the exact location of a field in fog and to assist him in alighting. Other devices are being worked upon, such as the direction finder and the landing altimeter.

Dear Friends:

When you think of Christmas gifts, you just naturally think of jewelry, don't you?

And when you think of jewelry, of course you think of Reese's store. That's also natural.

I'm telling you again that this store is going to be regular Christmas headquarters this season. Yes, I know that every other store in the United States says that same thing, but I'm going to stick to my statement just the same. This is headquarters!

The boss says to suggest that idea of mine again. He likes it. This is it: You select your gift now—a watch, pearl necklace, diamond ring, vanity case, glass or silverware, leather goods or anything—then pay something each week until Christmas time. Girl Gains 7 Pounds, Makes Man Happy

"My daughter had constipation, gas on the stomach and a very poor appetite. Since taking Adlerika, she has gained 7 pounds and her appetite is good."—H. F. Newman.

Adlerika is a compound of the best saline intestinal cleanser with glycerine, buckthorn, cascara and other gas-expelling and detergent elements. It is excellent for Intestinal Stasis, a disease due to modern ways of living and which is often the true cause of sour stomach, gas bloating, nervous dyspepsia and restless sleep.

Unlike most medicines, Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel, giving the intestines a REAL cleansing and bringing out old poisonous matter you never thought was in your system. Even if bowels move daily, you will be surprised how much more old matter Adlerika brings out which may have been causing all your trouble. In slight disorders, like occasional constipation, GAS bloating, indigestion or sick headache, ONE spoonful always bring relief.

Doctors Praise Adlerika.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York: "Adlerika, in addition to its intestinal cleansing, checks the growth of intestinal bacteria."

Dr. A. C. Curl: "I prescribe Adlerika with highly satisfactory results."

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years' practice, I have found nothing to excel Adlerika."

J. E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika, I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated from my system."

Dr. F. M. P. (name withheld by request): "I use Adlerika in all bowel cases. Some require only one dose."

No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists. In East Liverpool at the Economy Drug Store, and other druggists.

The hostess smiled.

"Yes, but that same evening Joe came home with a bundle under his arm. 'Surprise for you,' he said. 'Radio.'

"Well, you can see for yourself how small and good-looking it is. And it's the simplest thing you ever saw. Here, you try it. Just turn that ONE Dial slowly."

Letters are going every minute from our free Information Bureau in Washington telling readers whatever they want to know. They are in answer to all kinds of queries, on all kinds of subjects, from all kinds of people. Make use of this free service which the Review and Tribune is maintaining for you. C. Enclose two cents in stamps for return postage.

Q. Does the president of the United States have to pay his own grocery bill or is there an allowance for this? F. C. H.

A. Mrs. Elizabeth Jaffray, former housekeeper at the White House, says that the food bill is the only expense connected with the White House which a president of the United States must pay personally out of his salary, with the exception of the amount necessary for personal clothes for himself and his family.

Q. Is lightning a sea peril? O. B. W.

A. A recent article in a marine publication says, "The majority of marine underwriters concur in the judgment that lightning is a sea peril on the basis that a marine policy not only covers fire, such as is likely to result from lightning, but also includes loss or damage from all perils of the sea."

Q. Where do the swans of the eastern part of North America spend their winters? D. S.

A. They concentrate on Chesapeake Bay, Md., Back Bay, Va., and Currituck Sound, N. C., and nearby waters. These birds have become bolder, under the ten-year protection given them. They now number about 15,000.

Q. Was Jean de Reszke a baritone or a tenor? G. L.

A. He began his operatic career as a baritone. After a few years, he became convinced that his voice was a tenor, left the stage for further study, and returned as a tenor. His brother, Edouard, was a famous bass. Jean de Reszke died in 1925, Edouard, in 1917.

Q. What kind of a school is The Principia in St. Louis? R. H.

Q. Is the soil of Panama fertile. N. M.

In 1880 he won a brigadier generalcy, in 1890 he was made a major general and lieutenant general 1900.

Q. What are the important aids to air navigation? R. S. S.

A. The first aid to air navigation must be the extension to the air pilot of relatively the same help as furnished pilots on the seas. First is the lighting of the airways. Next is the weather communication system between at least those stations at which aircraft alight; then the radio beacons, the radio markers, the radio telephones for direct communication with the pilot in flight to apprise him of conditions ahead along the route, if the radiophone is found to be the best solution; the radio field localizer to give the pilot the exact location of a field in fog and to assist him in alighting. Other devices are being worked upon, such as the direction finder and the landing altimeter.

And when you think of jewelry, of course you think of Reese's store. That's also natural.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1926.

Annexation is Sanctioned

East Liverpool's population is approximately 25,000 today—or will be when the next federal census is reported—for annexation of suburban districts north of the city proper has been unanimously approved by the county commissioners.

Approval of the city's proposal, after hearings conducted in municipal court early in the month, followed an inspection trip over the proposed new zone yesterday afternoon. As a result, the following territory is now within the municipal corporation: Sections along Lincoln highway as far north as La Croft, including Sherwood, Fisher Park and nearby districts; all of Maplewood and Park boulevard as far north as the Liverpool township line; Beechwood and the Park Way road, Harker avenue and other township homes in the upper part of East End.

Annexation should prove worthwhile to all concerned. It will mean an increased tax duplicate and consequently more revenue for operating expenses for the city, while in return the new residents shall receive water service and fire and police protection, not to mention the decreased cost of fire insurance for their homes and household goods.

And with the question settled, let's boost a bigger and better East Liverpool.

What Price Anti-Americanism

Less had been heard lately about anti-American demonstrations abroad. But though there may be fewer overt acts, the spirit continues. An American correspondent in Europe says there is a wave of anti-Americanism sweeping the world.

That hurts American feelings. It also hurts American business. More may be heard hereafter of this effect.

European business men are taking shrewd advantage of the feeling against America to restore the waning popularity of their own goods in competition with our own.

In Germany, England, France and elsewhere the correspondent finds a virtual boycott campaign against things made in America. It doesn't matter if they are the best articles of their kind in the world—automobiles, tires, victrolas, movie films, cash registers, or what not—the method is the same. The public is urged strenuously to "buy British good" or "buy German goods" or "buy French goods" as a patriotic duty. This is rendered easier by the hostility felt toward America. And the business interests are said to be actively fomenting that hostility, to insure the preference for their own goods.

Thus the noticeable falling off in the foreign demand for American products is said to be about half due to popular feeling against developing more or less naturally, and the other half due to prejudice artificially stirred up for business purposes.

It is going to take considerable effort and wise handling to overcome all this foreign dislike. But the effort must be made, alike to protect the good name of our country and to insure a continued market for American goods, insuring continued American prosperity.

The Simpler Life

Railing at the complexities of life never got anyone anywhere. Railing at the morals of youth never got anyone anywhere. The only way to get things done is to do them. The only way to begin is to begin.

"I like to go to the Robinsons' parties," a man remarked the other day. "They never ask you to drink anything. They never try to amuse you, either. They just give you something simple and comfortable to eat and light their fire. If you want to talk, you can, and the talk is better because there is nothing to drink first. If you just want to read you can take a book and find a corner. If you just want to sit and look at the fire and be quiet, you can do that. You come away rested and stimulated and have no morning after. Great stuff."

Why let life be complex? Why let your life be run by what you think your neighbors think? As a matter of fact, they don't think it. They want the same simplicity and comfort you want. All you have to do is to stop complicating, and simplify.

You don't have to send a million Christmas cards if you don't want to.

You can give a few presents to your own family and stop right there. Nothing is going to happen. The sky will not fall.

You don't have to offer cocktails. Most of your friends will probably bless you if you don't.

The way to make life simpler and better is to begin now.

"Why do we grow old?" inquires the Literary Digest. Artemus Ward explained that long ago: "Time passes—it's a way time has."

The big cotton surplus doesn't do so much harm as the big sugar surplus. People don't eat cheap cotton and make themselves sick.

OBSTRUCTING THE HIGHWAY.

There is a corner in a Southern state, down near the Mississippi river, where formerly lynchings occurred more frequently than they do these times. In the days before the rural-free-delivery system was adopted, Uncle Gip Thomas held the contract for delivering the mail in this neighborhood. So regular was he that the residents almost could set their clocks by him.

But one day he was nearly two hours late in reaching the end of the line, where there was a tiny cross-roads hamlet. Just as the citizens were forming a posse to set out in search of him, for fear that some mishap had befallen him, Uncle Gip ambled into view.

"What delayed you, Uncle Gip?", asked the postmaster. "Did you happen to an accident or did an accident happen to you?"

"Nary one, or both," stated Uncle Gip. "But about ten o'clock this mornin' jes' before I crossed the Creek, I come to where some of the boys had left a feller hangin' right thar in the public road. Well, suh, my mare she got skeered and shied back, and I jes' natchelly couldn't make her go past him nowadays; so finally I had to tear down a panel of rail fence and lead her through the gap and lay the fence back up again and go through the woods down into the hollow and ford the creek and then tear another gap in the fence before I could get back again on the turnpike—and that was what kept me so late." Uncle Gip paused a moment and then went on again in an aggrieved tone:

"Honest, boys, it does look to me like there oughter to be a law against leavin' a feller hangin' in the public road."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Gold digging has become a super art in Broadway canyons. The acquiescent male who falls a victim finds himself in a trap as skillfully set as those of experienced hunters for game. It is strictly an apartment house racket.

And the gold digger quarries her sap with all the resoluteness of the miner in the pit. She angles for him in supper clubs. A sly knowing wink and he finds himself at her table. She has eluded her chaperone and is seeing a bit of life. Slumming, you know.

Tomorrow she is off for the coast to appear in a super film. A few drinks and he has found the girl he has been searching for. He will drop around to her apartment tomorrow to say goodbye and have lunch with her. She must go home now—and alone.

He is there with a train corsage bouquet in one hand and a box of candy in the other at the appointed time. Soft lights and studied luxury. A cat-footed Jap frosts the cocktail shaker. A few cheerios. Not such a bad old world, heigh ho! And champagne with the luncheon.

After luncheon a buzz at the door. A drab woman selling lingerie. Such a bother but she was told to come by a friend. Several selections. The poor saleswoman cannot change a hundred dollar note. He pays the bill—selecting a couple of extra mentionables for good measure. The door bell again.

The waiter from the dining room down stairs with the luncheon check. He grabs for it and miraculously succeeds. How embarrassing. It is for $82. The entire bill for the week. He musn't pay it. That would be terrible for he is a guest. But he does.

Another bottle of champagne. She must finish packing soon. How awful to leave in the first flush of this romance. Another buzz at the door. The bootlegger collecting for wine. He will not accept a check. Will her guest cash one for her? He will not but he magnanimously pays the bootlegger. And a few nights later when his head has cleared he drops into another supper club. There she is. She didn't go to Hollywood after all.

Broadway corners become loafing stations for certain types. Concert artists at liberty clot about Carnegie hall at 57th street and Seventh avenue. There is generally a group of detectives around 50th and Broadway. The dice gamblers hold forth at 47th and Seventh avenue, Vaudeville actors at 47th and Broadway. Theatre musicians at 46th and Broadway and movies extras at 44th and Broadway. A group of chorus men are always to be found in the alleyway between the Shubert and Booth theatres.

Wilton Lackaye explains the incongruity of snow white hair and a black mustache with the very logical deduction that the hair on his head is older.

A New Yorker had a tooth filled in the morning and killed himself in the afternoon. There's an incongruity for you.

Often late at night I have seen those low-slung, triple length trucks piled high with theatrical scenery moving slowly across town on the last lap of a journey to Cain's—a theatrical warehouse and haven of dead hopes. There is something grim in the spectacle. A show has flopped and will not take to the road. Somebody has lost a fortune, perhaps a playwright is "through" and a lot of players are out of work.

Players generally "clown" the show on the last night—even the more serious dray-man. It is their way of tossing Fate a ha-ha. After all in the stage world being jobless is merely being "at liberty."

Indians Not Vanishing.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 30.—Indians, the original inhabitants of North America, are no longer "a vanishing race," a phrase that was coined to epitomize the tragedy of the dying out of a people that once owned a vast territory, the heart of which has become the richest country in the world under the onward movement of the white race.

The records of the Bureau of Indian Affairs of the Department of the Interior show that there are now 349,595 Indians in the United States, an increase of 16,585 over ten years ago—a percentage of increase in population over a ten-year period of approximately 4.5 per cent. The increase in numbers of the Cherokee Indians of North Carolina may be cited as especially notable, their population in 1912 being 7,914 and 11,969 according to present reports. This is an increase of more than 50 per cent in less than a decade and a half.

This condition of affairs is attributed to the efforts of the government to introduce into the homes of the Indians modern sanitary methods of living and in furnishing increased medical and hospital assistance and teaching the Indians the laws of health and sanitation.

States containing large Indian populations are Oklahoma with 120,163; Arizona, 43,950; South Dakota, 24,241; New Mexico, 22,481; California, 18,812; Minnesota, 14,300, and Montana, 13,142. There are about 38,000 Navajos in Arizona and New Mexico; over 30,000 Sioux in North and South Dakota, Montana, Nebraska and Minnesota; about 20,000 Chippewas in Minnesota, North Dakota and Wisconsin; 11,190 Pueblos in New Mexico, and in the so-called Five Civilized Tribes in Oklahoma there are approximately 101,500 enrolled members.

The Indians of the United States are not only growing in numbers, but in recent years they have made remarkable progress in agriculture and stock raising. They own livestock, and poultry valued at about $30,150,000, including 300,000 horses, 161,000 cattle and 867,000 sheep. About 27,500 Indians are farming nearly 610,500 acres of land and 31,725 Indians are using 20,423,762 acres in their stock raising.

Some 206,500 Indians have received 245,531 allotments including 9,905 allotments on the public domain, totaling 40,000,000 acres of land valued at

Annexation is Sanctioned

East Liverpool's population is approximately 25,000 today—or will be when the next federal census is reported—for annexation of suburban districts north of the city proper has been unanimously approved by the county commissioners.

Approval of the city's proposal, after hearings conducted in municipal court early in the month, followed an inspection trip over the proposed new zone yesterday afternoon. As a result, the following territory is now within the municipal corporation: Sections along Lincoln highway as far north as La Croft, including Sherwood, Fisher Park and nearby districts; all of Maplewood and Park boulevard as far north as the Liverpool township line; Beechwood and the Park Way road, Harker avenue and other township homes in the upper part of East End.

Annexation should prove worthwhile to all concerned. It will mean an increased tax duplicate and consequently more revenue for operating expenses for the city, while in return the new residents shall receive water service and fire and police protection, not to mention the decreased cost of fire insurance for their homes and household goods.

And with the question settled, let's boost a bigger and better East Liverpool.

What Price Anti-Americanism

Less had been heard lately about anti-American demonstrations abroad. But though there may be fewer overt acts, the spirit continues. An American correspondent in Europe says there is a wave of anti-Americanism sweeping the world.

That hurts American feelings. It also hurts American business. More may be heard hereafter of this effect.

European business men are taking shrewd advantage of the feeling against America to restore the waning popularity of their own goods in competition with our own.

In Germany, England, France and elsewhere the correspondent finds a virtual boycott campaign against things made in America. It doesn't matter if they are the best articles of their kind in the world—automobiles, tires, victrolas, movie films, cash registers, or what not—the method is the same. The public is urged strenuously to "buy British good" or "buy German goods" or "buy French goods" as a patriotic duty. This is rendered easier by the hostility felt toward America. And the business interests are said to be actively fomenting that hostility, to insure the preference for their own goods.

Thus the noticeable falling off in the foreign demand for American products is said to be about half due to popular feeling against developing more or less naturally, and the other half due to prejudice artificially stirred up for business purposes.

It is going to take considerable effort and wise handling to overcome all this foreign dislike. But the effort must be made, alike to protect the good name of our country and to insure a continued market for American goods, insuring continued American prosperity.

The Simpler Life

Railing at the complexities of life never got anyone anywhere. Railing at the morals of youth never got anyone anywhere. The only way to get things done is to do them. The only way to begin is to begin.

"I like to go to the Robinsons' parties," a man remarked the other day. "They never ask you to drink anything. They never try to amuse you, either. They just give you something simple and comfortable to eat and light their fire. If you want to talk, you can, and the talk is better because there is nothing to drink first. If you just want to read you can take a book and find a corner. If you just want to sit and look at the fire and be quiet, you can do that. You come away rested and stimulated and have no morning after. Great stuff."

Why let life be complex? Why let your life be run by what you think your neighbors think? As a matter of fact, they don't think it. They want the same simplicity and comfort you want. All you have to do is to stop complicating, and simplify.

You don't have to send a million Christmas cards if you don't want to.

You can give a few presents to your own family and stop right there. Nothing is going to happen. The sky will not fall.

You don't have to offer cocktails. Most of your friends will probably bless you if you don't.

The way to make life simpler and better is to begin now.

OBSTRUCTING THE HIGHWAY.

There is a corner in a Southern state, down near the Mississippi river, where formerly lynchings occurred more frequently than they do these times. In the days before the rural-free-delivery system was adopted, Uncle Gip Thomas held the contract for delivering the mail in this neighborhood. So regular was he that the residents almost could set their clocks by him.

But one day he was nearly two hours late in reaching the end of the line, where there was a tiny cross-roads hamlet. Just as the citizens were forming a posse to set out in search of him, for fear that some mishap had befallen him, Uncle Gip ambled into view.

"What delayed you, Uncle Gip?", asked the postmaster. "Did you happen to an accident or did an accident happen to you?"

"Nary one, or both," stated Uncle Gip. "But about ten o'clock this mornin' jes' before I crossed the Creek, I come to where some of the boys had left a feller hangin' right thar in the public road. Well, suh, my mare she got skeered and shied back, and I jes' natchelly couldn't make her go past him nowadays; so finally I had to tear down a panel of rail fence and lead her through the gap and lay the fence back up again and go through the woods down into the hollow and ford the creek and then tear another gap in the fence before I could get back again on the turnpike—and that was what kept me so late." Uncle Gip paused a moment and then went on again in an aggrieved tone:

"Honest, boys, it does look to me like there oughter to be a law against leavin' a feller hangin' in the public road."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Gold digging has become a super art in Broadway canyons. The acquiescent male who falls a victim finds himself in a trap as skillfully set as those of experienced hunters for game. It is strictly an apartment house racket.

And the gold digger quarries her sap with all the resoluteness of the miner in the pit. She angles for him in supper clubs. A sly knowing wink and he finds himself at her table. She has eluded her chaperone and is seeing a bit of life. Slumming, you know.

Tomorrow she is off for the coast to appear in a super film. A few drinks and he has found the girl he has been searching for. He will drop around to her apartment tomorrow to say goodbye and have lunch with her. She must go home now—and alone.

He is there with a train corsage bouquet in one hand and a box of candy in the other at the appointed time. Soft lights and studied luxury. A cat-footed Jap frosts the cocktail shaker. A few cheerios. Not such a bad old world, heigh ho! And champagne with the luncheon.

After luncheon a buzz at the door. A drab woman selling lingerie. Such a bother but she was told to come by a friend. Several selections. The poor saleswoman cannot change a hundred dollar note. He pays the bill—selecting a couple of extra mentionables for good measure. The door bell again.

The waiter from the dining room down stairs with the luncheon check. He grabs for it and miraculously succeeds. How embarrassing. It is for $82. The entire bill for the week. He musn't pay it. That would be terrible for he is a guest. But he does.

Another bottle of champagne. She must finish packing soon. How awful to leave in the first flush of this romance. Another buzz at the door. The bootlegger collecting for wine. He will not accept a check. Will her guest cash one for her? He will not but he magnanimously pays the bootlegger. And a few nights later when his head has cleared he drops into another supper club. There she is. She didn't go to Hollywood after all.

Broadway corners become loafing stations for certain types. Concert artists at liberty clot about Carnegie hall at 57th street and Seventh avenue. There is generally a group of detectives around 50th and Broadway. The dice gamblers hold forth at 47th and Seventh avenue, Vaudeville actors at 47th and Broadway. Theatre musicians at 46th and Broadway and movies extras at 44th and Broadway. A group of chorus men are always to be found in the alleyway between the Shubert and Booth theatres.

Wilton Lackaye explains the incongruity of snow white hair and a black mustache with the very logical deduction that the hair on his head is older.

A New Yorker had a tooth filled in the morning and killed himself in the afternoon. There's an incongruity for you.

Often late at night I have seen those low-slung, triple length trucks piled high with theatrical scenery moving slowly across town on the last lap of a journey to Cain's—a theatrical warehouse and haven of dead hopes. There is something grim in the spectacle. A show has flopped and will not take to the road. Somebody has lost a fortune, perhaps a playwright is "through" and a lot of players are out of work.

Players generally "clown" the show on the last night—even the more serious dray-man. It is their way of tossing Fate a ha-ha. After all in the stage world being jobless is merely being "at liberty."

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Indians Not Vanishing.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 30.—Indians, the original inhabitants of North America, are no longer "a vanishing race," a phrase that was coined to epitomize the tragedy of the dying out of a people that once owned a vast territory, the heart of which has become the richest country in the world under the onward movement of the white race.

The records of the Bureau of Indian Affairs of the Department of the Interior show that there are now 349,595 Indians in the United States, an increase of 16,585 over ten years ago—a percentage of increase in population over a ten-year period of approximately 4.5 per cent. The increase in numbers of the Cherokee Indians of North Carolina may be cited as especially notable, their population in 1912 being 7,914 and 11,969 according to present reports. This is an increase of more than 50 per cent in less than a decade and a half.

This condition of affairs is attributed to the efforts of the government to introduce into the homes of the Indians modern sanitary methods of living and in furnishing increased medical and hospital assistance and teaching the Indians the laws of health and sanitation.

States containing large Indian populations are Oklahoma with 120,163; Arizona, 43,950; South Dakota, 24,241; New Mexico, 22,481; California, 18,812; Minnesota, 14,300, and Montana, 13,142. There are about 38,000 Navajos in Arizona and New Mexico; over 30,000 Sioux in North and South Dakota, Montana, Nebraska and Minnesota; about 20,000 Chippewas in Minnesota, North Dakota and Wisconsin; 11,190 Pueblos in New Mexico, and in the so-called Five Civilized Tribes in Oklahoma there are approximately 101,500 enrolled members.

The Indians of the United States are not only growing in numbers, but in recent years they have made remarkable progress in agriculture and stock raising. They own livestock and poultry valued at about $30,150,000, including 300,000 horses, 161,000 cattle and 867,000 sheep. About 27,500 Indians are farming nearly 610,500 acres of land and 31,725 Indians are using 20,423,762 acres in their stock raising.

Some 206,500 Indians have received 245,531 allotments including 9,905 allotments on the public domain, totaling 40,000,000 acres of land valued at

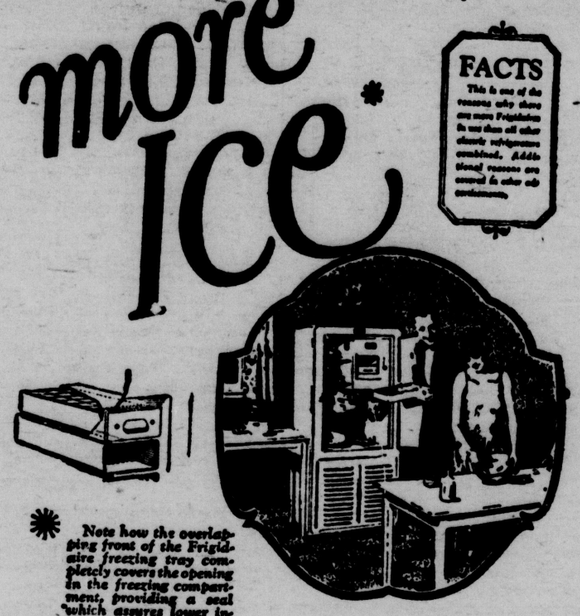
FACTS

This is one of the reasons why there are more Frigidaires in use than all other electric refrigerators combined. Additional reasons are covered in other advertisements.



Note how the overlapping front of the Frigidaire freezing tray completely covers the opening in the freezing compartment, providing a seal which assures lower inside temperatures and quicker freezing.

ONE reason for Frigidaire's overwhelming popularity is the fact that it freezes more ice, by actual weight, than other electric refrigerators of the same size.

The Frigidaire freezing trays are self-sealing. The white enameled fronts of the ice trays completely overlap the tray openings, thus sealing the intense cold of the frost coil within the freezing compartment. Frigidaire freezes ice quickly and solidly, regardless of room temperatures.

Long ago, Frigidaire discarded the brine tank in favor of the more efficient frost coil. The frost coil assures simpler, quicker temperature control, which is so accurate and stable that it never has to be adjusted once it has been properly set.

Frigidaire is superior in ice-freezing capacity, food storage space, low operating cost and quiet operation. Frigidaire offers unequaled sturdiness of construction and beauty of design. Frigidaire offers a permanent and thoroughly trained and established service organization. It is the only electric refrigerator guaranteed by General Motors.

INDIAN MEDICINE GIVES MACHINIST PROMPT RELIEF

He Had Kidney Trouble; Back Pained Him; Body Ached in Every Joint.

Howard Farrell, 115 Center St., Wesleyville, Penna., is a machinist at the Erie Forge & Steel Works. How he was relieved by Redwood's Tepee Tonic is best told in his own words.

"Shortly after my kidneys became deranged I could just feel myself going down hill," says Mr. Farrell. "I didn't have any appetite and what little I ate caused gas to form in my stomach. I took medicine but nothing helped me. And then came a pain in my back, accompanied by dizzy spells. My legs ached and I felt tired. I had headaches, too.

"I tried Tepee Herb Tonic and it was the best medicine I ever took. Today by kidneys are acting right and my back does not hurt me. I have a splendid appetite. No more headaches or dizzy spells. Redwood's medicine also regulated by bowels."

Redwood's Tepee Tonic is different from anything else to be found on the market. It contains upwards of fifty different kinds of valuable roots, barks and herbs. It covers a wide range of usefulness and is like several prescriptions in one. Try it if you don't feel well. It has relieved others and it will also relieve you.

Redwood's Tepee Tonic is recommended and sold by Carnahan's Drug Store in East Liverpool, and by other well stocked druggists everywhere.

ASSESSORS FILE FARM STATISTICS

The assessors of West Virginia have made a real contribution to the business life of West Virginia during the past year by the collection of agricultural statistics. These statistics are valuable in many ways by showing not only what the farmers of the state are producing but in giving an idea of what their needs will be. It is no longer necessary to wait upon the ten year census to get such figures, since the yearly census checks up on the more complete general census and makes it up-to-date all the time. Under the former conditions, the statistics were so far out of date that they were useless for most purposes.

This work of the assessors is not a new duty nor one that has required a change in the West Virginia law, but it has at various times been neglected. It received new life this year. Under the old law, some counties made an effort to collect the agricultural statistics and for such work the assessors received extra pay under the state law. When the law covering the pay of such county employes was changed in 1921, putting the assessors on a flat salary, there was no change in the section of the law pertaining to the collection of statistics. It remained one of the assessors duties, but nothing was said as to what part of the assessor's salary was for this duty. However, under a ruling of the attorney general, it was declared that the work was mandatory, although no additional pay can be allowed the assessors, since the 1921 law did away with all fees and special pay.

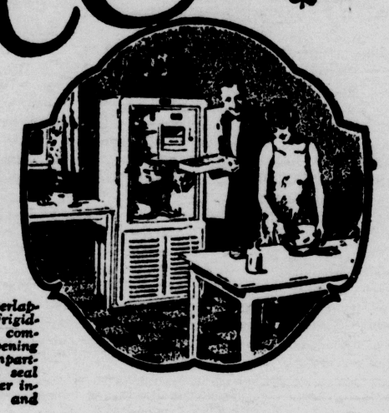
more ICE



FACTS

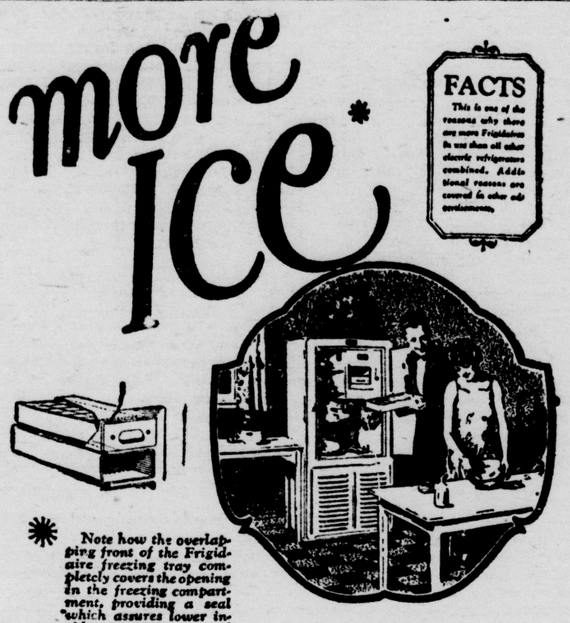
This is one of the reasons why there are more Frigidaires in use than all other electric refrigerators combined. Additional reasons are covered in other ads continuously.



Note how the overlapping front of the Frigidaire freezing tray completely covers the opening in the freezing compartment, providing a seal which assures lower inside temperatures and quicker freezing.

ONE reason for Frigidaire's overwhelming popularity is the fact that it freezes more ice, by actual weight, than other electric refrigerators of the same size.

The Frigidaire freezing trays are self-sealing. The white enameled fronts of the ice trays completely overlap the tray openings, thus sealing the intense cold of the frost coil within the freezing compartment. Frigidaire freezes ice quickly and solidly, regardless of room temperatures.

Long ago, Frigidaire discarded the brine tank in favor of the more efficient frost coil. The frost coil assures simpler, quicker temperature control, which is so accurate and stable that it never has to be adjusted once it has been properly set.

Frigidaire is superior in ice-freezing capacity, food storage space, low operating cost and quiet operation. Frigidaire offers unequaled sturdiness of construction and beauty of design. Frigidaire offers a permanent and thoroughly trained and established service organization. It is the only electric refrigerator guaranteed by General Motors.

Frigidaire Offers More for Less

Coach Bo McMillin Gives Principal Address at Banquet.

Bo McMillin, coach of the Geneva football team, was the principal speaker last night at the banquet tendered members of the Chester high school football squad in the Masonic temple, First street.

The affair was sponsored by the recently formed Purple and Gold club organized mainly for the purpose of furthering high school athletic activities. Approximately 185 guests were present.

Frank S. Huff Jr., president of the club, introduced the toastmaster, Rev. W. J. Harper McKnight, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church. He presented members of the squad and called for addresses from Captain Donald Shaw, Coach Ray Wilde, Superintendent of schools, Albert Rabenstein, and Harold Hardy, manager of the team. Richard Hinds, it was anonunced had been elected captain of next year's team.

George C. Holliday, member of the board of education, gave a talk after which Coach Ray Wilde was presented with a gold watch and chain by members of the club, while he was given a pen and pencil set by members of the football squad.

Coach McMillin, who was a former All-American quarter back, was given a great ovation when he was introduced by the toastmaster at the close of a short talk by William Edgecomb, graduate manager of Geneva college.

McMillin gained the confidence of his auditors at the outset of his remarks with several funny stories after which he launched into a serious talk. He dwelt on the value of true sportsmanship as it relates to school and college athletics and cited the factors necessary for success in the athletic world. He recalled many of his own experiences when actively engaged on the gridiron.

INDIAN MEDICINE GIVES MACHINIST PROMPT RELIEF

He Had Kidney Trouble; Back Pained Him; Body Ached in Every Joint.

Howard Farrell, 115 Center St., Wesleyville, Penna., is a machinist at the Erie Forge & Steel Works. How he was relieved by Redwood's Tepee Tonic is best told in his own words.

"Shortly after my kidneys became deranged I could just feel myself going down hill," says Mr. Farrell. "I didn't have any appetite and what little I ate caused gas to form in my stomach. I took medicine but nothing helped me. And then came a pain in my back, accompanied by dizzy spells. My legs ached and I felt tired. I had headaches, too.

"I tried Tepee Herb Tonic and it was the best medicine I ever took. Today by kidneys are acting right and my back does not hurt me. I have a splendid appetite. No more headaches or dizzy spells. Redwood's medicine also regulated by bowels."

Redwood's Tepee Tonic is different from anything else to be found on the market. It contains upwards of fifty different kinds of valuable roots, barks and herbs. It covers a wide range of usefulness and is like several prescriptions in one. Try it if you don't feel well. It has relieved others and it will also relieve you.

Redwood's Tepee Tonic is recommended and sold by Carnahan's Drug Store in East Liverpool, and by other well stocked druggists everywhere.

ASSESSORS FILE FARM STATISTICS

The assessors of West Virginia have made a real contribution to the business life of West Virginia during the past year by the collection of agricultural statistics. These statistics are valuable in many ways by showing not only what the farmers of the state are producing but in giving an idea of what their needs will be. It is no longer necessary to wait upon the ten year census to get such figures, since the yearly census checks up on the more complete general census and makes it up-to-date all the time. Under the former conditions, the statistics were so far out of date that they were useless for most purposes.

This work of the assessors is not a new duty nor one that has required a change in the West Virginia law, but it has at various times been neglected. It received new life this year. Under the old law, some counties made an effort to collect the agricultural statistics and for such work the assessors received extra pay under the state law. When the law covering the pay of such county employes was changed in 1921, putting the assessors on a flat salary, there was no change in the section of the law pertaining to the collection of statistics. It remained one of the assessors duties, but nothing was said as to what part of the assessor's salary was for this duty. However, under a ruling of the attorney general, it was declared that the work was mandatory, although no additional pay can be allowed the assessors, since the 1921 law did away with all fees and special pay.

PAIN, NEURITIS, RHEUMATISM

"Heet" Relieves Instantly

With applicator attached to cork, just brush "Heet" over the pain area, whether in elbows, arms, shoulders, feet, knees, legs, back, neck or body. Instantly, you feel this harmless, glorious, penetrating heat draw the pain, soreness and stiffness right out of the aching or swollen joint, muscle or nerve. Besides, "Heet" scatters the congestion and establishes a cure.

"Heet" contains two soothing, penetrating ingredients, too expensive to use in ordinary liniments or analgesics. "Heet" is a clean, pleasant liquid; doesn't stain, blister or irritate the skin and costs only 60 cents at any drug store.

How to Treat Sore Muscles and Stiff Joints

IF YOU are troubled with sore muscles or stiffened joints you can get wonderfully quick relief by using a preparation known as Mexican Mustang Liniment. It penetrates through the surface of the skin, direct to the very bone. Keep your joints limber and flexible by this application. Rub out rheumatic pain in this way. The effect of Mexican Mustang Liniment makes it a very necessary home remedy. Get a bottle today from your druggist and jump around with joy tomorrow.

JUDGE LONES CALLS JURY FOR NICK SCACCUTO TRIAL

WELLSVILLE MURDER CASE DECEMBER 20

Outside Jurist Will Pass Upon Patrolman Kenney's Death.

PANEL OF 75

Pastor Offers Prayer as Judge Ascends Lisbon Bench.

Calling for a panel of 75 names from which a jury will be selected to hear the trial of Nick Scaccuto, charged with the murder of Patrolman James Kenney, on last May 17, was the first official act of Judge W. F. Lones, of Wellsville, who this morning ascended the bench in common pleas court at Lisbon.

Scaccuto's trial will begin Dec. 20.

The date was set by agreement of Prosecuting Attorney R. M. Brookes and defense counsel, Attorneys George Farrell and W. B. Moore of Lisbon.

The case, it was announced, will be heard before a foreign judge. Application for an outside jurist has already been made.

An innovation in court procedure was introduced this morning when Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church, of East Liverpool, of which the presiding jurist is a member, stepped to the front of the court room as Judge Lones ascended the bench, and offered prayer.

Bouquets of flowers, complimentary to Judge Lones, were placed on the bench.

After calling for the Scaccuto jury panel, Judge Lones began to hear evidence in a divorce case.

Court Bailiff Bernard Sultner, of Lisbon, who has acted in that capacity for six years, was still on the job today. It is likely that James Stevenson, of Yellow Creek township, appointed to the bailiff post by Judge Lones, will begin his duties tomorrow.

One of the outstanding gridiron figures of the country, through his own individual attainments on the barred field and later as a coach, "Bo" McMillin, grid mentor at Geneva college, in Pennsylvania, was chief guest of the Wellsville Kiwanis club at the organization's noon luncheon meeting in the First Presbyterian church.

The affair took the form of a football meeting, with members of the high school football team, together with their coach, Earl Klinck, and faculty manager, Robert Trumbull, as guests.

McMillin is known as coach of the little team that went out to beat Harvard this season, lost by a small score to Cornell and generally established a great record.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 381 N Marcellus Avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

HYPOCRISY HIT BY REV. FRYE

Evangelist Preaches at Evangelical Church.

Denouncing hypocrisy, the cigarette habit moving picture shows and public dances, among other things, Rev. H. A. Frye, conducting revival services in the First Evangelical church, last night discussed, "The Worst Thing in Wellsville." He is scheduled to talk tonight on "The High Peak of Christian Experience."

Rev. Frye said that he is a sworn enemy against the picture show, the greatest enemy the preacher has.

"Some of you folks thought that I was going to spend the entire time preaching against the picture show as though that were the worst thing in Wellsville. However bad that may be, it is not the worst thing in Wellsville. Neither am I going to spend my time preaching against the public dance. If I did I would preach but little gospel.

"Some people thought that I was going to spend my time preaching against hypocrites. A hypocrite is so small that it takes a magnifying glass to see him. But the fellow who hides behind him is still smaller. The hypocrites are not all in the church.

"I am going to talk about the thing that makes folks hyprocrites, that makes folks run to the picture shows, that makes you want to dance.

"You will find it in Gen. 4-7 and Romans 6-23.

"'If thou doest well shalt thou not be accepted? and if thou doest not well sin lieth at the door?

"The wages of sin is death but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

"Able's offering was accepted, Cain's offering was rejected because of sin in the heart.

"He that regardeth iniquity in his heart the Lord will not hear. An offering with unconfessed sin is in vain.

"The subject of sin is an unpopular subject. But you will find that the express purpose of the gospel is to uncover sin. The preacher who preaches against sin is not popular in the church.

"The man who caters to public opinion desires the applause of men and carries on his meanness under the cloak of religion.

"Sin lies at the bottom of all evil. Jeremiah said the heart is deceitful above all things and is desperately wicked, who can know it.

"The awful sin of the cigarette habit is an astounding evil among our boys and girls.

"A father sought for a reptile in the forest. He secured it and put it in a small box, took it home and sat with his wife in the front room rejoicing that he had acquired the reptile with which he expected to make his fortune. While they were rejoicing together the little boy reached into the box and the reptile bit him. The parents heard the scream. Soon the boy died.

"How many parents say no harm in playing cards, no harm in the dance, etc. It does no good to paint the pump when the water within is poisoned.

PENNSY PAYS OUT RECORD DIVIDENDS

$8,665,000 in Checks Mailed to Stockholders.

177TH PAYMENT

First Disbursement at New Quarterly Rate.

Checks for the largest quarterly dividend disbursement in the history of the Pennsylvania Railroad company have been mailed by the company's treasury department in Philadelphia.

Totaling 185,591 in number, the checks fill 38 government mail sacks. The aggregate amount is $8,655,000. These checks comprise the first payment of dividend at the new rate of 1 3-4 per cent quarterly (equivalent to seven per cent annually) as recently declared by the board of directors. This disbursement is also the 177th dividend paid by the Pennsylvania Railroad company. It continues the company's unbroken record of paying cash return to its stockholders in every year since it was incorporated in 1848.

The preparation of the Pennsylvania's dividend checks requires the services of a special clerical force, varying in number from 20 to 100 for approximately three weeks. Each check bears the facsimile signature of the company's treasurer, H. H. Rea, and is countersigned by three assistant cashiers who use simmigraph pens, signing ten checks at one movement. The total work of signing is equivalent to 70 full days at eight hours for each man writing with an ordinary pen. Instead of postage stamps, a mail metering machine is used which seals and stamps each envelope under a correct number of the postoffice department.

This saves the company's force the work of sealing the envelopes and affixing the stamps, and the postoffice the work of canceling the stamps.

All of the checks, with the exception of those intended for foreign countries, are delivered to the postoffice in a single day. Foreign checks are sent out earlier in order to reach stockholders by November 30, the date the dividend is payable.

These quarterly dividends go to every state of the union, the island possessions of the United States, every country in Europe, all of the possessions of the British empire, and many points in Asia, Central America, South America, the West Indies and other places.

Trans-Atlantic countries, with but few exceptions, receive their checks through the Midland Bank, of London, which is the European fiscal agent of the Pennsy. These checks are drawn in dollars but are converted by the bank into sterling at the current rate of exchange.

JUDGE LONES CALLS JURY FOR NICK SCACCUTO TRIAL

WELLSVILLE MURDER CASE DECEMBER 20

Outside Jurist Will Pass Upon Patrolman Kenney's Death.

Pastor Offers Prayer as Judge Ascends Lisbon Bench.

Calling for a panel of 75 names from which a jury will be selected to hear the trial of Nick Scaccuto, charged with the murder of Patrolman James Kenney, on last May 17, was the first official act of Judge W. F. Lones, of Wellsville, who this morning ascended the bench in common pleas court at Lisbon.

Scaccuto's trial will begin Dec. 20.

The date was set by agreement of Prosecuting Attorney R. M. Brookes and defense counsel, Attorneys George Farrell and W. B. Moore of Lisbon.

The case, it was announced, will be heard before a foreign judge. Application for an outside jurist has already been made.

An innovation in court procedure was introduced this morning when Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church, of East Liverpool, of which the presiding jurist is a member, stepped to the front of the court room as Judge Lones ascended the bench, and offered prayer.

Bouquets of flowers, complimentary to Judge Lones, were placed on the bench.

After calling for the Scaccuto jury panel, Judge Lones began to hear evidence in a divorce case.

Court Bailiff Bernard Sultner, of Lisbon, who has acted in that capacity for six years, was still on the job today. It is likely that James Stevenson, of Yellow Creek township, appointed to the bailiff post by Judge Lones, will begin his duties tomorrow.

The affair took the form of a football meeting, with members of the high school football team, together with their coach, Earl Klinck, and faculty manager, Robert Trumbull, as guests.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 381 N Marcellus Avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

HYPOCRISY HIT BY REV. FRYE

Evangelist Preaches at Evangelical Church.

Denouncing hypocrisy, the cigarette habit moving picture shows and public dances, among other things, Rev. H. A. Frye, conducting revival services in the First Evangelical church, last night discussed, "The Worst Thing in Wellsville." He is scheduled to talk tonight on "The High Peak of Christian Experience."

Rev. Frye said that he is a sworn enemy against the picture show, the greatest enemy the preacher has.

"Some of you folks thought that I was going to spend the entire time preaching against the picture show as though that were the worst thing in Wellsville. However bad that may be, it is not the worst thing in Wellsville. Neither am I going to spend my time preaching against the public dance. If I did I would preach but little gospel.

"Some people thought that I was going to spend my time preaching against hypocrites. A hypocrite is so small that it takes a magnifying glass to see him. But the fellow who hides behind him is still smaller. The hypocrites are not all in the church.

"I am going to talk about the thing that makes folks hyprocrites, that makes folks run to the picture shows, that makes you want to dance.

"You will find it in Gen. 4-7 and Romans 6-23.

"'If thou doest well shalt thou not be accepted? and if thou doest not well sin lieth at the door?

"The wages of sin is death but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

"Able's offering was accepted, Cain's offering was rejected because of sin in the heart.

"He that regardeth iniquity in his heart the Lord will not hear. An offering with unconfessed sin is in vain.

"The subject of sin is an unpopular subject. But you will find that the express purpose of the gospel is to uncover sin. The preacher who preaches against sin is not popular in the church.

"The man who caters to public opinion desires the applause of men and carries on his meanness under the cloak of religion.

"Sin lies at the bottom of all evil. Jeremiah said the heart is deceitful above all things and is desperately wicked, who can know it.

"The awful sin of the cigarette habit is an astounding evil among our boys and girls.

"A father sought for a reptile in the forest. He secured it and put it in a small box, took it home and sat with his wife in the front room rejoicing that he had acquired the reptile with which he expected to make his fortune. While they were rejoicing together the little boy reached into the box and the reptile bit him. The parents heard the scream. Soon the boy died.

"How many parents say no harm in playing cards, no harm in the dance, etc. It does no good to paint the pump when the water within is poisoned.

PENNSY PAYS OUT RECORD DIVIDENDS

$8,665,000 in Checks Mailed to Stockholders.

177TH PAYMENT

First Disbursement at New Quarterly Rate.

Checks for the largest quarterly dividend disbursement in the history of the Pennsylvania Railroad company have been mailed by the company's treasury department in Philadelphia.

Totaling 185,591 in number, the checks fill 38 government mail sacks. The aggregate amount is $8,655,000. These checks comprise the first payment of dividend at the new rate of 1 3-4 per cent quarterly (equivalent to seven per cent annually) as recently declared by the board of directors. This disbursement is also the 177th dividend paid by the Pennsylvania Railroad company. It continues the company's unbroken record of paying cash return to its stockholders in every year since it was incorporated in 1848.

The preparation of the Pennsylvania's dividend checks requires the services of a special clerical force, varying in number from 20 to 100 for approximately three weeks. Each check bears the facsimile signature of the company's treasurer, H. H. Rea, and is countersigned by three assistant cashiers who use simmigraph pens, signing ten checks at one movement. The total work of signing is equivalent to 70 full days at eight hours for each man writing with an ordinary pen. Instead of postage stamps, a mail metering machine is used which seals and stamps each envelope under a correct number of the postoffice department.

This saves the company's force the work of sealing the envelopes and affixing the stamps, and the postoffice the work of canceling the stamps.

All of the checks, with the exception of those intended for foreign countries, are delivered to the postoffice in a single day. Foreign checks are sent out earlier in order to reach stockholders by November 30, the date the dividend is payable.

These quarterly dividends go to every state of the union, the island possessions of the United States, every country in Europe, all of the possessions of the British empire, and many points in Asia, Central America, South America, the West Indies and other places.

Trans-Atlantic countries, with but few exceptions, receive their checks through the Midland Bank, of London, which is the European fiscal agent of the Pennsy. These checks are drawn in dollars but are converted by the bank into sterling at the current rate of exchange.

CHARGE HALL-MILLS JURORS HAVE MADE UP MINDS

HOTEL OWNER CLAIMS VOTE WILL BE 9-3

Alleges Veniremen Talk Freely of Prejudice Against State.

ADVISES JUDGE

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 30.—Sensational charges that the Hall-Mills murder trial jury already has made up its mind, that it stands nine for acquittal and three for conviction and that it has talked freely of its prejudice against the state's case, today caused a furore in Somerville and reports were circulated that Prosecutor Alexander Simpson plans to demand a mistrial.

The charges were made by Gilbert Van Doren, owner of the Colonial hotel, where the jury is quartered. Van Doren, third largest taxpayer in Somerset county, who has lived here for 56 years, wrote a letter containing these charges to county Judge Frank L. Cleary, sitting in the case with Justice Charles W. Parker.

Van Doren, 78 years old and independently wealthy, today admitted it was he who wrote to Judge Cleary complaining of the actions of the jury. He lives at the hotel.

Three for Conviction.

He was interviewed this morning in his "office" and room on the second floor of the hotel. He is a gray-haired, gray-mustached little man, ruddy faced and wrinkled.

"I'm sorry I'm dragged into this," he said, "but now that I'm in it, I'm not going to back down. I thought I could give the information to Judge Cleary without my name getting in the newspapers.

"But what I said in the letter about the jury is right. I've been staying here at the hotel all along and could see and hear what was going on.

"Three of the jurors are for conviction. I can name them. The other nine are for acquittal. He said the jurors talked the case over loudly and freely at the hotel; that they made no secret of their prejudice against the state's case even before Mrs. Jane Gibson appeared as a witness; that after she appeared, he repeatedly heard her referred to as "liar," that he heard the jurors make such statements as "Simpson and his Hudson county officers have come to Somerset county to show us how to run things, but they won't get away with it."

Ready To Tell Story.

Van Doren declared he wrote to Judge Cleary because he thought it was his duty to do as a citizen who did not want a stain cast on the name of Somerset county, that he "wouldn't take the stand for $10,000," but that he will take the stand and tell what he knows if he is requested to do so.

"Why you couldn't help hearing what the jury was saying around this hotel," Van Doren said. "They leave their doors wide open. There are twenty to twenty-five roomers stopping here all the time.

"I've talked and jollied with the jurors. They have no compunction in talking with me. Why, I know eleven of the twelve jurors." I was joking with one of them the other day. I said: 'Well, soon you'll be locked up for three or four days and you'll have to pay for your own feed.' The jurors laughter and replied: 'Don't kid yourself, we won't be in there twenty minutes.' "

Van Doren was disturbed this morning because he had been drawn into the case. He said he has been under the care of a doctor and dislikes the idea of perhaps having to testify in court.

"If Simpson subpoenas me, I'll go and testify," he said. "And if he does, I'll give him the name of one of the constables in charge of the jury who sits in here and talks about the case right along."

Detectives Obtain Affidavits.

It is reported that Prosecutor Simpson plans a move for a mistrial, either today or tomorrow. If he makes such a motion, he will allege impropriety in connection with the conduct of the jury.

Simpson said today that for several days, detectives for the prosecution have been obtaining affidavits tending to show that several members of the jury have not been paying proper attention to the evidence, and that one of the jurors fell asleep during the testimony of Mrs. Jane Gibson.

When Simpson came into the court room this morning he would not discuss his plans regarding a motion for a mistrial. It was learned, however, that his assistants are actively seeking evidence regarding the jury and that one matter being investigated is a report that a Somerville minister called one of the jurors aside the other day and talked to him for five minutes.

Attorneys for the defense indicated their surprise at the turn of developments. Timothy N. Pfeiffer, of defense counsel, said that in the event of a mistrial, the defense would plead, at the opening of a new trial, that their clients "have been placed in former jeopardy," and move that the new trial be dismissed.

WOMAN, BELIEVED BURGLAR, IS SHOT

YOUNGSTOWN, Nov. 30.—Mrs. Grace Bowshier, 45, was shot and seriously wounded early today by S. J. Phillips, by whom she is employed as housekeeper, when he thought that she was a burglar.

Mrs. Bowshier had arisen earlier than was her custom and was walking about the house when Phillips was awakened and fired at her, he told police.

stupid immigration laws and have more people here? Farmers vote to keep out the sort of immigration to which this country owes everything. And then the farmers weep because they have surplus products. They will weep more if Europe organizes a boycott against the United States trade.

IF SENATOR BORAH, head of foreign relations in the senate, thinks Europe is planning a United States boycott, the Mexican situation should interest him. Luckily, American republics do not owe us any billions. It should be possible to keep friendly with them and refrain from bullying them.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Gains and losses in the industrial stocks were evenly distributed in the early trading in the stock market today. Rallies in the speculative leaders at the opening of the market were fortified behind a 5¼ per cent call loan renewal rate and a symposium on general business conditions by industrial leaders which indicated a decline in the volume of 1927 national business.

Selling ex-dividend 1¾ per cent, U. S. Steel declined to 146 against yesterday's high level of 150¾, while Baldwin at 153½ showed a loss of 6 points and General Motors sold heavily around 138. This display of weakness by the market leaders encouraged the bears to redouble their efforts for lower prices, since the path of least resistance was downward.

Hall-Mills Case

he "didn't know how you got on the stand."

Joseph A. Faurot, famous fingerprint expert, was recalled when Dr. Cooper left the stand. Simpson handed him three enlargements of "S-17." Faurot pointed out to the jury the points on the card which did not appear in the huge defense enlargement."

On cross-examination Robert H. McCarter of the defense asked Faurot if it was not a fact that the "distortion" he referred to "arises from the fact that when a picture is enlarged, the rays cause a certain obscurity or failure of brilliancy at the outside which is not true in the centre?"

Faurot said "yes." Faurot admitted that the distortion he pointed out in the defense's exhibit was on the outside, not in center.

Fred Drewen, fingerprint expert of Jersey City, followed Faurot on the stand. Drewen also pointed out "distortions" on the defense's enlarged fingerprint pictures.

Drewen was excused from the stand and court was adjourned for luncheon.

Handwriting Expert Called.

August Hartkorn, handwriting expert and "examiner of questioned documents" was recalled to the stand at the opening of the trial. Hartkorn, a state rebuttal witness, had examined the diary of Henry Stevens' and had jestified that in his opinion three pencils were used to make notations under the date of September 14, 1922.

That the date of the double murders Henry Stevens' alibi is that he was fishing at his home in Lavallette, N. J., that night and the notations in the diary had corroborated Stevens' claim.

Before Hartkorn took the stand Prosecutor Simpson asked if he could place a dozen or so characer witnesses on the stand before Hartkorn continued his testimony. He said these witnesses were from out of town and wanted to get away as soon as possible.

The court asked if that procedure was agreeable to the defense.

"No, your honor," said Robert H. McCarter of the defense, "we want to proceed in the regular way."

Hartkorn was then called.

Testimony on Diary.

Hartkorn testified he was present when a photograph of the fingerprint on "S-17," the card found near the bodies of Rev. Hall and Mrs. Mills, was taken. The state alleges the print is that of the left index finger of Willie Stevens. Hartkorn said he found the initials "I. H. S." in the lower right hand corner of the card. He was asked if they were the initials of Edward H. Schwartz, fingerprint expert of Newark, and he replied that he didn't know.

Simpson then turned him over to McCarter for cross-examination.

McCarter handed Hartkorn, Henry Stevens' diary.

"I understand you said yesterday that the entry on September 14, 1922, reading "art 1 blue 6 lbs.," was made with another pencil? McCarter said "Yes."

"What do you base that opinion on?"

"Because it is made with a softer lead."

Hartkorn testified that in his opinion Henry's entry of the 14th was intended originally for the 15th, because of a line being drawn under it to separate the two dates. He was then excused.

Dr. Walter Madde, former mayor of Trenton, N. J., testified that he knew Mrs. Jane Gibson from 1911 to 1914. He said her reputation for veracity was "fine." Defense witnesses had testified her reputation for veracity was "bad."

Maine Victory Gives G. O. P. Margin of One In Senate

By George R. Holmes.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Election of Arthur R. Gould as Republican senator from Maine means that the Republican party will be able to organize the senate of the seventieth congress by the narrow margin of a single vote.

Actually, however, the Republican victory in Maine means very little, if anything, insofar as actual or working control of the next senate is concerned.

The line-up stands today:

Republicans—48.

Democrats—47.

Farmer-Labor—1.

Actual control, if any, rests more with the Democrats than with the Republicans, despite the figures, for included in the Republican total of 48 are fully a dozen senators who as often vote with the Democrats as against them. There are perhaps half a dozen who vote oftener against the administration than with it. This is particularly true on any legislation that by any stretch of imagination may be termed "progressive."

LaFolette and Blaine in Wisconsin, Frazier and Nye in North Dakota, Norris and Howell in Nebraska, John in California, Norbeck and McMaster in South Dakota, Borah in Idaho, Couzens in Michigan—they are empervious and contemptuous of party discipline and the party whip. They vote with the Republicans on organization matters, but on legislation they are independent.

Klan Is Defeated.

AUGUSTA, Me., Nov. 30.—Maine has shaken off the cloak of the Ku Klux Klan and has assured retention of Republican control of the United States senate.

These two facts, political observers said, stood forth today as the result of the election of Arthur R. Gould, business man, of Presque Isle, a Republican, to the United States senate over Fulton J. Redman, Democrat, a lawyer, of Ellsworth, by a majority of about 50,000 votes.

First a cigar salesman, then a potato farmer, a builder of railroads, a lumberman, a pioneer in the great north country of Aroostook—Maine's vast potato belt—Gould entered politics practically unknown, except to his friends and business associates. He was repudiated by the governor of Maine, a Republican, because he and his friends were alleged to have exceeded the legal campaign expenditure allowance—a question disapproved by a state probe but yet to come before Senator Reed's campaign fund investigators. He was denounced by the K. K. K. and it was stated that the Klan had thrown its support to Redman.

But the 70-year-old millionaire in spite of his opposition swept every county in the state. It was the deathknell of the Klan as a political factor in Maine, said political experts.

Queen Marie in Europe

Saturday night, but that the news is being suppressed; also that the Roumanian minister of war, M. Mircescu, is expected to leave Roumania tomorrow "for a trip abroad." His trip is believed to have a double motive: First, to give Premier Averescu an opportunity to take charge of the Roumanian army as temporary minister of war, to prepare against a possible forthcoming revolution, and second, to permit M. Mircescu to personally take charge of the Roumanian intelligence service abroad as a guaranty that former Crown Prince Carol will not be able to return to Roumania, as it is suspected he intends to do—perhaps in the returning retinue of Queen Marie who arrives in Paris today.

The Roumanian newspapers today contained no news concerning King Ferdinand's condition, except for the favorable official communiques issued by the government, and which the majority of the populace believes to be untrue.

The government has informed the editors and proprietors of newspapers that confiscation will immediately follow the publication of any item concerning the king's health or the question of succession to the throne, other than the news contained in the official bulletins.

Premier Averescu is reported to be trying to get the peasants' party leaders to forsake their support of Prince Carol's cause and to accept the government's solution of the question of succession to the throne.

LILLIAN GISH IN IDEAL ROLE

Stars in "La Boheme" at American Theatre.

Has Lillian Gish, star of many roles, found the ideal one—her supreme contribution to the art of the screen?

Many people say so, after having seen her Mimi in "La Boheme." Never before did role fit artist, and artist fit role, so ideally as Lillian Gish and the character of the little wistful waif of the Latin Quarter, in the quaint romance now playing at the American theater.

"La Boheme" is known and loved by millions; Lillian Gish is famous wherever the motion picture is shown. Her roles have been many and varied; she was a southern rose in "The Birth of a Nation," a quaint Yankee maid in "Way Down East," a little beaten waif of Limehouse in "Broken Blossoms," and a French revolutionary heroine in "Orphans of the Storm." An ethereal nun in "The White Sister," and an aristocratic mediaeval maid in "Romola"—she has played practically every type of womanhood.

But the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production potrays her in a role that she seems literally to live and breathe; she does not act Mimi—she veritably IS Mimi! Her delicate romance; her glorious faith and her wonderful love for her poet, her wistful appeal—she is veritably the embodiment of the soul of woman.

A notable cast was directed by King Vidor in the new picture, Miss Gish's first American-made play in some years. John Gilbert, as the poet Rodolphe, reaches the heights of genius opposite Miss Gish, and Roy D'Arcy repeats his triumphs in "The Merry Widow" as the suave boulevardier, who represents all the hero's jealous fears.

Renee Andoree makes a charming Musetta, while Gino Corrado, Edward Everett Horton and George Hassell are a lovable trio of Bohemians in the quaint French quarter.

The cast is an ideal setting for the star—both are perfect in the famous romance of the art quarter.

It is a picture ever to be remembered.

FIGHT PLAN TO POSTPONE M'DERMOTT CASE

Hint Delay in Trial of Alleged Mellett Slayer.

LAWYER TO QUIT

Cleveland Men Testify at Canton Grand Jury Session.

CANTON, O., Nov. 30.—E. L. Mills, counsel for Pat McDermott, notified Judge E. W. Diehl this morning that he will not withdraw as Pat's counsel, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. This indicates there will be no change in the plans to try McDermott for first degree murder indictment next Monday.

CANTON, O., Nov. 30.—Every effort will be made by Prosecutor C. B. McClintock to prevent postponement of the trial of Pat McDermott, first of the trio of men indicted for the slaying of Don Mellett, Canton publisher, when the case is called in common pleas court here December 6, McClintock declared today.

The prosecutor announced he will have E. L. Mills, counsel for McDermott, summoned into court today if possible, to ascertain the truth of reports that Mills plans to withdraw as McDermott's counsel. Such a step, if not announced soon, might result in newly appointed counsel for McDermott obtaining a postponement on the grounds they had not had sufficient time to prepare a defense.

Ben Nadel, Cleveland bootlegger, was scheduled to appear before the reconvened grand jury today, as the Mellett murder probe continued. His associate, Dan Pfaff, testified before the probers yesterday.

Included in the witnesses who were to testify today were Mrs. Don R. Mellett, widow of the publisher, and her sister-in law, Mrs. Lloyd Mellett. It was reported that several witnesses yesterday identified McDermott as the man seen hanging around in the vicinity of the Mellett home on the day before the slaying. Efforts were to be made by the prosecutor today to establish Nadel as the man seen shadowing Mellett at the Molly Stark club on the night of July 15, just prior to the killing.

D. W. DAVIS, 75, SALEM, DIES

Demarst W. Davis, 75, member of the draft board in district No. 2 of Columbiana county during the World War and a leader in the Republican party in the county, died in his home on the Salem-Damascus road, near Salem, yesterday following a several weeks' illness of heart disease. He is survived by his widow and one brother, D. L. Davis of Salem.

TWO MORE AUTOS STOLEN HERE

Two automobiles were reported stolen here last night. One was later recovered.

The other machine, a 1923 Ford coupe, owned by C. H. Nickle, Hookstown, was stolen from its parking place on East Fourth street while Nickle was attending a motion picture show. It carried Pennsylvania license C-2924.

Annexation O. K.

Chairman Conrad Berg joined with Kelly and Bye in supporting it upon roll call by Clerk L. H. Johnson.

The city council has already appropriated $25,000 from the water works fund for the extension of water mains to the new territory and another $25,000 is available should it be needed. Pipe for the work has been ordered and the improvement will be started early in the spring. In addition to city water service, residents of the territory will receive fire and police protection and street lights. The city probably will employ a motorcycle policeman to patrol suburban territory.

No Appeal From Decision.

Opponents of annexation have no appeal from the decision of the commissioners. Township trustees opposed the move because revenue for road work will be reduced.

The new territory will add no small sum to the municipality's tax duplicate. Taxes from the new districts will not be received by the city until December, 1927, County Treasurer Jo Pike said today. The tax books which go out tomorrow are based on returns made on tax listing day which was April 11, this year.

The annexation application was one of the first acts of the planning commission after the appointment of that body had been authorized, by council upon recommendation of Mayor Benedum. The commission outlined the territory to be added to the city, their plans being approved by council, which enacted the necessary legislation.

ROTARY PLANS YULE PARTY

Crippled Children Will be Guests December 21.

Plans for the annual Christmas party which members of the Rotary club will tender crippled children on Tuesday, December 21, were discussed at today's noon luncheon at the Y. M. C. A.

A committee consisting of Dr. Frank G. Fowler, chairman; D. M. Ogilvie, Frank Campbell, Leon Rubin, J. Donald Thompson and Charles Bowman were named to make arrangements for the entertainment which will be featured at the Christmas week meeting.

About 50 members and their guests attended today's meeting. H. P. Vincent, official at the R. Thomas & Son's plant, was among the guests. The singing was led by T. E. Lewis with Mrs. Danks Cochran as accompanist.

Leon Rubin will be chairman of next week's luncheon, at which the boys' work committee's activities will be called to the club's attention. Richard Victor will be the speaker.

W. F. Bailey presided today. The speaker was Captain H. N. Wood, Youngstown representative of the Pennsylvania-Ohio Electric company, whose subject was "Public Utilities and the Community." Captain Wood declared that East Liverpool, occupying a position on the river, rich in coal deposits and other resources, was the center of a power generating district second to none in the United States. He discussed the part which public utilities, such as power, telephones, street cars and railroads, play in the growth of any community.

CHARGE HALL-MILLS JURORS HAVE MADE UP MINDS

HOTEL OWNER CLAIMS VOTE WILL BE 9-3

Alleges Veniremen Talk Freely of Prejudice Against State.

ADVISES JUDGE

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 30.—Sensational charges that the Hall-Mills murder trial jury already has made up its mind, that it stands nine for acquittal and three for conviction and that it has talked freely of its prejudice against the state's case, today caused a furore in Somerville and reports were circulated that Prosecutor Alexander Simpson plans to demand a mistrial.

The charges were made by Gilbert Van Doren, owner of the Colonial hotel, where the jury is quartered. Van Doren, third largest taxpayer in Somerset county, who has lived here for 56 years, wrote a letter containing these charges to county Judge Frank L. Cleary, sitting in the case with Justice Charles W. Parker.

Van Doren, 78 years old and independently wealthy, today admitted it was he who wrote to Judge Cleary complaining of the actions of the jury. He lives at the hotel.

Three for Conviction.

He was interviewed this morning in his "office" and room on the second floor of the hotel. He is a gray-haired, gray-mustached little man, ruddy faced and wrinkled.

"I'm sorry I'm dragged into this," he said, "but now that I'm in it, I'm not going to back down. I thought I could give the information to Judge Cleary without my name getting in the newspapers.

"But what I said in the letter about the jury is right. I've been staying here at the hotel all along and could see and hear what was going on.

"Three of the jurors are for conviction. I can name them. The other nine are for acquittal. He said the jurors talked the case over loudly and freely at the hotel; that they made no secret of their prejudice against the state's case even before Mrs. Jane Gibson appeared as a witness; that after she appeared, he repeatedly heard her referred to as "liar," that he heard the jurors make such statements as "Simpson and his Hudson county officers have come to Somerset county to show us how to run things, but they won't get away with it."

Ready To Tell Story.

Van Doren declared he wrote to Judge Cleary because he thought it was his duty to do as a citizen who did not want a stain cast on the name of Somerset county, that he "wouldn't take the stand for $10,000," but that he will take the stand and tell what he knows if he is requested to do so.

"Why you couldn't help hearing what the jury was saying around this hotel," Van Doren said. "They leave their doors wide open. There are twenty to twenty-five roomers stopping here all the time.

"I've talked and jollied with the jurors. They have no compunction in talking with me. Why, I know eleven of the twelve jurors," I was joking with one of them the other day. I said: 'Well, soon you'll be locked up for three or four days and you'll have to pay for your own feed.' The jurors laughter and replied: 'Don't kid yourself, we won't be in there twenty minutes.' "

Van Doren was disturbed this morning because he had been drawn into the case. He said he has been under the care of a doctor and dislikes the idea of perhaps having to testify in court.

"If Simpson subpoenas me, I'll go and testify," he said. "And if he does, I'll give him the name of one of the constables in charge of the jury who sits in here and talks about the case right along."

Detectives Obtain Affidavits.

It is reported that Prosecutor Simpson plans a move for a mistrial, either today or tomorrow. If he makes such a motion, he will allege improprieties in connection with the conduct of the jury.

Simpson said today that for several days, defectives for the prosecution have been obtaining affidavits tending to show that several members of the jury have not been paying proper attention to the evidence, and that one of the jurors fell asleep during the testimony of Mrs. Jane Gibson.

When Simpson came into the court room this morning he would not discuss his plans regarding a motion for a mistrial. It was learned, however, that his assistants are actively seeking evidence regarding the jury and that one matter being investigated is a report that a Somerville minister called one of the jurors aside the other day and talked to him for five minutes.

Attorneys for the defense indicated their surprise at the turn of developments. Timothy N. Pfeiffer, of defense counsel, said that in the event of a mistrial, the defense would plead, at the opening of a new trial, that their clients "have been placed in former jeopardy," and move that the new trial be dismissed.

WOMAN, BELIEVED BURGLAR, IS SHOT

YOUNGSTOWN, Nov. 30.—Mrs. Grace Bowshier, 45, was shot and seriously wounded early today by S. J. Phillips, by whom she is employed as housekeeper, when he thought that she was a burglar.

Mrs. Bowshier had arisen earlier than was her custom and was walking about the house when Phillips was awakened and fired at her, he told police.

stupid immigration laws and have more people here? Farmers vote to keep out the sort of immigration to which this country owes everything. And then the farmers weep because they have surplus products. They will weep more if Europe organizes a boycott against the United States trade.

IF SENATOR BORAH, head of foreign relations in the senate, thinks Europe is planning a United States boycott, the Mexican situation should interest him. Luckily, American republics do not owe us any billions. It should be possible to keep friendly with them and refrain from bullying them.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Gains and losses in the industrial stocks were evenly distributed in the early trading in the stock market today. Rallies in the speculative leaders at the opening of the market were fortified behind a 5¼ per cent call loan renewal rate and a symposium on general business conditions by industrial leaders which indicated a decline in the volume of 1927 national business.

Selling ex-dividend 1¾ per cent, U. S. Steel declined to 146 against yesterday's high level of 150¾, while Baldwin at 153½ showed a loss of 6 points and General Motors sold heavily around 138. This display of weakness by the market leaders encouraged the bears to redouble their efforts for lower prices, since the path of least resistance was downward.

Hall-Mills Case

he "didn't know how you got on the stand."

Joseph A. Faurot, famous fingerprint expert, was recalled when Dr. Cooper left the stand. Simpson handed him three enlargements of "S-17." Faurot pointed out to the jury the points on the card which did not appear in the huge defense enlargement."

On cross-examination Robert H. McCarter of the defense asked Faurot if it was not a fact that the "distortion" he referred to "arises from the fact that when a picture is enlarged, the rays cause a certain obscurity or failure of brilliancy at the outside which is not true in the centre?"

Faurot said "yes." Faurot admitted that the distortion he pointed out in the defense's exhibit was on the outside, not in center.

Fred Drewen, fingerprint expert of Jersey City, followed Faurot on the stand. Drewen also pointed out "distortions" on the defense's enlarged fingerprint pictures.

Drewen was excused from the stand and court was adjourned for luncheon.

Handwriting Expert Called.

August Hartkorn, handwriting expert and "examiner of questioned documents" was recalled to the stand at the opening of the trial. Hartkorn, a state rebuttal witness, had examined the diary of Henry Stevens' and had testified that in his opinion three pencils were used to make notations under the date of September 14, 1922.

That the date of the double murders Henry Stevens' alibi is that he was fishing at his home in Lavallette, N. J., that night and the notations in the diary had corroborated Stevens' claim.

Before Hartkorn took the stand Prosecutor Simpson asked if he could place a dozen or so characer witnesses on the stand before Hartkorn continued his testimony. He said these witnesses were from out of town and wanted to get away as soon as possible.

The court asked if that procedure was agreeable to the defense.

"No, your honor," said Robert H. McCarter of the defense, "we want to proceed in the regular way."

Hartkorn was then called.

Testimony on Diary.

Hartkorn testified he was present when a photograph of the fingerprint on "S-17," the card found near the bodies of Rev. Hall and Mrs. Mills, was taken. The state alleges the print is that of the left index finger of Willie Stevens. Hartkorn said he found the initials "I. H. S." in the lower right hand corner of the card. He was asked if they were the initials of Edward H. Schwartz, fingerprint expert of Newark, and he replied that he didn't know.

Simpson then turned him over to McCarter for cross-examination.

McCarter handed Hartkorn, Henry Stevens' diary.

"I understand you said yesterday that the entry on September 14, 1922, reading "art 1 blue 6 lbs.," was made with another pencil? McCarter said "Yes."

"What do you base that opinion on?"

"Because it is made with a softer lead."

Hartkorn testified that in his opinion Henry's entry of the 14th was intended originally for the 15th, because of a line being drawn under it to separate the two dates. He was then excused.

Dr. Walter Madde, former mayor of Trenton, N. J., testified that he knew Mrs. Jane Gibson from 1911 to 1914. He said her reputation for veracity was "fine." Defense witnesses had testified her reputation for veracity was "bad."

Maine Victory Gives G. O. P. Margin of One In Senate

Election of Arthur R. Gould, Republican, Will Enable Party to Organize Upper House of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Election of Arthur R. Gould as Republican senator from Maine means that the Republican party will be able to organize the senate of the seventieth congress by the narrow margin of a single vote.

They vote with the Republicans on organization matters, but on legislation they are independent.

Klan Is Defeated.

AUGUSTA, Me., Nov. 30.—Maine has shaken off the cloak of the Ku Klux Klan and has assured retention of Republican control of the United States senate.

These two facts, political observers said, stood forth today as the result of the election of Arthur R. Gould, business man, of Presque Isle, a Republican, to the United States senate over Fulton J. Redman, Democrat, a lawyer, of Ellsworth, by a majority of about 50,000 votes.

First a cigar salesman, then a potato farmer, a builder of railroads, a lumberman, a pioneer in the great north country of Aroostook—Maine's vast potato belt—Gould entered politics practically unknown, except to his friends and business associates. He was repudiated by the governor of Maine, a Republican, because he and his friends were alleged to have exceeded the legal campaign expenditure allowance—a question disapproved by a state probe but yet to come before Senator Reed's campaign fund investigators. He was denounced by the K. K. K. and it was stated that the Klan had thrown its support to Redman.

But the 70-year-old millionaire in spite of his opposition swept every county in the state. It was the deathknell of the Klan as a political factor in Maine, said political experts.

Saturday night, but that the news is being suppressed; also that the Roumanian minister of war, M. Mircescu, is expected to leave Roumania tomorrow "for a trip abroad." His trip is believed to have a double motive: First, to give Premier Averescu an opportunity to take charge of the Roumanian army as temporary minister of war, to prepare against a possible forthcoming revolution, and second, to permit M. Mircescu to personally take charge of the Roumanian intelligence service abroad as a guaranty that former Crown Prince Carol will not be able to return to Roumania, as it is suspected he intends to do—perhaps in the returning retinue of Queen Marie who arrives in Paris today.

The Roumanian newspapers today contained no news concerning King Ferdinand's condition, except for the favorable official communiques issued by the government, and which the majority of the populace believes to be untrue.

The government has informed the editors and proprietors of newspapers that confiscation will immediately follow the publication of any item concerning the king's health or the question of succession to the throne, other than the news contained in the official bulletins.

Premier Averescu is reported to be trying to get the peasants' party leaders to forsake their support of Prince Carol's cause and to accept the government's solution of the question of succession to the throne.

LILLIAN GISH IN IDEAL ROLE

Stars in "La Boheme" at American Theatre.

Has Lillian Gish, star of many roles, found the ideal one—her supreme contribution to the art of the screen?

Many people say so, after having seen her Mimi in "La Boheme." Never before did role fit artist, and artist fit role, so ideally as Lillian Gish and the character of the little wistful waif of the Latin Quarter, in the quaint romance now playing at the American theater.

"La Boheme" is known and loved by millions; Lillian Gish is famous wherever the motion picture is shown. Her roles have been many and varied; she was a southern rose in "The Birth of a Nation," a quaint Yankee maid in "Way Down East," a little beaten waif of Limehouse in "Broken Blossoms," and a French revolutionary heroine in "Orphans of the Storm." An ethereal nun in "The White Sister," and an aristocratic mediaeval maid in "Romola"—she has played practically every type of womanhood.

But the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production potrays her in a role that she seems literally to live and breathe; she does not act Mimi—she veritably IS Mimi! Her delicate romance; her glorious faith and her wonderful love for her poet, her wistful appeal—she is veritably the embodiment of the soul of woman.

A notable cast was directed by King Vidor in the new picture, Miss Gish's first American-made play in some years. John Gilbert, as the poet Rodolphe, reaches the heights of genius opposite Miss Gish, and Roy D'Arcy repeats his triumphs in "The Merry Widow" as the suave boulevardier, who represents all the hero's jealous fears.

Renee Andoree makes a charming Musetta, while Gino Corrado, Edward Everett Horton and George Hassell are a lovable trio of Bohemians in the quaint French quarter.

The cast is an ideal setting for the star—both are perfect in the famous romance of the art quarter.

It is a picture ever to be remembered.

Hint Delay in Trial of Alleged Mellett Slayer.

LAWYER TO QUIT

Cleveland Men Testify at Canton Grand Jury Session.

CANTON, O., Nov. 30.—E. L. Mills, counsel for Pat McDermott, notified Judge E. W. Diehl this morning that he will not withdraw as Pat's counsel, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. This indicates there will be no change in the plans to try McDermott for first degree murder indictment next Monday.

CANTON, O., Nov. 30.—Every effort will be made by Prosecutor C. B. McClintock to prevent postponement of the trial of Pat McDermott, first of the trio of men indicted for the slaying of Don Mellett, Canton publisher, when the case is called in common pleas court here December 6, McClintock declared today.

The prosecutor announced he will have E. L. Mills, counsel for McDermott, summoned into court today if possible, to ascertain the truth of reports that Mills plans to withdraw as McDermott's counsel. Such a step, if not announced soon, might result in newly appointed counsel for McDermott obtaining a postponement on the grounds they had not had sufficient time to prepare a defense.

Ben Nadel, Cleveland bootlegger, was scheduled to appear before the reconvened grand jury today, as the Mellett murder probe continued. His associate, Dan Pfaff, testified before the probers yesterday.

Included in the witnesses who were to testify today were Mrs. Don R. Mellett, widow of the publisher, and her sister-in law, Mrs. Lloyd Mellett. It was reported that several witnesses yesterday identified McDermott as the man seen hanging around in the vicinity of the Mellett home on the day before the slaying. Efforts were to be made by the prosecutor today to establish Nadel as the man seen shadowing Mellett at the Molly Stark club on the night of July 15, just prior to the killing.

D. W. DAVIS, 75, SALEM, DIES

Demarst W. Davis, 75, member of the draft board in district No. 2 of Columbiana county during the World War and a leader in the Republican party in the county, died in his home on the Salem-Damascus road, near Salem, yesterday following a several weeks' illness of heart disease. He is survived by his widow and one brother, D. L. Davis of Salem.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday afternoon, in charge of the Knight Templars. Burial will be made in the Grandview Burial Park at Salem.

DEATH ROLL

Funeral services for Mrs. Adeline McLane, lifelong resident of Columbiana county, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home, 307 Jefferson street, in charge of Rev. L. J. Davison, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church. Burial will be made in the Calcutta United Presbyterian cemetery.

Friends can view the body tonight.

TWO MORE AUTOS STOLEN HERE

Two automobiles were reported stolen here last night. One was later recovered.

William H. Frank, 513 Monroe street, left his Studebaker roadster parked on Fifth street near the Elks' club and when he returned for it the car was gone. Captain Conley located the car on Broadway where it had been abandoned.

The other machine, a 1923 Ford coupe, owned by C. H. Nickle, Hookstown, was stolen from its parking place on East Fourth street while Nickle was attending a motion picture show. It carried Pennsylvania license C-2924.

ST. ANDREW'S DAY SERVICES

St. Andrew's Day, which is being observed today by Episcopal churches throughout the United States, will be marked by two services by the St. Stephen's Episcopal church. Russell Caulk, rector, will be in charge.

Annexation O. K.

Chairman Conrad Berg joined with Kelly and Bye in supporting it upon roll call by Clerk L. H. Johnson.

The city council has already appropriated $25,000 from the water works fund for the extension of water mains to the new territory and another $25,000 is available should it be needed. Pipe for the work has been ordered and the improvement will be started early in the spring. In addition to city water service, residents of the territory will receive fire and police protection and street lights. The city probably will employ a motorcycle policeman to patrol suburban territory.

No Appeal From Decision.

Opponents of annexation have no appeal from the decision of the commissioners. Township trustees opposed the move because revenue for road work will be reduced.

The new territory will add no small sum to the municipality's tax duplicate. Taxes from the new districts will not be received by the city until December, 1927, County Treasurer Jo Pike said today. The tax books which go out tomorrow are based on returns made on tax listing day which was April 11, this year.

The annexation application was one of the first acts of the planning commission after the appointment of that body had been authorized, by council upon recommendation of Mayor Benedum. The commission outlined the territory to be added to the city, their plans being approved by council, which enacted the necessary legislation.

ROTARY PLANS YULE PARTY

Crippled Children Will be Guests December 21.

Plans for the annual Christmas party which members of the Rotary club will tender crippled children on Tuesday, December 21, were discussed at today's noon luncheon at the Y. M. C. A.

A committee consisting of Dr. Frank G. Fowler, chairman; D. M. Ogilvie, Frank Campbell, Leon Rubin, J. Donald Thompson and Charles Bowman were named to make arrangements for the entertainment which will be featured at the Christmas week meeting.

About 50 members and their guests attended today's meeting. H. P. Vincent, official at the R. Thomas & Son's plant, was among the guests. The singing was led by T. E. Lewis with Mrs. Danks Cochran as accompanist.

Leon Rubin will be chairman of next week's luncheon, at which the boys' work committee's activities will be called to the club's attention. Richard Victor will be the speaker.

W. F. Bailey presided today. The speaker was Captain H. N. Wood, Youngstown representative of the Pennsylvania-Ohio Electric company, whose subject was "Public Utilities and the Community." Captain Wood declared that East Liverpool, occupying a position on the river, rich in coal deposits and other resources, was the center of a power generating district second to none in the United States. He discussed the part which public utilities, such as power, telephones, street cars and railroads, play in the growth of any community.

Harmony Breakfast Is Regular Event At White House

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—"Harmony breakfasts" at the White House with senators and representatives will become a regular institution this year the presidential spokesman declared today.

They are designed to furnish closer cooperation between the president and members of congress.

CHARGE HALL-MILLS JURORS HAVE MADE UP MINDS

HOTEL OWNER CLAIMS VOTE WILL BE 9-3

Alleges Veniremen Talk Freely of Prejudice Against State.

ADVISES JUDGE

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 30.—Sensational charges that the Hall-Mills murder trial jury already has made up its mind, that it stands nine for acquittal and three for conviction and that it has talked freely of its prejudice against the state's case, today caused a furore in Somerville and reports were circulated that Prosecutor Alexander Simpson plans to demand a mistrial.

The charges were made by Gilbert Van Doren, owner of the Colonial hotel, where the jury is quartered. Van Doren, third largest taxpayer in Somerset county, who has lived here for 56 years, wrote a letter containing these charges to county Judge Frank L. Cleary, sitting in the case with Justice Charles W. Parker.

Van Doren, 78 years old and independently wealthy, today admitted it was he who wrote to Judge Cleary complaining of the actions of the jury. He lives at the hotel.

Three for Conviction.

He was interviewed this morning in his "office" and room on the second floor of the hotel. He is a gray-haired, gray-mustached little man, ruddy faced and wrinkled.

"I'm sorry I'm dragged into this," he said, "but now that I'm in it, I'm not going to back down. I thought I could give the information to Judge Cleary without my name getting in the newspapers.

"But what I said in the letter about the jury is right. I've been staying here at the hotel all along and could see and hear what was going on.

"Three of the jurors are for conviction. I can name them. The other nine are for acquittal. He said the jurors talked the case over loudly and freely at the hotel; that they made no secret of their prejudice against the state's case even before Mrs. Jane Gibson appeared as a witness; that after she appeared, he repeatedly heard her referred to as "liar," that he heard the jurors make such statements as "Simpson and his Hudson county officers have come to Somerset county to show us how to run things, but they won't get away with it."

Ready To Tell Story.

Van Doren declared he wrote to Judge Cleary because he thought it was his duty to do as a citizen who did not want a stain cast on the name of Somerset county, that he "wouldn't take the stand for $10,000," but that he will take the stand and tell what he knows if he is requested to do so.

"Why you couldn't help hearing what the jury was saying around this hotel," Van Doren said. "They leave their doors wide open. There are twenty to twenty-five roomers stopping here all the time.

"I've talked and jollied with the jurors. They have no compunction in talking with me. Why, I know eleven of the twelve jurors." I was joking with one of them the other day. I said: 'Well, soon you'll be locked up for three or four days and you'll have to pay for your own feed.' The jurors laughter and replied: 'Don't kid yourself, we won't be in there twenty minutes.' "

Van Doren was disturbed this morning because he had been drawn into the case. He said he has been under the care of a doctor and dislikes the idea of perhaps having to testify in court.

"If Simpson subpoenas me, I'll go and testify," he said. "And if he does, I'll give him the name of one of the constables in charge of the jury who sits in here and talks about the case right along."

Detectives Obtain Affidavits.

It is reported that Prosecutor Simpson plans a move for a mistrial, either today or tomorrow. If he makes such a motion, he will allege improprieties in connection with the conduct of the jury.

Simpson said today that for several days, defectives for the prosecution have been obtaining affidavits tending to show that several members of the jury have not been paying proper attention to the evidence, and that one of the jurors fell asleep during the testimony of Mrs. Jane Gibson.

When Simpson came into the court room this morning he would not discuss his plans regarding a motion for a mistrial. It was learned, however, that his assistants are actively seeking evidence regarding the jury and that one matter being investigated is a report that a Somerville minister called one of the jurors aside the other day and talked to him for five minutes.

Attorneys for the defense indicated their surprise at the turn of developments. Timothy N. Pfeiffer, of defense counsel, said that in the event of a mistrial, the defense would plead, at the opening of a new trial, that their clients "have been placed in former jeopardy," and move that the new trial be dismissed.

WOMAN, BELIEVED BURGLAR, IS SHOT

YOUNGSTOWN, Nov. 30.—Mrs. Grace Bowshier, 45, was shot and seriously wounded early today by S. J. Phillips, by whom she is employed as housekeeper, when he thought that she was a burglar.

Mrs. Bowshier had arisen earlier than was her custom and was walking about the house when Phillips was awakened and fired at her, he told police.

stupid immigration laws and have more people here? Farmers vote to keep out the sort of immigration to which this country owes everything. And then the farmers weep because they have surplus products. They will weep more if Europe organizes a boycott against the United States trade.

IF SENATOR BORAH, head of foreign relations in the senate, thinks Europe is planning a United States boycott, the Mexican situation should interest him. Luckily, American republics do not owe us any billions. It should be possible to keep friendly with them and refrain from bullying them.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Gains and losses in the industrial stocks were evenly distributed in the early trading in the stock market today. Rallies in the speculative leaders at the opening of the market were fortified behind a 5¼ per cent call loan renewal rate and a symposium on general business conditions by industrial leaders which indicated a decline in the volume of 1927 national business.

Selling ex-dividend 1¾ per cent, U. S. Steel declined to 146 against yesterday's high level of 150¾, while Baldwin at 153½ showed a loss of 6 points and General Motors sold heavily around 138. This display of weakness by the market leaders encouraged the bears to redouble their efforts for lower prices, since the path of least resistance was downward.

Hall-Mills Case

he "didn't know how you got on the stand."

Joseph A. Faurot, famous finger-print expert, was recalled when Dr. Cooper left the stand. Simpson handed him three enlargements of "S-17." Faurot pointed out to the jury the points on the card which did not appear in the huge defense enlargement."

On cross-examination Robert H. McCarter of the defense asked Faurot if it was not a fact that the "distortion" he referred to "arises from the fact that when a picture is enlarged, the rays cause a certain obscurity or failure of brilliancy at the outside which is not true in the centre?"

Faurot said "yes." Faurot admitted that the distortion he pointed out in the defense's exhibit was on the outside, not in center.

Fred Drewen, fingerprint expert of Jersey City, followed Faurot on the stand. Drewen also pointed out "distortions" on the defense's enlarged fingerprint pictures.

Drewen was excused from the stand and court was adjourned for luncheon.

Handwriting Expert Called.

August Hartkorn, handwriting expert and "examiner of questioned documents" was recalled to the stand at the opening of the trial. Hartkorn, a state rebuttal witness, had examined the diary of Henry Stevens' and had jestified that in his opinion three pencils were used to make notations under the date of September 14, 1922.

That the date of the double murders Henry Stevens' alibi is that he was fishing at his home in Lavallette, N. J., that night and the notations in the diary had corroborated Stevens' claim.

Before Hartkorn took the stand Prosecutor Simpson asked if he could place a dozen or so character witnesses on the stand before Hartkorn continued his testimony. He said these witnesses were from out of town and wanted to get away as soon as possible.

The court asked if that procedure was agreeable to the defense.

"No, your honor," said Robert H. McCarter of the defense, "we want to proceed in the regular way."

Hartkorn was then called.

Testimony on Diary.

Hartkorn testified he was present when a photograph of the fingerprint on "S-17," the card found near the bodies of Rev. Hall and Mrs. Mills, was taken. The state alleges the print is that of the left index finger of Willie Stevens. Hartkorn said he found the initials "I. H. S." in the lower right hand corner of the card. He was asked if they were the initials of Edward H. Schwartz, fingerprint expert of Newark, and he replied that he didn't know.

Simpson then turned him over to McCarter for cross-examination.

McCarter handed Hartkorn, Henry Stevens' diary.

"I understand you said yesterday that the entry on September 14, 1922, reading "art 1 blue 6 lbs.," was made with another pencil? McCarter said "Yes."

"What do you base that opinion on?"

"Because it is made with a softer lead."

Hartkorn testified that in his opinion Henry's entry of the 14th was intended originally for the 15th, because of a line being drawn under it to separate the two dates. He was then excused.

Dr. Walter Madde, former mayor of Trenton, N. J., testified that he knew Mrs. Jane Gibson from 1911 to 1914. He said her reputation for veracity was "fine." Defense witnesses had testified her reputation for veracity was "bad."

Maine Victory Gives G. O. P. Margin of One In Senate

By George R. Holmes.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Election of Arthur R. Gould as Republican senator from Maine means that the Republican party will be able to organize the senate of the seventieth congress by the narrow margin of a single vote.

Actually, however, the Republican victory in Maine means very little, if anything, insofar as actual or working control of the next senate is concerned.

The line-up stands today:

Republicans—48.

Democrats—47.

Farmer-Labor—1.

Actual control, if any, rests more with the Democrats than with the Republicans, despite the figures, for included in the Republican total of 48 are fully a dozen senators who as often vote with the Democrats as against them. There are perhaps half a dozen who vote oftener against the administration than with it. This is particularly true on any legislation that by any stretch of imagination may be termed "progressive."

LaFolette and Blaine in Wisconsin, Frazier and Nye in North Dakota, Norris and Howell in Nebraska, John in California, Norbeck and McMaster in South Dakota, Borah in Idaho, Couzens in Michigan—they are empervious and contemptuous of party discipline and the party whip. They vote with the Republicans on organization matters, but on legislation they are independent.

Klan is Defeated.

AUGUSTA, Me., Nov. 30.—Maine has shaken off the cloak of the Ku Klux Klan and has assured retention of Republican control of the United States senate.

These two facts, political observers said, stood forth today as the result of the election of Arthur R. Gould, business man, of Presque Isle, a Republican, to the United States senate over Fulton J. Redman, Democrat, a lawyer, of Ellsworth, by a majority of about 50,000 votes.

First a cigar salesman, then a potato farmer, a builder of railroads, a lumberman, a pioneer in the great north country of Aroostook—Maine's vast potato belt—Gould entered politics practically unknown, except to his friends and business associates. He was repudiated by the governor of Maine, a Republican, because he and his friends were alleged to have exceeded the legal campaign expenditure allowance—a question disapproved by a state probe but yet to come before Senator Reed's campaign fund investigators. He was denounced by the K. K. K. and it was stated that the Klan had thrown its support to Redman.

But the 70-year-old millionaire in spite of his opposition swept every county in the state. It was the death-knell of the Klan as a political factor in Maine, said political experts.

LILLIAN GISH IN IDEAL ROLE

Hint Delay in Trial of Alleged Mellett Slayer.

LAWYER TO QUIT

Cleveland Men Testify at Canton Grand Jury Session.

CANTON, O., Nov. 30.—E. L. Mills, counsel for Pat McDermott, notified Judge E. W. Diehl this morning that he will not withdraw as Pat's counsel, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. This indicates there will be no change in the plans to try McDermott for first degree murder indictment next Monday.

CANTON, O., Nov. 30.—Every effort will be made by Prosecutor C. B. McClintock to prevent postponement of the trial of Pat McDermott, first of the trio of men indicted for the slaying of Don Mellett, Canton publisher, when the case is called in common pleas court here December 6, McClintock declared today.

The prosecutor announced he will have E. L. Mills, counsel for McDermott, summoned into court today if possible, to ascertain the truth of reports that Mills plans to withdraw as McDermott's counsel. Such a step, if not announced soon, might result in newly appointed counsel for McDermott obtaining a postponement on the grounds they had not had sufficient time to prepare a defense.

Ben Nadel, Cleveland bootlegger, was scheduled to appear before the reconvened grand jury today, as the Mellett murder probe continued. His associate, Dan Pfaff, testified before the probers yesterday.

Included in the witnesses who were to testify today were Mrs. Don R. Mellett, widow of the publisher, and her sister-in law, Mrs. Lloyd Mellett. It was reported that several witnesses yesterday identified McDermott as the man seen hanging around in the vicinity of the Mellett home on the day before the slaying. Efforts were to be made by the prosecutor today to establish Nadel as the man seen shadowing Mellett at the Molly Stark club on the night of July 15, just prior to the killing.

D. W. DAVIS, 75, SALEM, DIES

Demarst W. Davis, 75, member of the draft board in district No. 2 of Columbiana county during the World War and a leader in the Republican party in the county, died in his home on the Salem-Damascus road, near Salem, yesterday following a several weeks' illness of heart disease. He is survived by his widow and one brother, D. L. Davis of Salem.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday afternoon, in charge of the Knight Templars. Burial will be made in the Grandview Burial Park at Salem.

DEATH ROLL

McLane Funeral Services.

Funeral services for Mrs. Adeline McLane, lifelong resident of Columbiana county, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home, 307 Jefferson street, in charge of Rev. L. J. Davison, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church. Burial will be made in the Calcutta United Presbyterian cemetery.

Friends can view the body tonight.

TWO MORE AUTOS STOLEN HERE

Two automobiles were reported stolen here last night. One was later recovered.

William H. Frank, 513 Monroe street, left his Studebaker roadster parked on Fifth street near the Elks' club and when he returned for it the car was gone. Captain Conley located the car on Broadway where it had been abandoned.

The other machine, a 1923 Ford coupe, owned by C. H. Nickle, Hookstown, was stolen from its parking place on East Fourth street while Nickle was attending a motion picture show. It carried Pennsylvania license C-2924.

ST. ANDREW'S DAY SERVICES

St. Andrew's Day, which is being observed today by Episcopal churches throughout the United States, will be marked by two services by the St. Stephen's Episcopal church. A service was held at 10 o'clock this morning and another has been arranged for 7:30 o'clock tonight. Tonight's meeting will be especially for men, but both men and women have been invited. Rev. Russell Caulk, rector, will be in charge.

Annexation O. K.

Chairman Conrad Berg joined with Kelly and Bye in supporting it upon roll call by Clerk L. H. Johnson.

The city council has already appropriated $25,000 from the water works fund for the extension of water mains to the new territory and another $25,000 is available should it be needed. Pipe for the work has been ordered and the improvement will be started early in the spring. In addition to city water service, residents of the territory will receive fire and police protection and street lights. The city probably will employ a motorcycle policeman to patrol suburban territory.

No Appeal From Decision.

Opponents of annexation have no appeal from the decision of the commissioners. Township trustees opposed the move because revenue for road work will be reduced.

The new territory will add no small sum to the municipality's tax duplicate. Taxes from the new districts will not be received by the city until December, 1927, County Treasurer Jo Pike said today. The tax books which go out tomorrow are based on returns made on tax listing day which was April 11, this year.

The annexation application was one of the first acts of the planning commission after the appointment of that body had been authorized, by council upon recommendation of Mayor Benedum. The commission outlined the territory to be added to the city, their plans being approved by council, which enacted the necessary legislation.

ROTARY PLANS YULE PARTY

Crippled Children Will be Guests December 21.

Plans for the annual Christmas party which members of the Rotary club will tender crippled children on Tuesday, December 21, were discussed at today's noon luncheon at the Y. M. C. A.

A committee consisting of Dr. Frank G. Fowler, chairman; D. M. Ogilvie, Frank Campbell, Leon Rubin, J. Donald Thompson and Charles Bowman were named to make arrangements for the entertainment which will be featured at the Christmas week meeting.

About 50 members and their guests attended today's meeting. H. P. Vincent, official at the R. Thomas & Son's plant, was among the guests. The singing was led by T. E. Lewis with Mrs. Danks Cochran as accompanist.

Leon Rubin will be chairman of next week's luncheon, at which the boys' work committee's activities will be called to the club's attention. Richard Victor will be the speaker.

W. F. Bailey presided today. The speaker was Captain H. N. Wood, Youngstown representative of the Pennsylvania-Ohio Electric company, whose subject was "Public Utilities and the Community." Captain Wood declared that East Liverpool, occupying a position on the river, rich in coal deposits and other resources, was the center of a power generating district second to none in the United States. He discussed the part which public utilities, such as power, telephones, street cars and railroads, play in the growth of any community.

Y. M. C. A. Delegates Return From Hi-Y Meeting at Lima

More than 1,000 delegates were registered. Sessions were held in the Lima Y and in two of the city's churches. Next year's conference will be held either at Mansfield, Elyria or Youngstown, all three cities having extended invitations.

They are designed to furnish closer cooperation between the president and members of congress.

$500,000,000. There remains to be allotted approximately 118,500 Indians with unallotted lands of about 35,000,000 acres valued at $69,500,000. Eighty-five per cent of the Indians of the Five Civilized Tribes are no longer under the jurisdiction of the Indian Bureau, and about 30,000 others have received patents in fee and are free to dispose of their lands as they see fit. Thus practically one-third of the Indians of the United States are no longer wards of the government.

Interior Department Report.

Such are some of the figures from an Interior Department report or document just issued by way of answer to current misinformation and misrepresentation about the American Indian and the administration of his affairs by the government. This publication affords interesting reading to sentimentalists who have been prone to commiserate with "Lo, the poor Indian" without being sure of their reasons for so doing, for it tells the authentic and revealing story of how Uncle Sam has handled the Indian problem since the Indian Bureau was created in 1824 as a division of the War Department, to be transferred a quarter of a century later to the Department of the Interior when that department was established.

There are now on the statute books about 370 Indian treaties and 2,000 laws relating to Indian affairs. The first treaty between the United States and an Indian tribe was made with the Delaware Indians on September 17, 1778. No treaties have been made with Indian tribes since the passage by congress of the act of March 3, 1871, which was based on the theory that the federal government can not recognize an independent nation or sovereignty existing within the boundaries of its own territory.

The question of citizenship of Indians was long a vexed one. Indians allotted under the General Allotment Act of 1887 became citizens of the United States, but there have been a number of other acts on this subject, culminating in that of 1919, which provided that Indian soldiers and sailors who served in the World war could be granted citizenship by courts of competent jurisdiction, and that of 1924 which declared all Indians born within the territorial limits of the United States to be citizens, provided that the granting of such citizenship should not impair or affect the right of any Indian to tribal or other property. Prior to the passage of this last act about two-thirds of the Indians were citizens.

The total Indian property of all kinds in the United States is now valued at more than $1,500,000,000. There are approximately 40,000 Indian families living in permanent homes, it is stated, and nearly 10,000 families still living in tents, teepees and wickiups.

Perhaps no phase of the story of what the government has done for the Indian is more interesting or more important than that which shows the reduction of the death rate of Indians from 32.24 per thousand in 1913 to 21.84 per thousand in 1924. The first hospital among the Indians was established in 1832 and in 1900 there were but five such hospitals. In 1925 there were 82, including sanatoria, school, agency and general hospitals, which gave medical treatment to over 27,600 Indians.

There are about 180 physicians on the reservations, 135 nurses and 40 field matrons, and in addition there are seven traveling dentists, and also eye, ear, nose and threat specialists.

What the government has done for the Indian in an educational way dates from an appropriation by the Continental Congress in 1775 of $500 for the schooling of Indian youth at Dartmouth college and has expended until now about $6,000,000 is expended annually in the instruction of 67,000 Indian children. Indian schools were among the first in the country to furnish medical and dental service and require the weighing of children at stated intervals, as well as to give each child careful physical examination with a view of taking careful preventive measures to avoid disease.

Indians made a brilliant war record during the late embroglio that almost wrecked the world. There were 10,000 of them in the army and 2,000 in the navy. Some 10,000 Indian members of the Red Cross made more than 100,000 garments and sent more than 500 Christmas boxes overseas, and in all the Indians of the country bought $25,000,000 of government bonds.

Illustrative of what Indian fighting men did may be noted the Croix de Guerre citation of Private Joseph Oklahombi, a full-blood Choctaw, which tells that he "rushed on machine gun nests, capturing 171 prisoners; stormed a strongly held position containing more than 50 machine guns and mortars; turned the captured guns on the enemy; held the position for four days in spite of constant barrage of large projectiles and gas shells, and crossed No Man's Land many times to get information concerning the enemy and to assist his wounded comrades."

One phase of the Indian problem is still serious—keeping fire-water away from them. Despite federal prohibition of all liquor traffic it is still necessary for congress to appropriate $22,000 to suppress the traffic among the Indians yearly. That, however, is far less proportionately than its costs to "suppress" the traffic among the whites of the country.

Indians allotted under the General Allotment Act of 1887 became citizens of the United States, but there have been a number of other acts on this subject, culminating in that of 1919, which provided that Indian soldiers and sailors who served in the World war could be granted citizenship by courts of competent jurisdiction, and that of 1924 which declared all Indians born within the territorial limits of the United States to be citizens, provided that the granting of such citizenship should not impair or affect the right of any Indian to tribal or other property. Prior to the passage of this last act about two-thirds of the Indians were citizens.

The total Indian property of all kinds in the United States is now valued at more than $1,500,000,000. There are approximately 40,000 Indian families living in permanent homes, it is stated, and nearly 10,000 families still living in tents, teepees and wickiups.

Perhaps no phase of the story of what the government has done for the Indian is more interesting or more important than that which shows the reduction of the death rate of Indians from 32.24 per thousand in 1913 to 21.84 per thousand in 1924. The first hospital among the Indians was established in 1832 and in 1900 there were but five such hospitals. In 1925 there were 82, including sanatoria, school, agency and general hospitals, which gave medical treatment to over 27,600 Indians.

There are about 180 physicians on the reservations, 135 nurses and 40 field matrons, and in addition there are seven traveling dentists, and also eye, ear, nose and threat specialists.

What the government has done for the Indian in an educational way dates from an appropriation by the Continental Congress in 1775 of $500 for the schooling of Indian youth at Dartmouth college and has expended until now about $6,000,000 is expended annually in the instruction of 67,000 Indian children. Indian schools were among the first in the country to furnish medical and dental service and require the weighing of children at stated intervals, as well as to give each child careful physical examination with a view of taking careful preventive measures to avoid disease.

Indians made a brilliant war record during the late embroglio that almost wrecked the world. There were 10,000 of them in the army and 2,000 in the navy. Some 10,000 Indian members of the Red Cross made more than 100,000 garments and sent more than 500 Christmas boxes overseas, and in all the Indians of the country bought $25,000,000 of government bonds.

Illustrative of what Indian fighting men did may be noted the Croix de Guerre citation of Private Joseph Oklahombi, a full-blood Choctaw, which tells that he "rushed on machine gun nests, capturing 171 prisoners; stormed a strongly held position containing more than 50 machine guns and mortars; turned the captured guns on the enemy; held the position for four days in spite of constant barrage of large projectiles and gas shells, and crossed No Man's Land many times to get information concerning the enemy and to assist his wounded comrades."

One phase of the Indian problem is still serious—keeping fire-water away from them. Despite federal prohibition of all liquor traffic it is still necessary for congress to appropriate $22,000 to suppress the traffic among the Indians yearly. That, however, is far less proportionately than its costs to "suppress" the traffic among the whites of the country.

BUT—HE "FELT NO BETTER FOR THAT"

A man from Nebraska tel's this: "For three nights I was kept awake by a bothersome persistent cough, and so were others of the family; and I felt no better for that. The very first doses of Foley's Honey and Tar relieved me and in two days' time my cough was entirely gone." Think of the saving of distress to himself and others, had he taken Foley's Honey and Tar Compound at the start. It pays to keep it on hand. The large family size is a real economical buy. YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

Hurry, Mother! Remove poisons from little stomach, liver, bowels

Give "California Fig Syrup" if cross, bilious or feverish

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that the little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup." and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless, "fruity laxative" because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup;" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

Hurry, Mother! Remove poisons from little stomach, liver, bowels

Give "California Fig Syrup" if cross, bilious or feverish

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that the little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless, "fruity laxative" because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup;" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

Hurry, Mother! Remove poisons from little stomach, liver, bowels

Give "California Fig Syrup" if cross, bilious or feverish

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that the little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless, "fruity laxative" because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup;" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

COLOR, CHARM IN ROSE-MARIE

Hammerstein Success Comes to Ceramic on December 7.

There is an abundance of color, charm, sensational dancing and delightful melody with a background of a real plot in "Rose-Marie" that most spectacular of all musical plays that Arthur Hammerstein is sending to the Ceramic theatre for one day only, Tuesday, December 7.

"Rose-Marie" claims to have all the elements which go to make up the best in musical comedy in rather generous proportions. The costumes are designed with a rare sense of graceful lines and color impressions; any number of graceful girls and clever dances appear in any number of ensembles; the scenic treatment is beautiful to the eye while the comedy and amazing dancing is eagerly approved by the audience.

"Rose-Marie" depends on no one thing to entertain an audience for it has comedy, farce, melodrama and extravaganza all so closely woven together that there is never a moment when the play drags; it is all kaildeoscopic action. Tell me, if you can, where you have found this before?

Roudolf Friml and Herbert Stothart have written many glorious scores before but there is real inspiration in "The Indian Love Call," "Rose Marie," the song of "The Mounties," "The Door of My Dreams" and the other numbers that we too soldom hear in the modern theatre, but the overwhelming patronage that has attended "Rose-Marie" shows that there is a vast patronage thirsting for something in the theatre other than medicore airs and the jazz variety.

Arthur, like his illustrious father, Oscar Hammerstein, gets his inspiration from music and contends that music should be sung properly and understandingly to inspire, in turn, the audience—that is why he has chosen the best from the five "Rose-Maries" of last season." In the cast is Ethel Louise Wright, Paul Donah, Grace Wells, Charles Meakins, Peggy Pates, Houston Richards, Frank Harrington, Karyl Kunkel, James Moore, Neil Moore and over ninety others including a symphony orchestra.

FOR Sour Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Hereafter instead of soda take a little "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Some of the 46 Tom Tom Girls in the sensational musical comedy "Rose Marie" at the Ceramic theatre, Tuesday, December 7.

COLOR, CHARM IN ROSE-MARIE

Hammerstein Success Comes to Ceramic on December 7.

There is an abundance of color, charm, sensational dancing and delightful melody with a background of a real plot in "Rose-Marie" that most spectacular of all musical plays that Arthur Hammerstein is sending to the Ceramic theatre for one day only, Tuesday, December 7.

"Rose-Marie" claims to have all the elements which go to make up the best in musical comedy in rather generous proportions. The costumes are designed with a rare sense of graceful lines and color impressions; any number of graceful girls and clever dances appear in any number of ensembles; the scenic treatment is beautiful to the eye while the comedy and amazing dancing is eagerly approved by the audience.

"Rose-Marie" depends on no one thing to entertain an audience for it has comedy, farce, melodrama and extravaganza all so closely woven together that there is never a moment when the play drags; it is all kaildeoscopic action. Tell me, if you can, where you have found this before?

Roudolf Friml and Herbert Stothart have written many glorious scores before but there is real inspiration in "The Indian Love Call," "Rose Marie," the song of "The Mounties," "The Door of My Dreams" and the other numbers that we too soldom hear in the modern theatre, but the overwhelming patronage that has attended "Rose-Marie" shows that there is a vast patronage thirsting for something in the theatre other than medicore airs and the jazz variety.

Arthur, like his illustrious father, Oscar Hammerstein, gets his inspiration from music and contends that music should be sung properly and understandingly to inspire, in turn, the audience—that is why he has chosen the best from the five "Rose-Maries" of last season." In the cast is Ethel Louise Wright, Paul Donah, Grace Wells, Charles Meakins, Peggy Pates, Houston Richards, Frank Harrington, Karyl Kunkel, James Moore, Neil Moore and over ninety others including a symphony orchestra.

ALL-AMERICAN GRID CANDIDATES

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

For the third year in succession the powerful eleven of Alabama University is sitting on top of the southern football world. And "Red" Brown, wild running, triple-threat fullback of the Alabama team, has been one of the outstanding members of the team.

Brown helped his team run up a total of 209 points against the opposition for the season—which included Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech, Sewanee, Louisiana State, Miss. A. M., Kentucky and Florida. And he played an important part in the defensive play of the team, which held its opponents to two touchdowns for the year. Vanderbilt and the Mississippi A. and M. team each crossed Alabama's goal line once.

Boeringer, center of Knute Rockne's powerful Notre Dame eleven, makes a bid for All-American honors, following in the footsteps of Adam Walsh of '24 and other great ball passers the South Bend team has had.

Boeringer is not only a powerful offensive man but has uncanny ability in breaking through the opposing line to "mess up" plays before the opposing backfield gets well under way.

College Reformers Would Ban Barbaric Yells at Grid Games

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 30.—A movement has been started by the Butler Collegian, the daily student paper at Butler college here to take the blood and thunder out of college rooting.

"Blood must Cease to Flow!" was the title of an editorial appearing in the Collegian. It required whether it was befitting for intelligent and civilized young Americans to wildly demand that their team render its opponents limb from limb.

The editorial follows:

"What would a football game be without organized cheering? Pepless, dry, and certainly most uninteresting. Many followers of the great American game proclaim that cheering is one of the chief factors that make college football and other athletic contests much more peppy than any professional game could ever hope to be.

"At the same time we surely should use some discretion when choosing our yells. Is "Jerk a leg off, jerk an arm off, rah, rah, rah," an appropriate yell for a school that is composed of supposedly highly intellectual eds and co-eds? Hardly. It sounds more like a yell that barbarians, uncivilized humans, living in the wilderness would give.

"Let us hope that in the future the cheering section of Butler will root for the team with as much vim and vigor as in the past, but with some thought as to their utterances."

Through a newspaper advertisement a man at Geneva, Switzerland, has learned that he is heir to $350,000, left by his uncle in a bank sixty years ago.

BISONS LOSE STAR QUARTET

Carey, Neel, Kinsey and Shives Play Last Game.

BETHANY, W. Va., Nov. 30.—It was a fighting Bethany college football team which was forced to bow to the Geneva college Covenanters last Saturday at Beaver Falls. Going into the game minus the services of two regular men, and with mud a foot thick facing them, the Green and While gridders, with the Tri-State conference championship at stake, were defeated, 20-0. However, those closely observing the innerworks of the Bison backfield, could easily see that Geneva got all the breaks, especially those which were responsible for the first two touchdowns, as the Bethany machine worked wonders after the first quarter.

At the end of the first half, Bethany had made 13 first downs to four for Geneva, proving that the West Virginians outplayed their Pennsylvania rivals during the second quarter. The game marked the last one for Captain Carey, Hump Neel, Earl Kinsey and Chauncey Shives, all of whom will leave lasting impressions as football heroes on the books of Bethany college gridiron history.

Around Carl Hamill, Dale Fiers, and Bobby Stobbs in the backfield, and Gilgen, Price, Fickley, Hagberg, Burwell, Griffith and Tinson in the line, Coach Nuss will build his 1927 eleven. Jack Hamill, Wheeling boy and brother of Carl, was lost to this year's team just prior to the opening contest, and from him too, big things are looked for next fall.

After two weeks' rest, the Bethany athletes will turn to basketball, in which sport Coach Nuss is looking forward to a great season. Captain Beckwith, Carey, Hanna, Tinson, Ryan, Neel, Hamill, Jaycox, and Segiel are left from last year's varsity and with the addition of several new men, the season should undoubtedly be successful.

By Davis J. Walsh.
(Copyright, 1926, by International News Service).

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Capitulating to the annual impulse, the writer today has selected an All-American football team for the season of 1926, and, in all due modesty, he cannot resist the conviction that it is truly representative of all the virtues and few, if any, foibles of our modern eleven.

Forward passing, in spite of legislative efforts to the contrary, was the soul of all versatile attacks this year. The team has the two greatest of the day and age, Winslett, of Alabama, and Friedman, of Michigan.

Pass catchers? Hanson, of Syracuse, is a genius, the equal of Oosterbaan, of Michigan, in this department and his superior in all others, while Friedman, Harry Wilson, of the Army, and Kaer, of Southern California, are almost equally adept.

Open field runners? They don't often come as good as Wilson and Kaer. Line cracking? Joesting, that's all. Generalship? Benny, where art thou?

Don't Need Punter.

It would be difficult to believe that such an attack could be detained even temporarily but if that remote supposition became finite, either Friedman or Wilson could and would oblige with a field goal. They also would be available for the point after touchdown, which reached the maximum of its importance this year. There is no outstanding punter on this team, but if you think the boys would need one, that's your mistake, not mine.

As for the defense, that well may be left in the capable hands of such as Boeringer, the roving center; Friedman, the star safety man; Joesting, a fine man behind the line, and the two tackling ends, Hanson and Winslett.

The latter are the most versatile pair of wings football has known since Brick Mueller's day. They, therefore, got the nomination over Shipkey, Broda, Oosterbaan, Hubbard, Bacchus, Lindenmeyer, Missouri, and Wheeler, Minnesota, everything else being equal. As far as the writer was concerned, Oosterbaan's bland indifference in the Navy game ruined his prospects.

Tackles are Good.

Wickhorst was a fine offensive and defense tackle all season and his single lapse in the Army game was to be expected since none of us are 100 per cent. Stiner just about carried the Nebraska team and it was quite an outfit, at that. Yoder was little, if any, behind either of the first two and Dixon and Cothran, of Lafayette, were unusually good. Cothran, however, was banished from the squad for his final game and so gives place to the next best who happen to be Kivorkian and Raskowski. It was a question, and still is, as to whether either man has anything on Sprague, of the Army; Lassman, of N. Y. U.; Nelson, of Iowa; Johnson, of Northwestern; Mancat, of Colgate; Pickhart, of Alabama; Eddy, of the Navy, or several others of equal rank.

The guards were extremely difficult of selection, once one progressed beyond Smith, who was the most efficient workman the position has known in several seasons. Hess, of Ohio State, was a hot choice last year but those who saw both in action declare Shively to be the better man. Connaughton attracted great attention because of his size and speed. He tore the Navy apart but some of his late games were not so impressive. Sturhahn, of Yale, played magnificently with a losing team; Mayer was consistently good and so was Swan. Lovette, Michigan; Taylor, Southern California, and Carey, Cornell, were also among the outstanding candidates.

Backs Plentiful.

Boeringer was the centre of the year with no rival very close. The nearest approach was effected by Cravath with Butler in third position, although Reitsch, of Illinois, depreciated the latter's standing considerably Daly, of the Army, was good but didn't carry the matter to extremes. Bettencourt, St. Mary's, and Craine, Marquette, were well beyond the average, too.

There can be little argument on the first team backfield but plenty on those of the second and third teams. Men like Weston, Boston College; Flanagan, Notre Dame; Wilcox, Purdue; Hyland, Stanford; Kirkleskie, Lafayette; Murrell and Cagle, Army; Hamilton, Navy; Kutsch, Iowa; Morton, Georgia; Slagle, Princeton; Lewis, Northwestern; Brown, Alabama, and Daugherty, Illinois, among others, were so efficient that it seems like cruelty to undergraduates to leave them unmentioned. Slagle was one of the great backs of the country for a comparative few minutes this season. But that was all he played during the campaign and one tenor voice never made a quartet.

A Pennsylvania mother speaks first: "I know the worth of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. We used it for years, and it never failed us. For croupy children, feverish colds, disturbing night coughs, it gives us a feeling of security to have Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in the house." No opiates, no chloroform, made under rigid sanitary control, Foley's Honey and Tar Compound carries a strong appeal to thoughful mothers everywhere. Ask for it. Sold everywhere.

I've got a half-nelson on jimmy-pipe joy

I TOOK P. A. for better or worse . . . and found it better! Better than anything I had ever smoked. That's my story and I'm going to stick to it. When siren-brands try to flirt, I just give them the icy stare. I know what I like in a pipe, and what I like is Prince Albert!

The instant you break the seal on the tidy red tin and get that wonderful fragrance of real tobacco, you know you are in for a pipe-treat. Your mouth fairly waters for a taste of tobacco that smells as good as that. Then you load up and light up—ah! . . .

Cool. Sweet. Fragrant. Old words, I'll admit, but you get a brand-new idea of how much they can mean in a pipe-bowl packed with P. A. Maybe you've always thought such pipe-pleasure was "just around the corner." Try a load of Prince Albert and turn that corner!

Get a half-nelson on the pipe-joy that's due you. Before you do another thing, buy a tin of Prince Albert and tuck a neat wad into your pipe. Notice how mild it is, yet how delightfully full-bodied. Here's a smoke that you can pal around with, morning to midnight.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

ALL-AMERICAN GRID CANDIDATES

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

For the third year in succession the powerful eleven of Alabama University is sitting on top of the southern football world. And "Red" Brown, wild running, triple-threat fullback of the Alabama team, has been one of the outstanding members of the team.

Brown helped his team run up a total of 209 points against the opposition for the season—which included Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech, Sewanee, Louisiana State, Miss. A. M., Kentucky and Florida. And he played an important part in the defensive play of the team, which held its opponents to two touchdowns for the year. Vanderbilt and the Mississippi A. and M. team each crossed Alabama's goal line once.

Boeringer, center of Knute Rockne's powerful Notre Dame eleven, makes a bid for All-American honors, following in the footsteps of Adam Walsh of '24 and other great ball passers the South Bend team has had.

Boeringer is not only a powerful offensive man but has uncanny ability in breaking through the opposing line to "mess up" plays before the opposing backfield gets well under way.

College Reformers Would Ban Barbaric Yells at Grid Games

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 30.—A movement has been started by the Butler Collegian, the daily student paper at Butler college here to take the blood and thunder out of college rooting.

"Blood must Cease to Flow!" was the title of an editorial appearing in the Collegian. It required whether it was befitting for intelligent and civilized young Americans to wildly demand that their team render its opponents limb from limb.

The editorial follows:

"What would a football game be without organized cheering? Pepless, dry, and certainly most uninteresting. Many followers of the great American game proclaim that cheering is one of the chief factors that make college football and other athletic contests much more peppy than any professional game could ever hope to be.

"At the same time we surely should use some discretion when choosing our yells. Is "Jerk a leg off, jerk an arm off, rah, rah, rah," an appropriate yell for a school that is composed of supposedly highly intellectual eds and co-eds? Hardly. It sounds more like a yell that barbarians, uncivilized humans, living in the wilderness would give.

"Let us hope that in the future the cheering section of Butler will root for the team with as much vim and vigor as in the past, but with some thought as to their utterances."

BISONS LOSE STAR QUARTET

Carey, Neel, Kinsey and Shives Play Last Game.

BETHANY, W. Va., Nov. 30.—It was a fighting Bethany college football team which was forced to bow to the Geneva college Covenanters last Saturday at Beaver Falls. Going into the game minus the services of two regular men, and with mud a foot thick facing them, the Green and White gridders, with the Tri-State conference championship at stake, were defeated, 20-0. However, those closely observing the innerworks of the Bison backfield, could easily see that Geneva got all the breaks, especially those which were responsible for the first two touchdowns, as the Bethany machine worked wonders after the first quarter.

At the end of the first half, Bethany had made 13 first downs to four for Geneva, proving that the West Virginians outplayed their Pennsylvania rivals during the second quarter. The game marked the last one for Captain Carey, Hump Neel, Earl Kinsey and Chauncey Shives, all of whom will leave lasting impressions as football heroes on the books of Bethany college gridiron history.

Around Carl Hamill, Dale Fiers, and Bobby Stobbs in the backfield, and Gilgen, Price, Fickley, Hagberg, Burwell, Griffith and Tinson in the line, Coach Nuss will build his 1927 eleven. Jack Hamill, Wheeling boy and brother of Carl, was lost to this year's team just prior to the opening contest, and from him too, big things are looked for next fall.

After two weeks' rest, the Bethany athletes will turn to basketball, in which sport Coach Nuss is looking forward to a great season. Captain Beckwith, Carey, Hanna, Tinson, Ryan, Neel, Hamill, Jaycox, and Segiel are left from last year's varsity and with the addition of several new men, the season should undoubtedly be successful.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Capitulating to the annual impulse, the writer today has selected an All-American football team for the season of 1926, and, in all due modesty, he cannot resist the conviction that it is truly representative of all the virtues and few, if any, foibles of our modern eleven.

Forward passing, in spite of legislative efforts to the contrary, was the soul of all versatile attacks this year. The team has the two greatest of the day and age, Winslett, of Alabama, and Friedman, of Michigan.

Pass catchers? Hanson, of Syracuse, is a genius, the equal of Oosterbaan, of Michigan, in this department and his superior in all others, while Friedman, Harry Wilson, of the Army, and Kaer, of Southern California, are almost equally adept.

Open field runners? They don't often come as good as Wilson and Kaer. Line cracking? Joesting, that's all. Generalship? Benny, where art thou?

Don't Need Punter.

It would be difficult to believe that such an attack could be detained even temporarily but if that remote supposition became finite, either Friedman or Wilson could and would oblige with a field goal. They also would be available for the point after touchdown, which reached the maximum of its importance this year. There is no outstanding punter on this team, but if you think the boys would need one, that's your mistake, not mine.

As for the defense, that well may be left in the capable hands of such as Boeringer, the roving center; Friedman, the star safety man; Joesting, a fine man behind the line, and the two tackling ends, Hanson and Winslett.

The latter are the most versatile pair of wings football has known since Brick Mueller's day. They, therefore, got the nomination over Shipkey, Broda, Oosterbaan, Hubbard, Bacchus, Lindenmeyer, Missouri, and Wheeler, Minnesota, everything else being equal. As far as the writer was concerned, Oosterbaan's bland indifference in the Navy game ruined his prospects.

Wickhorst was a fine offensive and defense tackle all season and his single lapse in the Army game was to be expected since none of us are 100 per cent. Stiner just about carried the Nebraska team and it was quite an outfit, at that. Yoder was little, if any, behind either of the first two and Dixon and Cothran, of Lafayette, were unusually good. Cothran, however, was banished from the squad for his final game and so gives place to the next best who happen to be Kivorkian and Raskowski. It was a question, and still is, as to whether either man has anything on Sprague, of the Army; Lassman, of N. Y. U.; Nelson, of Iowa; Johnson, of Northwestern; Mancat, of Colgate; Pickharl, of Alabama; Eddy, of the Navy, or several others of equal rank.

The guards were extremely difficult of selection, once one progressed beyond Smith, who was the most efficient workman the position has known in several seasons. Hess, of Ohio State, was a hot choice last year but those who saw both in action declare Shively to be the better man. Connaughton attracted great attention because of his size and speed. He tore the Navy apart but some of his late games were not so impressive. Sturhahn, of Yale, played magnificently with a losing team; Mayer was consistently good and so was Swan. Lovette, Michigan; Taylor, Southern California, and Carey, Cornell, were also among the outstanding candidates.

Backs Plentiful.

Boeringer was the centre of the year with no rival very close. The nearest approach was effected by Cravath with Butler in third position, although Reitsch, of Illinois, depreciated the latter's standing considerably Daly, of the Army, was good but didn't carry the matter to extremes. Bettencourt, St. Mary's, and Craine, Marquette, were well beyond the average, too.

There can be little argument on the first team backfield but plenty on those of the second and third teams. Men like Weston, Boston College; Flanagan, Notre Dame; Wilcox, Purdue; Hyland, Stanford; Kirkleskie, Lafayette; Murrell and Cagle, Army; Hamilton, Navy; Kutsch, Iowa; Morton, Georgia; Slagle, Princeton; Lewis, Northwestern; Brown, Alabama, and Daugherty, Illinois, among others, were so efficient that it seems like cruelty to undergraduates to leave them unmentioned. Slagle was one of the great backs of the country for a comparative few minutes this season. But that was all he played during the campaign and one terror voice never made a quartet.

M'ALLISTER NEXT PILOT?

Mentioned as Possible Successor to Speaker.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 30.—If public sentiment, dope and all the other elements which habitually attend a baseball discussion have anything to do with the decision, Jack McAllister, of Marietta, assistant manager of the Cleveland Indians will succeed Tris Speaker, who resigned yesterday.

The hot stove boys were disseminating hot tips here today that "Happy" Jack, scout, coach and assistant manager for 12 years, would step into the versatile shoes of the famous Texan who has decided to "enter trade."

"It will take considerable thought and will be no easy task to fill the job," declared E. S. Barnard, president of the club here today.

Eddie Collins, and George Burns have been mentioned in connection with the berth.

SHORT TALKS BY THOUGHTFUL MOTHERS

A Pennsylvania mother speaks first: "I know the worth of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. We used it for years, and it never failed us. For croupy children, feverish colds, disturbing night coughs, it gives us a feeling of security to have Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in the house." No opiates, no chloroform, made under rigid sanitary control, Foley's Honey and Tar Compound carries a strong appeal to thoughful mothers everywhere. Ask for it. Sold everywhere.

I've got a half-nelson on jimmy-pipe joy

I TOOK P. A. for better or worse . . . and found it better! Better than anything I had ever smoked. That's my story and I'm going to stick to it. When siren-brands try to flirt, I just give them the icy stare. I know what I like in a pipe, and what I like is Prince Albert!

The instant you break the seal on the tidy red tin and get that wonderful fragrance of real tobacco, you know you are in for a pipe-treat. Your mouth fairly waters for a taste of tobacco that smells as good as that. Then you load up and light up—ah! . . .

Cool. Sweet. Fragrant. Old words, I'll admit, but you get a brand-new idea of how much they can mean in a pipe-bowl packed with P. A. Maybe you've always thought such pipe-pleasure was "just around the corner." Try a load of Prince Albert and turn that corner!

Get a half-nelson on the pipe-joy that's due you. Before you do another thing, buy a tin of Prince Albert and tuck a neat wad into your pipe. Notice how mild it is, yet how delightfully full-bodied. Here's a smoke that you can pal around with, morning to midnight.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT

Muskingum Objects To 'Set-Up' Claims

Conference Champs Assert They Didn't Pick on All The Easy Ones; Played With Kenyon, Heidelberg and Denison, Teams Which Beat Them Previous Year.

By Stanley D. Koch.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 30.—With the last dying embers of the 1926 Ohio conference football season turning into drab ashes, there only remains the eulogy.

Muskingum won the title, with an undefeated record. But there are those dismayed adherents of other lost causes who will point to the record of the Muskies and claim that all their opponents were weak. It is true that the Magenta didn't hook up with Oberlin, Wooster, Mt. Union, Ohio Wesleyan, Wittenberg or Ohio university.

But they did play Kenyon, who had defeated them, 27-0, the year before; Denison, who won 12-0, and Heidelberg who held a 14-7 victory from 1925. Therefore, as far as Coach Lang's eleven is concerned, its schedule included three opponents before whom the Muskingum team had fallen in the previous year. And over all three, the Muskies triumphed. This hardly serves to indicate that the New Concord outfit went out after easy games only.

Oberlin's staggering defeat at the hands of Miami revealed the first lose by the Bicyclists since 1923. Some of the best Oberlin alibi artists have concluded that the off-week prior to the Miami game did its work and strenuous efforts are being made to have no off-weeks in the 1927 schedule. Of course, the Congregationalists redeemed themselves, when a week later they upset the hitherto undefeated Wooster Juggernaut and removed its jugger to a 6-0 tune. That game was like almost every other hard game for the Red and Gold. One little break, one score and the Oberlin defense tightened to a point of impenetrability. Oberlin had a great eleven again this year.

Wooster, apparently unbeatable, bumped into catastrophe in the Oberlin game and wasn't able to resuscitate itself on time to avert a second disaster at the hands of the up-and doing Mt. Unionists. The Purple came down like the wolves on the fold and kept the Woosterites on the run all the time. That victory, the first for Mt. Union since time immemorial, was a glowing tribute to Coach Johnny Thorpe, who with medicore material, except Captain Lamar Armstrong, developed a neat eleven.

On the other hand, Ohio Wesleyan was a disappointment. The battling Bishops dropped a bad game to Wooster, were tied by Ohio and barely nosed out Wittenberg and Western Reserve. The last three games were thrillers for Wittenberg. The first was lost by one point to Wesleyan, then Cincinnati was defeated by a two point margin and Ohio by a 7-6 score.

As for the Ohio eleven, the boys from Athens were strong except at both ends of the schedule. Akron defeated the Green nad White, 20, in the first conference game, and Wittenberg won the 7-6 game as the finale. All the others, except or including the 0-0 tie with Wesleyan went on the right side of the ledger.

One of the biggest tragedies of the race was the miserable failure of the Western Reserve team, heralded as being the best of the league under the tutelage of Gordon L. Locke, the pioneer mentor found fraternity politics, time-worn conventions and a general apathetic condition preventing Reserve from gaining its real stride. He had no forward passer and the backs seemingly would provide interference for a few of their mates but not for others.

While zealously fighting a blaze, the volunteer fire department of Bulkington, England, drained the village pond and left the fish floundering in the mude.

Set High Marks in Beating Smith News Five.

Smith News and Chryslers set a few league marks for the rest of the crowd to shoot at in their duckpin battle last night at the Liberty alleys. The Smith News gang shot a total score of 1,934, which was good, but not good enough to stand up with the 2,117 score registered by the Chryslers. The auto outfit took all three games.

As a result of the exhibition, the Chryslers now hold the league record for high three-game series—2,117; high single game—747, and Welch tops the loop with high single game performance of 218. These figures, along with Johnny Green's 563 for three-game series, will keep the league marksmen busy for a while.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions.
"Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

When the clubhead is started away from the ball with the hands the clubhead will trail behind the hands just slightly, until the weight of the clubhead gets into motion, at which time it immediately catches up with the hands. Then it should stay largely even with the hands all the way back, and it will if you continue to propel it with the hands and arms. When the hands cease to direct the clubhead and the body steps in and seeks to do it, you readily accumulate a feeling of tightness and rigidity about the arms and shoulders, which is bad for the golf swing. This happens because the body, seeking to shove the club back, causes the arms and hands to cease all efforts with the club so that they hang lifeless and having nothing else to do they become stiff and rigid.

As for the Ohio eleven, the boys from Athens were strong except at both ends of the schedule. Akron defeated the Green nad White, 20, in the first conference game, and Wittenberg won the 7-6 game as the finale. All the others, except or including the 0-0 tie with Wesleyan went on the right side of the ledger.

One of the biggest tragedies of the race was the miserable failure of the Western Reserve team, heralded as being the best of the league under the tutelage of Gordon L. Locke, the pioneer mentor found fraternity politics, time-worn conventions and a general apathetic condition preventing Reserve from gaining its real stride. He had no forward passer and the backs seemingly would provide interference for a few of their mates but not for others.

While zealously fighting a blaze, the volunteer fire department of Bulkington, England, drained the village pond and left the fish floundering in the mude.

CHRYSLER PIN SQUAD IN FORM

Set High Marks in Beating Smith News Five.

Smith News and Chryslers set a few league marks for the rest of the crowd to shoot at in their duckpin battle last night at the Liberty alleys. The Smith News gang shot a total score of 1,934, which was good, but not good enough to stand up with the 2,117 score registered by the Chryslers. The auto outfit took all three games.

As a result of the exhibition, the Chryslers now hold the league record for high three-game series—2,117; high single game—747, and Welch tops the loop with high single game performance of 218. These figures, along with Johnny Green's 563 for three-game series, will keep the league marksmen busy for a while.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions.
"Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

When the clubhead is started away from the ball with the hands the clubhead will trail behind the hands just slightly, until the weight of the clubhead gets into motion, at which time it immediately catches up with the hands. Then it should stay largely even with the hands all the way back, and it will if you continue to propel it with the hands and arms. When the hands cease to direct the clubhead and the body steps in and seeks to do it, you readily accumulate a feeling of tightness and rigidity about the arms and shoulders, which is bad for the golf swing. This happens because the body, seeking to shove the club back, causes the arms and hands to cease all efforts with the club so that they hang lifeless and having nothing else to do they become stiff and rigid.

Write Your Name In Book of Life, Urges Dr. O. A. Newlin

First United Presbyterian Church Evangelist Calls for Genuine Repentance in Sermon, "Source of Permanent Joy."

"Unless your name is written in the Book of Life as the result of genuine repentance of your sins you will not mingle with the redeemed that have gone on before," declared Rev. O. A. Newlin, Winona Lake, Ind., evangelist at the First United Presbyterian revival last evening. His subject was "The Source of Permanent Joy."

Despite the inclement night a good-sized audience was in attendance. The invocation was made by Dr. F. A. Dean, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, and the benediction was given by Rev. E. E. Lashley, pastor of the Newell Presbyterian church. In attendance also was Dr. Frank Fowler, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

The song service, before and after the discourse of the visiting minister, was in charge of Prof. John C. Ussher, of Emsworth, Pa.

Rev. Mr. Newlin, commenting as he read the Scripture lesson anent the storm that buffeted Christ and his disciples as they crossed the sea of Tiberias remarked the striking detail of Mark's narrative of the incident as compared to Luke and Mathew's version of it. "All save four of the chapters of Mark begin with the word 'And,'" he said. "He was particularly given to the use of the word straightway.' He gives the information that 'other little ships' accompanied that in which Jesus rode. And these as the storm was stilled were likewise saved from dangers. So we in our perplexities are not the only ones in like dilemmas. As they we frequently benefit from good that come to those about. So prayer frequently, though unheard by us, contributes to our good."

The subject of Rev. Mr. Newlin's discourse at tonight's service will be: "The Pearl of Parables."

That God uses a book in which are written the names of those who repent of their sins and thus turn to Him was affirmed by the evangelist to be a basic truisim of the Holy Scripture. "Eight times in the Bible is it stated that God has and uses for purposes of enrollment such a book," he said. "Moses knew this fact when he asked God to blot his own name from the book in case it was not possible for him to forgive Israel's great sin at Mt. Sinai."

Then he pointed out that God himself attested the fact when he said. "Whosoever sinneth against me him will I blot out of the Book of Life." The idea of this sin being repented of made possible the return of the name to the book was explained.

Record of this book, it was indicated, was to be found in comments by the psalmist Daniel and minor prophets. Paul referred to it by saying "whose names are written in heaven" and John in Revelations averred "And the books were opened" and also "Whosoever was not found in the Book of Life was cast into the lake of fire."

Using Jesus' affirmation regarding the book as a text: "Rather rejoice because your names are written in heaven," he disclosed these to have been said to the seventy disciples as following a tour in which they reported even the devil was subservient to them. They should feel greater exaltation at the fact of the presence of their names in this book rather than in the success of the work they had performed.

"Even Jesus at times could not do his mighty works because of unbelief. So we too may find our success seemingly lessened for the same reason," he said. "We are too much concerned at results sometimes. We become despondent because we fail to see victory. But the Lord accomplishes his ends in various ways. Years ago there was but one convert, a little girl, in a four weeks' revival. It loomed a failure. But for 27 years now that girl, long a grown woman, has been one of the leading missionaries to India where a large section is under her direct control. The big thing to rejoice about is not what we do or have done but the fact that our names are written in the Book of Life following the repentance of our sins."

Rev. Mr. Newlin deprecated the sentiment of the song, "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder I'll Be There." "Of course you will be there," he said. But will our names be written in the Book of Like. That will be the only important thing to us. Unless, repentant of our sins, we have merited our having them there all will be lost to us as is the case of a student failing in his examination. In Lisbon your name attached to the description of certain property makes you it owner. Occasionally there are errors in human records as was the case of the blind union veteran, who feeling with his hands, found his name not on the monument erected for Pennsylvania soldiers. But the Keystone state remade the tablet with his name at the top of the list and pail his way again to Gettysburg field that he might feel out the truth. But God makes no errors in his book notations. There are not devils enough in hell to blot your name out if it is therein.

"If you have the consciousness that because of unrepeated sin your name is not in this Book of Life it is manifestly your duty to affect a reconciliation with God through repentance that will merit forgiveness and insure its being placed on its pages.

"It is fine to be a member of a church; it is and should be a comfort but there is need for a greater assurance than that which is the certainty that you have become reconciled with God, thus knowing that the move has automatically put your name in this most important book to all mankind."

FIRE INSURANCE BOOST PROPOSED

The increase in the fire insurance premiums as proposed in a memorandum, filed with W. E. White, state deputy insurance commissioner, will not amount to more than 5 per cent, if that much, Mr. White said yesterday, correcting the impression that the increase would amount to 15 per cent. The proposed increases will go into effect January 1, and will affect only such risks as business houses, stores, schools and other buildings in unprotected places and where the losses have been heaviest in the last several years.

The memorandum was filed with Mr. White by T. B. Sellers, manager of the West Virginia bureau at Columbus, O.

The new rates may be put in effect by the companies without waiting the approval of the state. The state can act only when discriminatory rates are reported and then it can hold a hearing and if the evidence warrants, it may demand a revision of the rate, taking the matter to the courts to enforce it.

Write Your Name In Book of Life, Urges Dr. O. A. Newlin

First United Presbyterian Church Evangelist Calls for Genuine Repentance in Sermon, "Source of Permanent Joy."

"Unless your name is written in the Book of Life as the result of genuine repentance of your sins you will not mingle with the redeemed that have gone on before," declared Rev. O. A. Newlin, Winona Lake, Ind., evangelist at the First United Presbyterian revival last evening. His subject was "The Source of Permanent Joy."

Despite the inclement night a good-sized audience was in attendance. The invocation was made by Dr. F. A. Dean, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, and the benediction was given by Rev. E. E. Lashley, pastor of the Newell Presbyterian church. In attendance also was Dr. Frank Fowler, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

The song service, before and after the discourse of the visiting minister, was in charge of Prof. John C. Ussher, of Emsworth, Pa.

Rev. Mr. Newlin, commenting as he read the Scripture lesson anent the storm that buffeted Christ and his disciples as they crossed the sea of Tiberias remarked the striking detail of Mark's narrative of the incident as compared to Luke and Mathew's version of it. "All save four of the chapters of Mark begin with the word 'And,'" he said. "He was particularly given to the use of the word straightway.' He gives the information that 'other little ships' accompanied that in which Jesus rode. And these as the storm was stilled were likewise saved from dangers. So we in our perplexities are not the only ones in like dilemmas. As they we frequently benefit from good that come to those about. So prayer frequently, though unheard by us, contributes to our good."

The subject of Rev. Mr. Newlin's discourse at tonight's service will be: "The Pearl of Parables."

That God uses a book in which are written the names of those who repent of their sins and thus turn to Him was affirmed by the evangelist to be a basic truisim of the Holy Scripture. "Eight times in the Bible is it stated that God has and uses for purposes of enrollment such a book," he said. "Moses knew this fact when he asked God to blot his own name from the book in case it was not possible for him to forgive Israel's great sin at Mt. Sinai."

Then he pointed out that God himself attested the fact when he said. "Whosoever sinneth against me him will I blot out of the Book of Life." The idea of this sin being repented of made possible the return of the name to the book was explained.

Record of this book, it was indicated, was to be found in comments by the psalmist Daniel and minor prophets. Paul referred to it by saying "whose names are written in heaven" and John in Revelations averred "And the books were opened" and also "Whosoever was not found in the Book of Life was cast into the lake of fire."

Using Jesus' affirmation regarding the book as a text: "Rather rejoice because your names are written in heaven," he disclosed these to have been said to the seventy disciples as following a tour in which they reported even the devil was subservient to them. They should feel greater exaltation at the fact of the presence of their names in this book rather than in the success of the work they had performed.

"Even Jesus at times could not do his mighty works because of unbelief. So we too may find our success seemingly lessened for the same reason," he said. "We are too much concerned at results sometimes. We become despondent because we fail to see victory. But the Lord accomplishes his ends in various ways. Years ago there was but one convert, a little girl, in a four weeks' revival. It loomed a failure. But for 27 years now that girl, long a grown woman, has been one of the leading missionaries to India where a large section is under her direct control. The big thing to rejoice about is not what we do or have done but the fact that our names are written in the Book of Life following the repentance of our sins."

Rev. Mr. Newlin deprecated the sentiment of the song, "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder I'll Be There." "Of course you will be there," he said. But will our names be written in the Book of Like. That will be the only important thing to us. Unless, repentant of our sins, we have merited our having them there all will be lost to us as is the case of a student failing in his examination. In Lisbon your name attached to the description of certain property makes you it owner. Occasionally there are errors in human records as was the case of the blind union veteran, who feeling with his hands, found his name not on the monument erected for Pennsylvania soldiers. But the Keystone state remade the tablet with his name at the top of the list and pail his way again to Gettysburg field that he might feel out the truth. But God makes no errors in his book notations. There are not devils enough in hell to blot your name out if it is therein.

"If you have the consciousness that because of unrepeated sin your name is not in this Book of Life it is manifestly your duty to affect a reconciliation with God through repentance that will merit forgiveness and insure its being placed on its pages.

"It is fine to be a member of a church; it is and should be a comfort but there is need for a greater assurance than that which is the certainty that you have become reconciled with God, thus knowing that the move has automatically put your name in this most important book to all mankind."

FIRE INSURANCE BOOST PROPOSED

The increase in the fire insurance premiums as proposed in a memorandum, filed with W. E. White, state deputy insurance commissioner, will not amount to more than 5 per cent, if that much, Mr. White said yesterday, correcting the impression that the increase would amount to 15 per cent. The proposed increases will go into effect January 1, and will affect only such risks as business houses, stores, schools and other buildings in unprotected places and where the losses have been heaviest in the last several years.

The memorandum was filed with Mr. White by T. B. Sellers, manager of the West Virginia bureau at Columbus, O.

The new rates may be put in effect by the companies without waiting the approval of the state. The state can act only when discriminatory rates are reported and then it can hold a hearing and if the evidence warrants, it may demand a revision of the rate, taking the matter to the courts to enforce it.

Write Your Name In Book of Lite, Urges Dr. O. A. Newlin

First United Presbyterian Church Evangelist Calls for Genuine Repentance in Sermon, "Source of Permanent Joy."

"Unless your name is written in the Book of Life as the result of genuine repentance of your sins you will not mingle with the redeemed that have gone on before," declared Rev. O. A. Newlin, Winona Lake, Ind., evangelist at the First United Presbyterian revival last evening. His subject was "The Source of Permanent Joy."

Despite the inclement night a good-sized audience was in attendance. The invocation was made by Dr. F. A. Dean, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, and the benediction was given by Rev. E. E. Lashley, pastor of the Newell Presbyterian church. In attendance also was Dr. Frank Fowler, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

The song service, before and after the discourse of the visiting minister, was in charge of Prof. John C. Ussher, of Emsworth, Pa.

Rev. Mr. Newlin, commenting as he read the Scripture lesson anent the storm that buffeted Christ and his disciples as they crossed the sea of Tiberias remarked the striking detail of Mark's narrative of the incident as compared to Luke and Mathew's version of it. "All save four of the chapters of Mark begin with the word 'And,'" he said. "He was particularly given to the use of the word straightway.' He gives the information that 'other little ships' accompanied that in which Jesus rode. And these as the storm was stilled were likewise saved from dangers. So we in our perplexities are not the only ones in like dilemmas. As they we frequently benefit from good that come to those about. So prayer frequently, though unheard by us, contributes to our good."

The subject of Rev. Mr. Newlin's discourse at tonight's service will be: "The Pearl of Parables."

That God uses a book in which are written the names of those who repent of their sins and thus turn to Him was affirmed by the evangelist to be a basic truisim of the Holy Scripture. "Eight times in the Bible is it stated that God has and uses for purposes of enrollment such a book," he said. "Moses knew this fact when he asked God to blot his own name from the book in case it was not possible for him to forgive Israel's great sin at Mt. Sinai."

Then he pointed out that God himself attested the fact when he said. "Whosoever sinneth against me him will I blot out of the Book of Life." The idea of this sin being repented of made possible the return of the name to the book was explained.

Record of this book, it was indicated, was to be found in comments by the psalmist Daniel and minor prophets. Paul referred to it by saying "whose names are written in heaven" and John in Revelations averred "And the books were opened" and also "Whosoever was not found in the Book of Life was cast into the lake of fire."

Using Jesus' affirmation regarding the book as a text: "Rather rejoice because your names are written in heaven," he disclosed these to have been said to the seventy disciples as following a tour in which they reported even the devil was subservient to them. They should feel greater exaltation at the fact of the presence of their names in this book rather than in the success of the work they had performed.

"Even Jesus at times could not do his mighty works because of unbelief. So we too may find our success seemingly lessened for the same reason," he said. "We are too much concerned at results sometimes. We become despondent because we fail to see victory. But the Lord accomplishes his ends in various ways. Years ago there was but one convert, a little girl, in a four weeks' revival. It loomed a failure. But for 27 years now that girl, long a grown woman, has been one of the leading missionaries to India where a large section is under her direct control. The big thing to rejoice about is not what we do or have done but the fact that our names are written in the Book of Life following the repentance of our sins."

Rev. Mr. Newlin deprecated the sentiment of the song, "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder I'll Be There." "Of course you will be there," he said. But will our names be written in the Book of Like. That will be the only important thing to us. Unless, repentant of our sins, we have merited our having them there all will be lost to us as is the case of a student failing in his examination. In Lisbon your name attached to the description of certain property makes you it owner. Occasionally there are errors in human records as was the case of the blind union veteran, who feeling with his hands, found his name not on the monument erected for Pennsylvania soldiers. But the Keystone state remade the tablet with his name at the top of the list and pail his way again to Gettysburg field that he might feel out the truth. But God makes no errors in his book notations. There are not devils enough in hell to blot your name out if it is therein.

"If you have the consciousness that because of unrepeated sin your name is not in this Book of Life it is manifestly your duty to affect a reconciliation with God through repentance that will merit forgiveness and insure its being placed on its pages.

"It is fine to be a member of a church; it is and should be a comfort but there is need for a greater assurance than that which is the certainty that you have become reconciled with God, thus knowing that the move has automatically put your name in this most important book to all mankind."

FIRE INSURANCE BOOST PROPOSED

The increase in the fire insurance premiums as proposed in a memorandum, filed with W. E. White, state deputy insurance commissioner, will not amount to more than 5 per cent, if that much, Mr. White said yesterday, correcting the impression that the increase would amount to 15 per cent. The proposed increases will go into effect January 1, and will affect only such risks as business houses, stores, schools and other buildings in unprotected places and where the losses have been heaviest in the last several years.

The memorandum was filed with Mr. White by T. B. Sellers, manager of the West Virginia bureau at Columbus, O.

The new rates may be put in effect by the companies without waiting the approval of the state. The state can act only when discriminatory rates are reported and then it can hold a hearing and if the evidence warrants, it may demand a revision of the rate, taking the matter to the courts to enforce it.

ASSESSORS MEET IS SCHEDULED

The program for the meeting has not yet been arranged. It is held preliminary to the work of valuation of properties which will start January 1. Governor Gore probably will be one of the speakers.

The tax commissioner is required to assemble the assessors once each year and at these meetings, which are open to the public, interested citizens usual ly appear and discuss their problems.

The ENTERTAINING ANGEL

By SAMUEL MERWIN

By Samuel Merwin Released Through Central Press Ass'n

CHAPTER THIRTEEN.

It came out that Maybury had worked with his college dramatic club. And casual references to certain doings in San Francisco stirred the suspicion that he was not unacquainted with chorus girls and late parties. Hester perceived his boyish desire to establish himself with her as a bit of a gay dog. But she didn't mind. His good humor bubbled through his talk. She found herself laughing with him. The thought came—it was a sobering yet stirring little thought, carrying with it a faint warm sense of guilt—that boys sometimes fell wonderfully in love with older women.

The dishes were pushed back. He offered her a cigarette, which she accepted with a defensive little laugh and permitted him to light. She kept her eyes away from Sadie. He seemed to have forgotten Grace Appleby and her red hair.

Mr. Watt got deliberately to his feet, fingered his glasses and surveyed the room. The chatter quieted.

"My dear young friends . . ." he began.

Henry Harper, who was lighting a cigar, cackled out at this point, "Shoot the words, Murry!"

"Isn't he a scream, your Mr. J. Murry Watt?" whispered Maybury, and Hester, her eyes dancing, nodded.

"My dear young friends, I have an announcement to make which I am sure will be of the greatest interest to all of you. During my long career as an actor—and I may say it has been my privilege to observe much and at first hand the lonely struggle of the artist in a materialistic world—I have participated in only a few such stirring moments as that in which we now find ourselves. As we all know, there have been great souls in the theater, heroic souls. The names come to mind of Edwin Booth and Lawrence Barrett, of Henry Irving and Ellen Terry. On one occasion, when I was leading man with Modjeska . . . ."

"Passing lightly over the next thirty years," cackled Harper, "what's happened?"

Mr. Watt beamed down upon him. "My dear Henry, considering what I have to tell you all, considering what an occasion this dinner represents in the career of the Wayside Theater, I can afford to treat your ill-timed observations with the ignominy they invite."

And Joe Maybury whispered in Hester's ear, "Hear, hear!" with so loud a British accent that she laughed aloud.

"In a word, dear friends, as I was about to remark, while all are familiar with those great figures who have given their all, their very souls, to that art which draws into its service all the other arts, it is not so often that we learn of an outsider who comes loyally and as is the duty of really civilized man, to their support." glances were exchenaged about the table. Sadie caught Hester's eye at last and saw that she was sobered.

"As you may have inferred, as the discerning among you may have inferred from my making that last remark on this extraordinary occasion"—he waved to include the table, the rrom, even the ocean outside—"such a splendid person has come, sans peur et sans reproche, to the support of the Wayside Theater. For the sum of four thousand dollars . . . ."

Hester couldn't help looking up again. Sadie's mouth was shaped into a little round "o" of amazement. Hester shrugged.,

. . . . . for the sum of four thousand dollars in cash, a half interest in the Wayside Theatre has been purchased by"—again he paused and looked around to watch the effect he was producing—"by Mr. Julian Reed. I am glad to be able to inform you that the thing couldn't have been more modestly or handsomely done. I shall continue as your director." A low groan from Harper was blandly ignored. "And now, dear friends, I congratulate you. I am sure I need not attempt to voice my gratitude and my appreciation of the loyalty and patience you have all exhibited during certain dark days that we, as a company, have passed through. It is enough to say, as at last I am able to say, that your faith and mine has been rewarded. The dark days are over."

Hester, confused, felt a little stab of memory. During that night hour by the ocean Julian hadn't been the lame puppy, but a gentle and understanding man. And she had yielded her lips to his. Now he was coming back as an unbelievable benefactor. She like the others would owe her very living to him. A shiveer ran through her slender body . . . . But she couldn't help it now. Even if he had done it for her, foolishly, blindly, she couldn't help it. It had happened. She shrugged again. After all, the present was reality. That warm glow was still about her heart. She didn't care. This boy didn't think her old. Or did her? The test would come when they left this room. Would he walk with her or seize the opportunity to slip away? She'd have to give him that opportunity.

She walked alone from the room. A giggling Sadie rushed after her, saying, in an excited whisper, "My word, Hester, that's double what he had in his letter of credit. Murry's going right through him! And where does he GET it?"

"I'm sure I don't know," Hester replied discreetly. But her breath was curiously short. She was trying not to glance back toward the dining room.

Then she saw him coming. He walked beautifully. How tall and lithe and clean he was! How he radiated the very spirit of vigorous Western youth! She introduced him to Sadie, and then, white and still, watched the two of them. Wasn't Sadie more his kind? It might be the end of an absurd little dream.

The three of them walked out together into the bold sunshine. There were few bathers out there now, and the wide beach glittered invitingly. Sadie turned back toward the others. Would he follow?

But he bent over her. "We mustn't stop our visit now," he said. "Couldn't you stick it out a little longer?"

She hesitated. It would be like her, or like the girl she had been, to shrink back into that queerly inaccessible nature of her granite-souled forfathers. She drew in a long breath, then lifted her eyes to his and slowly smiled.

"We might sit on the beach until it's time to start," said she. "The trucks

"We mustn't stop our visit now," he said.

are packed. I don't think they'll need you."

"It looks like a good chance to borrow one of those big umbrellas," said he, with a musical little laugh.

There can be little privacy in a traveling troupe. In the Wayside Theater there was next to none. By night the actors sleep in the dressing tent at the right of the stage, the actresses in the tent on the left. Mr. Watt had a small tent that he shared with the stage manager. The crew set up their cots on the stage. Early in the morning all were wakened to attack the problem of packing. And then came the ride, long or short as might be, to the next town on the itinerary. Meals were a problem, to be fitted into the routine as swiftly and easily as possible.

This program spelled hard work during all of every day. It was a healthy, hard life, all in the open air. Muscles developed, faces grew brown and firm; the seven to eight hours of nightly slumber became a joy to be looked to eagerly, the waking a humorous torture.

It followed naturally from this sort of crowded living that even the less experienced members of the troupe learned to take in the emotional twistings and turnings that were inevitable among such temperamental folk with quietly observant eyes. What personal comment there might be was let fall guardedly by two and two. They knew each other too deeply to risk talk. Usually a brief phrase or even a momentarily lifted brow was enough to convey a world of meaning. Each individual was weighed and shrewdly catalogued. Honesty was felt, talent respected, vanity smiled at, weakness quietly accepted. And yet not a person among them but assumed that his inner life was shrewdly hidden away.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN.

It came out that Maybury had worked with his college dramatic club. And casual references to certain doings in San Francisco stirred the suspicion that he was not unacquainted with chorus girls and late parties. Hester perceived his boyish desire to establish himself with her as a bit of a gay dog. But she didn't mind. His good humor bubbled through his talk. She found herself laughing with him. The thought came—it was a sobering yet stirring little thought, carrying with it a faint warm sense of guilt—that boys sometimes fell wonderfully in love with older women.

The dishes were pushed back. He offered her a cigarette, which she accepted with a defensive little laugh and permitted him to light. She kept her eyes away from Sadie. He seemed to have forgotten Grace Appleby and her red hair.

Mr. Watt got deliberately to his feet, fingered his glasses and surveyed the room. The chatter quieted.

"My dear young friends . . ." he began.

Henry Harper, who was lighting a cigar, cackled out at this point, "Shoot the words, Murry!"

"Isn't he a scream, your Mr. J. Murry Watt?" whispered Maybury, and Hester, her eyes dancing, nodded.

"My dear young friends, I have an announcement to make which I am sure will be of the greatest interest to all of you. During my long career as an actor—and I may say it has been my privilege to observe much and at first hand the lonely struggle of the artist in a materialistic world—I have participated in only a few such stirring moments as that in which we now find ourselves. As we all know, there have been great souls in the theater, heroic souls. The names come to mind of Edwin Booth and Lawrence Barrett, of Henry Irving and Ellen Terry. On one occasion, when I was leading man with Modjeska . . . ."

"Passing lightly over the next thirty years," cackled Harper, "what's happened?"

Mr. Watt beamed down upon him. "My dear Henry, considering what I have to tell you all, considering what an occasion this dinner represents in the career of the Wayside Theater, I can afford to treat your ill-timed observations with the ignominy they invite."

And Joe Maybury whispered in Hester's ear, "Hear, hear!" with so loud a British accent that she laughed aloud.

"In a word, dear friends, as I was about to remark, while all are familiar with those great figures who have given their all, their very souls, to that art which draws into its service all the other arts, it is not so often that we learn of an outsider who comes loyally and as is the duty of really civilized man, to their support." glances were exchenaged about the table. Sadie caught Hester's eye at last and saw that she was sobered.

"As you may have inferred, as the discerning among you may have inferred from my making that last remark on this extraordinary occasion"—he waved to include the table, the rrom, even the ocean outside—"such a splendid person has come, sans peur et sans reproche, to the support of the Wayside Theater. For the sum of four thousand dollars . . . ."

Hester couldn't help looking up again. Sadie's mouth was shaped into a little round "o" of amazement. Hester shrugged.,

. . . . . for the sum of four thousand dollars in cash, a half interest in the Wayside Theatre has been purchased by"—again he paused and looked around to watch the effect he was producing—"by Mr. Julian Reed. I am glad to be able to inferm you that the thing couldn't have been more modestly or handsomely done. I shall continue as your director." A low groan from Harper was blandly ignored. "And now, dear friends, I congratulate you. I am sure I need not attempt to voice my gratitude and my appreciation of the loyalty and patience you have all exhibited during certain dark days that we, as a company, have passed through. It is enough to say, as at last I am able to say, that your faith and mine has been rewarded. The dark days are over."

Hester, confused, felt a little stab of memory. During that night hour by the ocean Julian hadn't been the lame puppy, but a gentle and understanding man. And she had yielded her lips to his. Now he was coming back as an unbelievable benefactor. She like the others would owe her very living to him. A shiveer ran through her slender body . . . . But she couldn't help it now. Even if he had done it for her, foolishly, blindly, she couldn't help it. It had happened. She shrugged again. After all, the present was reality. That warm glow was still about her heart. She didn't care. This boy didn't think her old. Or did her? The test would come when they left this room. Would he walk with her or seize the opportunity to slip away? She'd have to give him that opportunity.

She walked alone from the room. A giggling Sadie rushed after her, saying, in an excited whisper, "My word. Hester, that's double what he had in his letter of credit. Murry's going right through him! And where does he GET it?"

"I'm sure I don't know," Hester replied discreetly. But her breath was curiously short. She was trying not to glance back toward the dining room.

Then she saw him coming. He walked beautifully. How tall and lithe and clean he was! How he radiated the very spirit of vigorous Western youth! She introduced him to Sadie, and then, white and still, watched the two of them. Wasn't Sadie more his kind? It might be the end of an absurd little dream.

All Jaws Imperfect.
A New Alphabet.

The Mexican Situation.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

DR. H. CAMPBELL, British authority, says no living Briton has a normal jaw, because British food, as now used, does not compel chewing muscles to do their work. 'We are the only nation that insists on a soft pudding every day. We cut off crusts and live on sponge and pulp."

DR. CAMPBELL urges parents to give children food that will exercise their jaws, and says "the people of England are the worst fed of any in the world."

He evidently does not know America, land of professional teeth straighteners, where every prosperous parent figures about fifteen hundred dollars for straightening each child's teeth.

HIGH palates, narrow, undeveloped jaws, unused salivary glands, consequent bad digestion, malnutrition, imperfect development, all come of giving our young children soft pap, swimming in milk or cream, nothing to chew.

And men eat soft stuff, that they may get it down in a hurry, stew, pie, milk toast, pancakes. Look at the teeth of a dog, chewing his bone.

DR. G. DEWEY of Harvard wants the nations using our alphabet to save a thousand million dollars a year merely by improving on the work that the Phoenicians began. The new alphabet would have 24 consonants, 13 vowels, four diphthongs and a sign "th" a word that makes up 7 per cent of all the words on a printed page.

BOOKS, magazines, newspapers would be smaller, lighter, cheaper, printers, stenographers, typewriters would save time. Reading would be a swifter process.

IT IS a good suggestion that will not be adopted. But this country and Britain, at least, ought to adopt the metric system in weights, measures, and in Britain for money also. That would be simple.

EUROPE'S great powers, Britain, France, Italy, Germany, will have another Locarno conference, and Senator Borah says it is aimed at us.

Europe wants to make herself economically independent of this country, and in certain lines, rubber and oil, for instance, Europe wants America to be dependent on her.

True, perhaps, but why not? Life is a struggle, trade is a polite cut-throat game. Many nations, with trade forced on them at the bayonet's point, can swear to that.

This nation can protect itself and not whimper. Europe owes us billions, does not want to pay. If she does pay, she means to pay with our money.

AND what about people? We need Europe's markets to sell goods to people there. Why not change the

SHOCK GIVEN SIMPSON WHEN DOCTOR PROVES "BOOMERANG"

STATE IS AMAZED

Family Physician is Trifle Evasive at First.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

COURTHOUSE, SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 30.—Prosecutor Alexander Simpson was given a distinct shock at the Hall-Mills trial today when one of his rebuttal witnesses, called to testify as to the character of Mrs. Jane Gibson, declared the woman's "reputation for veracity" was "not so good." The "boomerang" witness was Dr. J. H. Cooper, of East Millstone, N. J.

Simpson looked amazed. He turned to one of his assistants for a conference.

Insists on Answer.

Dr. Cooper said he was Mrs. Gibson's personal physician. He had known her for five or six years.

The witness was a trifle evasive at first and Simpson demanded:

"Tell me flat-footed whether her reputation is good or bad."

"Now Mr. Simpson, I don't know where you are trying to hang me—"

Laughter broke out in the courtroom and the court rapped for order.

Simpson insisted on an answer—was her reputation good or bad?

"Well," drawled the big, heavy-set doctor, with the quizzical, humorous expression, "I should say from what the neighbors say, it was about fifty-fifty."

There was more laughter and Simpson himself smiled and confessed that

Arrest Man After He Throws Dismembered Body Into River

New York Police Allege Prisoner Confessed Woman's Murder in Which Butcher Knife and Chisel Were Used.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Francesco Tripia was arrested today on a homicide charge after police claimed he threw a bag containing the arms and legs of a woman from the India wharf into the river at the foot of Hamilton street.

Subsequent search of the prisoner's home, police stated, revealed the remainder of the woman's body, and Tripia is alleged to have confessed the crime.

Near the body in Tripia's home police found a butcher knife more than a foot long, and cold chisel, both smeared with blood. He was captured after a chase along the waterfront during which several shots were fired by pursuing policemen, but is said to have admitted the crime as soon as confronted with the body.

Hacked Body to Pieces.

Questioned at police headquarters, Tripia said he knew the woman only as Louise Marie. She was about 50 years old, he stated, and he met her about ten months ago.

Last night the woman reappeared at his apartment, after an absence of some time, said the prisoner, who is a longshoreman. They had some drinks together, and she fell asleep. Tripia thought she was dead, he told the detectives, and fearing police action if she were found in his rooms he struck her several times on the head with the chisel, and then proceeded to sever the limbs.

He worked at this all night, according to the police story, cutting with the butcher knife and hacking through the bones with the cold chisel. Then he wrapped up the limbs and went to the river, intending later to dispose of the rest of the body in the same manner.

REV. A. H. O'BRIEN NAMED CHAIRMAN OF RED CROSS EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Reports Show $1,117.18 Was Collected by Workers in Tenth Annual Roll Call.

Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church, and leader of the recent roll call, was elected chairman of the executive committee of the East Liverpool chapter of the American Red Cross at a reorganization meeting in the Carnegie library, Fourth street, last evening.

Mrs. H. C. Ostermann was named vice chairman, while Mrs. John T. Bowers was chosen secretary. W. E. Dunlap, cashier of the First National bank, will continue as treasurer. Other members of the executive committee are: Charles Boyce, W. O. Bloor, James S. Hilbert, W. H. Nagel, Leon Rubin, Rev. J. Lloyd McQueen, Superintendent of Schools C. S. McVay, Rev. E. E. Lashley, R. W. Sample, F. R. O'Hanlon, Dr. J. O. Campbell and Mrs. Joseph Sutton.

Final report on the roll call showed 886 members to have enrolled, collections totalling $1,117.18. Contributions outside of membership fees amounted to $147. The memberships included 15 of the $5 class and two of the $10 class.

Await Junior Report.

Mrs. Joseph Sutton reported the largest collection, $210.35. Of this money $70 was taken in at the booth maintained at the Y. M. C. A., the remaining $140.35 being collected in the house-to-house canvass.

Deducting the national organization's share, the local chapter will have about $650 for home work, the committee report indicated. This money will be used in meeting the salary of the public health nurse. Because of the limited funds the organization will be unable to engage in relief work during the coming year. No headquarters will be established. Correspondence will be in charge of Mrs. Bowers.

Report of the Junior Red Cross campaign in the public and parochial schools has not been received by Mrs. Bowers. Money contributed by the children will be kept in a separate fund and used in work for children.

ANNEXATION OF SUBURBAN ZONES NORTH OF CITY APPROVED

County Commissioners Put O. K. on Greater East Liverpool.

ACTION FINAL

New Zones to Get Water Service Fire, Police Aid.

Application of the city of East Liverpool for permission to extend the city limits to include Sherwood, La Croft, Maplewood, Park boulevard, Beechwood and other territory bordering along the north corporate lines, was unanimously approved by the county commissioners, after a conference with Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore in the water works office, Fourth street, late yesterday afternoon.

The new area, which automatically becomes a part of the municipality after a 60-day interval, includes about 560 square acres on which there are 450 homes. It will give the city about 2,000 people, increasing the population to about 25,000, according to conservative estimates. The 1920 census gave the city 21,411 inhabitants.

At a hearing on November 12, the commissioners, sitting as judges, heard evidence for and against annexation. The city was represented by Solicitor Frank Hoover, assisted by Attorney J. H. Brookes, member of the planning commission. Attorneys Charles Boyd and Harry Brokaw represented the Liverpool township trustees and others opposed to the plan.

Money for Water Mains.

The commissioners took the matter under advisement after attorneys delivered their closing arguments at Lisbon on November 15. They made two trips over the territory.

Member J. C. Kelly offered the motion that the application of the city be approved, the motion being seconded by Commissioner Frank Bye.

Plan to Start Work Next Week on New N. B. O. P. Building

Work on the new addition to the N. B. of O. P. headquarters building, West Sixth street, will be started by D. F. Nellis & Sons within the next week unless inclement weather interferes. It is expected to have the structure ready for occupancy by the early part of the summer.

The bid of the Nellis company, together with the heating system contract for which has not yet been awarded, will bring the total cost of the addition up to approximately $41,000 according to officers of the brotherhood. Nellis & Sons submitted the lowest bid of the seven contractors who sought the building job.

TWO MEN FACE TERMS IN JAIL

Alvin Franklin, Drain street potter, will probably be taken to the county jail at Lisbon this afternoon or tomorrow to serve out a $100 fine assessed against him by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley Monday after he was found guilty of operating an automobile while intoxicated.

A. W. Spencer, Grimm's Bridge man, who was assessed a $1,000 fine by St. Clair township officials for a liquor violation a week ago will also be taken to Lisbon. Spencer has been in the local jail since his arrest.

SON-IN-LAW TESTIFIES OF PLAN TO DISCHARGE LOAN BEFORE INQUIRY

C. C. Chase Tells Jury in Washington Conspiracy Trial of Ex-secretary's Appeal to Cleveland Man for Money to Liquidate Obligation to E. L. Doheny, Oil Millionaire.

PRICE McKINNEY, HOWEVER, REFUSED TO ADVANCE CASH, WITNESS SAYS

Father-in-law's Unsuccessful Effort to Exchange Creditors Was Made When Senate Committee Was Conducting Vigorous Investigation Into Private Affairs of Accused Man.

By GEORGE E. DURNO.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Albert B. Fall, ex-secretary of the interior, endeavored unsuccessfully to discharge his $100,000 obligation to E. L. Doheny before the transaction became known to the senate investigating committee, it was testified today by Fall's son-in-law, C. C. Chase.

Chase, the first witness called in the trial of his father-in-law and Doheny for alleged conspiracy to defraud the government in oil leases, testified that in November of 1923 Fall endeavored to obtain a loan of $100,000 from Price McKinney of Cleveland, but without success.

Fall's effort to exchange McKinney for Doheny as his creditor came at a time when the senate committee on public lands was conducting a vigorous investigation into his private affairs, particularly with respect to the $100,000. It was within two months of this time that Doheny came forward—only after Fall had announced his beneficiacy was E. B. McLean, wealthy publisher—and announced that he had made the loan.

Cleveland Man is Dead.

Under questioning by Owen Roberts, government counsel, Chase testified that, under instructions from his father-in-law, he had gone to Cleveland to see McKinney.

Chase explained that McKinney had suggested he loan Fall $100,000 with which to retire the Doheny loan, and Fall wanted the Cleveland man to be reminded of that fact.

Chase gave no reason, however, for McKinney's failure to "come through." McKinney is now dead.

The Cleveland man, Chase further testified, had been approached by Fall in 1920 for the loan of $100,000.

Daugherty is Witness.

Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, himself facing trial on conspiracy charges, was the next witness.

He was asked if he knew anything about the Doheny leases or had even been asked for an opinion as to their legality. Answering in the negative he was excused, but was recalled for cross-examination by Frank J. Hogan, defense counsel, who asked him if he had any recollection of Fall handing him a copy of the oil leasing act of 1920 at a cabinet meeting and asking for an informal opinion on the general leasing policy about to be put into effect "and you told him you thought it was all right?"

"I certainly don't recall anything like that," said Daugherty. "That was a long time ago, though, and a lot of water has gone over the dam since."

Before calling Edward G. Finney, assistant secretary of interior, from whom the government expects to get a complete history of the Doheny oil leases, Roberts and Hogan called a number of government employes and oil company officials who produced and identified letters and documents which will figure in Finney's examination.

The president has noted little interference with radio reception in Washington.

Officials of the line declared that the wreck had been caused by disobedience of orders as the block signals had functioned properly. An investigation has been ordered.

REVIVAL OF FARM RELIEF CONTROVERSY IN CONGRESS ASSURED WITH DRAFTING OF NEW McNARY-HAUGEN BILL

BY WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—A revival of the farm relief controversy at the coming session of congress was assured today with the drafting of a new McNary-Haugen bill for the stabilization of the American agriculture through the creation of a government corporation to export surplus farm products.

Defeated at the last session after a bitter fight, the new measure will face a hard road to enactment. It will retain the two principal provisions—which would place an equalization fee upon exported products and require the government to finance it at the outset—that caused its rejection by congress last spring. Its enactment will depend entirely upon the support given it by southern senators and representatives, following the recent upheaval in the cotton industry.

$250,000,000 Appropriation.

Most of the provisions of the old bill were re-written into the new document. It will authorize a $250,000,000 appropriation to be used as a revolving fund by the proposed corporation. This fund would be repaid the government through the levying of an equalization fee upon the products benefited. Its export features will apply to cotton, wheat, corn, swine and rice.

Drop Live Stock Products.

The inclusion of rice among the products to be exported was a departure for the old bill, as was the dropping of livestock products. The latter, however, may be restored if livestock dealers insist upon it.

There were other changes in the administration features of the bill, the chief one being to place all control of the proposed corporation in the hands of a board of 12 members. This board would be appointed by the president, one member from each of the federal farm land bank districts. The board would elect its own chairman, who would become literally the president of the export corporation.

The bill was written by Senator Charles L. McNary, Republican, of Oregon, who will become chairman of the senate agriculture committee at the coming session. McNary was aided by other members of the senate and house farm blocs. The bloc's conferences, incidentally, were attended by representatives of various farm organizations and by experts from the department of agriculture.

Threats of Opposition.

Even while McNary was completing a draft of the new bill, it met with threats of serious opposition. Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic floor leader, for one, announced he was opposed to any relief measure, placing the government in the export business or levying a "tax" on farmers.

"From my standpoint," said Robinson, "any machinery authorized by national legislation for dealing with surplus argiculture products should be set up ond maintained by the farmers themselves, for through their cooperative and voluntary action alone can limitation of production, essential to the maintenance of just prices over a long period, be maintained."

Its chief hopes for enactment will lie in the possibility of a change of heart on the part of southern senators and congressmen, who helped defeat it before. As the recent deflation of cotton prices was due solely to the bumper size of the crop, farm bloc members believe southerners will feel far more friendly to the export corporation idea at the coming session than they were last spring. If the south does support it, the bill undoubtedly will be enacted.

Dancing, Danceland, tonite, 25c and 50c.

A Hamburg man who nine years ago confessed to having killed his wife and disposed of her body in a boiler, was recently released by the German authorities when it was found that his confession was untrue and the result of auto-suggestion.

An old building in Trim, Ireland, that has been used as a county jail, then as an industrial school, later as a barracks for the Auxiliaries, and still later by the Free State army, is to be reconstructed as an armory for the Civic Guards.

Although with the coming of the rainy season boats have been relieving the freight congestion that has been at the mouth of the Magdalena river in Latin America for many months, it may require a year to clear off the docks of excess shipments.

No Need to be Embarrassed by Catarrh

There is such humiliation in the offensive breath, catarrhal deafness, constant raising of mucus and other annoyances of catarrh, that no one willingly puts up with it any more.

Catarrh quickly disappears when you remove the cause—an inflamed condition of the mucous membranes of nose, throat and head. Reduce this inflammation and a healthy condition is restored.

To do this use Hall's Catarrh Medicine, effective for over 40 years. Ask your druggist. Price 85c. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Q. Does the president of the United States have to pay his own grocery bill or is there an allowance for this? F. C. H.

Q. Where do the swans of the eastern part of North America spend their winters? D. S.

A. They concentrate on Chesapeake Bay, Md., Back Bay, Va., and Currituck Sound, N. C., and nearby waters. These birds have become bolder, under the ten-year protection given them. They now number about 15,000.

Q. What are the important aids to air navigation? R. S. S.

A. The first aid to air navigation must be the extension to the air pilot of relatively the same help as furnished pilots on the seas. First is the lighting of the airways. Next is the weather communication system between at least those stations at which aircraft alight; then the radio beacons, the radio markers, the radio telephones for direct communication with the pilot in flight to apprise him of conditions ahead along the route, if the radiophone is found to be the best solution; the radio field localizer to give the pilot the exact location of a field in fog and to assist him in alighting. Other devices are being worked upon, such as the direction finder and the landing altimeter.

Girl Gains 7 Pounds, Makes Man Happy

"My daughter had constipation, gas on the stomach and a very poor appetite. Since taking Adlerika, she has gained 7 pounds and her appetite is good."—H. F. Newman.

Adlerika is a compound of the best saline intestinal cleanser with glycerine, buckthorn, cascara and other gas-expelling and detergent elements. It is excellent for Intestinal Stasis, a disease due to modern ways of living and which is often the true cause of sour stomach, gas bloating, nervous dyspepsia and restless sleep.

Unlike most medicines, Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel, giving the intestines a REAL cleansing and bringing out old poisonous matter you never thought was in your system. Even if bowels move daily, you will be surprised how much more old matter Adlerika brings out which may have been causing all your trouble. In slight disorders, like occasional constipation, GAS bloating, indigestion or sick headache, ONE spoonful always bring relief.

Doctors Praise Adlerika.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York: "Adlerika, in addition to its intestinal cleansing, checks the growth of intestinal bacteria."

Dr. A. C. Curl: "I prescribe Adlerika with highly satisfactory results."

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years' practice, I have found nothing to excel Adlerika."

J. E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika, I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated from my system."

Dr. F. M. P. (name withheld by request): "I use Adlerika in all bowel cases. Some require only one dose."

No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists. In East Liverpool at the Economy Drug Store, and other druggists.

Dear Friends:

When you think of Christmas gifts, you just naturally think of jewelry, don't you?

And when you think of jewelry, of course you think of Reese's store. That's also natural.

I'm telling you again that this store is going to be regular Christmas headquarters this season. Yes, I know that every other store in the United States says that same thing, but I'm going to stick to my statement just the same. This is headquarters!

The boss says to suggest that idea of mine again. He likes it. This is it: You select your gift now—a watch, pearl necklace, diamond ring, vanity case, glass or silverware, leather goods or anything—then pay something each week until Christmas time. Makes it easy for you, and you are sure of getting exactly what you want that way.

TICK.

P. S. Tell the boss "I saw Tick's ad."

ATWATER KENT RADIO

"And I never touched a radio set before!"

"I thought you told me only last week you weren't interested in Radio."

The hostess smiled.

"Yes, but that same evening Joe came home with a bundle under his arm. 'Surprise for you,' he said. 'Radio.'

"Well, you can see for yourself how small and good-looking it is. And it's the simplest thing you ever saw. Here, you try it. Just turn that ONE Dial slowly."

The guest did so. A troop of stations came marching in, each one clear and true. A celebrated singer—a dance orchestra—a talk on chintzes—the coming styles described on the air—what's in the markets—how to budget your home—a national hero modestly telling his story.

"How thrilling! And anyone can do it. Why, it's as easy as switching on an electric light. And I never touched a radio set before. And what beautiful tone!"

If you see yourself in this, any Atwater Kent dealer will be glad to complete the picture by putting one of the compact, efficient and extraordinarily simple Atwater Kent Receivers—with ONE Dial—in your home. There is no better time than TODAY.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1926.

Annexation is Sanctioned

East Liverpool's population is approximately 25,000 today—or will be when the next federal census is reported—for annexation of suburban districts north of the city proper has been unanimously approved by the county commissioners.

Approval of the city's proposal, after hearings conducted in municipal court early in the month, followed an inspection trip over the proposed new zone yesterday afternoon. As a result, the following territory is now within the municipal corporation: Sections along Lincoln highway as far north as La Croft, including Sherwood, Fisher Park and nearby districts; all of Maplewood and Park boulevard as far north as the Liverpool township line; Beechwood and the Park Way road, Harker avenue and other township homes in the upper part of East End.

Annexation should prove worthwhile to all concerned. It will mean an increased tax duplicate and consequently more revenue for operating expenses for the city, while in return the new residents shall receive water service and fire and police protection, not to mention the decreased cost of fire insurance for their homes and household goods.

And with the question settled, let's boost a bigger and better East Liverpool.

What Price Anti-Americanism

Less had been heard lately about anti-American demonstrations abroad. But though there may be fewer overt acts, the spirit continues. An American correspondent in Europe says there is a wave of anti-Americanism sweeping the world.

That hurts American feelings. It also hurts American business. More may be heard hereafter of this effect.

European business men are taking shrewd advantage of the feeling against America to restore the waning popularity of their own goods in competition with our own.

In Germany, England, France and elsewhere the correspondent finds a virtual boycott campaign against things made in America. It doesn't matter if they are the best articles of their kind in the world—automobiles, tires, victrolas, movie films, cash registers, or what not—the method is the same. The public is urged strenuously to "buy British good" or "buy German goods" or "buy French goods" as a patriotic duty. This is rendered easier by the hostility felt toward America. And the business interests are said to be actively fomenting that hostility, to insure the preference for their own goods.

Thus the noticeable falling off in the foreign demand for American products is said to be about half due to popular feeling against developing more or less naturally, and the other half due to prejudice artificially stirred up for business purposes.

It is going to take considerable effort and wise handling to overcome all this foreign dislike. But the effort must be made, alike to protect the good name of our country and to insure a continued market for American goods, insuring continued American prosperity.

The Simpler Life

Railing at the complexities of life never got anyone anywhere. Railing at the morals of youth never got anyone anywhere. The only way to get things done is to do them. The only way to begin is to begin.

"I like to go to the Robinsons' parties," a man remarked the other day. "They never ask you to drink anything. They never try to amuse you, either. They just give you something simple and comfortable to eat and light their fire. If you want to talk, you can, and the talk is better because there is nothing to drink first. If you just want to read you can take a book and find a corner. If you just want to sit and look at the fire and be quiet, you can do that. You come away rested and stimulated and have no morning after. Great stuff."

Why let life be complex? Why let your life be run by what you think your neighbors think? As a matter of fact, they don't think it. They want the same simplicity and comfort you want. All you have to do is to stop complicating, and simplify.

You don't have to send a million Christmas cards if you don't want to.

You can give a few presents to your own family and stop right there. Nothing is going to happen. The sky will not fall.

You don't have to offer cocktails. Most of your friends will probably bless you if you don't.

The way to make life simpler and better is to begin now.

"Why do we grow old?" inquires the Literary Digest. Artemus Ward explained that long ago: "Time passes—it's a way time has."

The big cotton surplus doesn't do so much harm as the big sugar surplus. People don't eat cheap cotton and make themselves sick.

Let a pessimist talk as gloomily as he likes; but if the wants to make money, he'll place most of his bets along with the optimists.

On the whole, we'll say Marie entertained us as well as we entertained her.

OBSTRUCTING THE HIGHWAY.

There is a corner in a Southern state, down near the Mississippi river, where formerly lynchings occurred more frequently than they do these times. In the days before the rural-free-delivery system was adopted, Uncle Gip Thomas held the contract for delivering the mail in this neighborhood. So regular was he that the residents almost could set their clocks by him.

But one day he was nearly two hours late in reaching the end of the line, where there was a tiny cross-roads hamlet. Just as the citizens were forming a posse to set out in search of him, for fear that some mishap had befallen him, Uncle Gip ambled into view.

"What delayed you, Uncle Gip?", asked the postmaster. "Did you happen to an accident or did an accident happen to you?"

"Nary one, or both," stated Uncle Gip. "But about ten o'clock this mornin' jes' before I crossed the Creek, I come to where some of the boys had left a feller hangin' right thar in the public road. Well, suh, my mare she got skeered and shied back, and I jes' natchelly couldn't make her go past him nowadays; so finally I had to tear down a panel of rail fence and lead her through the gap and lay the fence back up again and go through the woods down into the hollow and ford the creek and then tear another gap in the fence before I could get back again on the turnpike—and that was what kept me so late." Uncle Gip paused a moment and then went on again in an aggrieved tone:

"Honest, boys, it does look to me like there oughter to be a law against leavin' a feller hangin' in the public road."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Gold digging has become a super art in Broadway canyons. The acquiescent male who falls a victim finds himself in a trap as skillfully set as those of experienced hunters for game. It is strictly an apartment house racket.

And the gold digger quarries her sap with all the resoluteness of the miner in the pit. She angles for him in supper clubs. A sly knowing wink and he finds himself at her table. She has eluded her chaperone and is seeing a bit of life. Slumming, you know.

Tomorrow she is off for the coast to appear in a super film. A few drinks and he has found the girl he has been searching for. He will drop around to her apartment tomorrow to say goodbye and have lunch with her. She must go home now—and alone.

He is there with a train corsage bouquet in one hand and a box of candy in the other at the appointed time. Soft lights and studied luxury. A cat-footed Jap frosts the cocktail shaker. A few cheerios. Not such a bad old world, heigh ho! And champagne with the luncheon.

After luncheon a buzz at the door. A drab woman selling lingerie. Such a bother but she was told to come by a friend. Several selections. The poor saleswoman cannot change a hundred dollar note. He pays the bill—selecting a couple of extra mentionables for good measure. The door bell again.

The waiter from the dining room down stairs with the luncheon check. He grabs for it and miraculously succeeds. How embarrassing. It is for $82. The catire bill for the week. He musn't pay it. That would be terrible for he is a guest. But he does.

Another bottle of champagne. She must finish packing soon. How awful to leave in the first flush of this romance. Another buzz at the door. The bootlegger collecting for wine. He will not accept a check. Will her guest cash one for her? He will not but he magnanimously pays the bootlegger. And a few nights later when his head has cleared he drops into another supper club. There she is. She didn't go to Hollywood after all.

Broadway corners become loafing stations for certain types. Concert artists at liberty clot about Carnegie hall at 57th street and Seventh avenue. There is generally a group of detectives around 50th and Broadway. The dice gamblers hold forth at 47th and Seventh avenue, Vaudeville actors at 47th and Broadway. Theatre musicians at 46th and Broadway and movies extras at 44th and Broadway. A group of chorus men are always to be found in the alleyway between the Shubert and Booth theatres.

Wilton Lackaye explains the incongruity of snow white hair and a black mustache with the very logical deduction that the hair on his head is older.

A New Yorker had a tooth filled in the morning and killed himself in the afternoon. There's an incongruity for you.

Often late at night I have seen those low-slung, triple length trucks piled high with theatrical scenery moving slowly across town on the last lap of a journey to Cain's—a theatrical warehouse and haven of dead hopes. There is something grim in the spectacle. A show has flopped and will not take to the road. Somebody has lost a fortune, perhaps a playwright is "through" and a lot of players are out of work.

Players generally "clown" the show on the last night—even the more serious dray-man. It is their way of tossing Fate a ha-ha. After all in the stage world being jobless is merely being "at liberty."

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Indians Not Vanishing.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 30. — Indians, the original inhabitants of North America, are no longer "a vanishing race," a phrase that was coined to epitomize the tragedy of the dying out of a people that once owned a vast territory, the heart of which has become the richest country in the world under the onward movement of the white race.

The records of the Bureau of Indian Affairs of the Department of the Interior show that there are now 349,596 Indians in the United States, an increase of 16,585 over ten years ago—a percentage of increase in population over a ten-year period of approximately 4.5 per cent. The increase in numbers of the Cherokee Indians of North Carolina may be cited as especially notable, their population in 1912 being 7,914 and 11,969 according to present reports. This is an increase of more than 50 per cent in less than a decade and a half.

This condition of affairs is attributed to the efforts of the government to introduce into the homes of the Indians modern sanitary methods of living and in furnishing increased medical and hospital assistance and teaching the Indians the laws of health and sanitation.

States containing large Indian populations are Oklahoma with 120,163; Arizona, 43,950; South Dakota, 24,241; New Mexico, 22,481; California, 18,812; Minnesota, 14,300, and Montana, 13,142. There are about 38,000 Navajos in Arizona and New Mexico; over 30,000 Sioux in North and South Dakota, Montana, Nebraska and Minnesota; about 20,000 Chippewas in Minnesota, North Dakota and Wisconsin; 11,190 Pueblos in New Mexico, and in the so-called Five Civilized Tribes in Oklahoma there are approximately 101,500 enrolled members.

The Indians of the United States are not only growing in numbers, but in recent years they have made remarkable progress in agriculture and stock raising. They own livestock and poultry valued at about $30,150,000, including 300,000 horses, 161,000 cattle and 867,000 sheep. About 27,500 Indians are farming nearly 610,500 acres of land and 31,725 Indians are using 20,423,762 acres in their stock raising.

Some 206,500 Indians have received 245,531 allotments including 9,905 allotments on the public domain, totaling 40,000,000 acres of land valued at

more ICE

FACTS
This is one of the reasons why there are more Frigidaires in use than all other electric refrigerators combined. Additional reasons are covered in other advertisements.

Note how the overlapping front of the Frigidaire freezing tray completely covers the opening in the freezing compartment, providing a seal which assures lower inside temperatures and quicker freezing.

ONE reason for Frigidaire's overwhelming popularity is the fact that it freezes more ice, by actual weight, than other electric refrigerators of the same size.

The Frigidaire freezing trays are self-sealing. The white enameled fronts of the ice trays completely overlap the tray openings, thus sealing the intense cold of the frost coil within the freezing compartment. Frigidaire freezes ice quickly and solidly, regardless of room temperatures.

Long ago, Frigidaire discarded the brine tank in favor of the more efficient frost coil. The frost coil assures simpler, quicker temperature control, which is so accurate and stable that it never has to be adjusted once it has been properly set.

Frigidaire is superior in ice-freezing capacity, food storage space, low operating cost and quiet operation. Frigidaire offers unequaled sturdiness of construction and beauty of design. Frigidaire offers a permanent and thoroughly trained and established service organization. It is the only electric refrigerator guaranteed by General Motors.

INDIAN MEDICINE GIVES MACHINIST PROMPT RELIEF

He Had Kidney Trouble; Back Pained Him; Body Ached in Every Joint.

Howard Farrell, 115 Center St., Wesleyville, Penna., is a machinist at the Erie Forge & Steel Works. How he was relieved by Redwood's Tepee Tonic is best told in his own words.

"Shortly after my kidneys became deranged I could just feel myself going down hill," says Mr. Farrell. "I didn't have any appetite and what little I ate caused gas to form in my stomach. I took medicine but nothing helped me. And then came a pain in my back, accompanied by dizzy spells. My legs ached and I felt tired. I had headaches, too.

"I tried Tepee Herb Tonic and it was the best medicine I ever took. Today by kidneys are acting right and my back does not hurt me. I have a splendid appetite. No more headaches or dizzy spells. Redwood's medicine also regulated by bowels."

Redwood's Tepee Tonic is different from anything else to be found on the market. It contains upwards of fifty different kinds of valuable roots, barks and herbs. It covers a wide range of usefulness and is like several prescriptions in one. Try it if you don't feel well. It has relieved others and it will also relieve you.

Redwood's Tepee Tonic is recommended and sold by Carnahan's Drug Store in East Liverpool, and by other well stocked druggists everywhere.

ASSESSORS FILE FARM STATISTICS

The assessors of West Virginia have made a real contribution to the business life of West Virginia during the past year by the collection of agricultural statistics. These statistics are valuable in many ways by showing not only what the farmers of the state are producing but in giving an idea of what their needs will be. It is no longer necessary to wait upon the ten year census to get such figures, since the yearly census checks up on the more complete general census and makes it up-to-date all the time. Under the former conditions, the statistics were so far out of date that they were useless for most purposes.

This work of the assessors is not a new duty nor one that has required a change in the West Virginia law, but it has at various times been neglected. It received new life this year. Under the old law, some counties made an effort to collect the agricultural statistics and for such work the assessors received extra pay under the state law. When the law covering the pay of such county employes was changed in 1921, putting the assessors on a flat salary, there was no change in the section of the law pertaining to the collection of statistics. It remained one of the assessors duties, but nothing was said as to what part of the assessor's salary was for this duty. However, under a ruling of the attorney general, it was declared that the work was mandatory, although no additional pay can be allowed the assessors, since the 1921 law did away with all fees and special pay.

JUDGE LONES CALLS JURY FOR NICK SCACCUTO TRIAL

WELLSVILLE MURDER CASE DECEMBER 20

Outside Jurist Will Pass Upon Patrolman Kenney's Death.

Pastor Offers Prayer as Judge Ascends Lisbon Bench.

Calling for a panel of 75 names from which a jury will be selected to hear the trial of Nick Scaccuto, charged with the murder of Patrolman James Kenney, on last May 17, was the first official act of Judge W. F. Lones, of Wellsville, who this morning ascended the bench in common pleas court at Lisbon.

Scaccuto's trial will begin Dec. 20.

The date was set by agreement of Prosecuting Attorney R. M. Brookes and defense counsel, Attorneys George Farrell and W. B. Moore of Lisbon.

The case, it was announced, will be heard before a foreign judge. Application for an outside jurist has already been made.

An innovation in court procedure was introduced this morning when Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church, of East Liverpool, of which the presiding jurist is a member, stepped to the front of the court room as Judge Lones ascended the bench, and offered prayer.

Bouquets of flowers, complimentary to Judge Lones, were placed on the bench.

After calling for the Scaccuto jury panel, Judge Lones began to hear evidence in a divorce case.

Court Bailiff Bernard Sultner, of Lisbon, who has acted in that capacity for six years, was still on the job today. It is likely that James Stevenson, of Yellow Creek township, appointed to the bailiff post by Judge Lones, will begin his duties tomorrow.

One of the outstanding gridiron figures of the country, through his own individual attainments on the barred field and later as a coach, "Bo" McMillin, grid mentor at Geneva college, in Pennsylvania, was chief guest of the Wellsville Kiwanis club at the organization's noon luncheon meeting in the First Presbyterian church.

The affair took the form of a football meeting, with members of the high school football team, together with their coach, Earl Klinck, and faculty manager, Robert Trumbull, as guests.

McMillin is known as coach of the little team that went out to beat Harvard this season, lost by a small score to Cornell and generally established a great record.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 381 N Marcellus Avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

HYPOCRISY HIT BY REV. FRYE

Evangelist Preaches at Evangelical Church.

Denouncing hypocrisy, the cigarette habit moving picture shows and public dances, among other things, Rev. H. A. Frye, conducting revival services in the First Evangelical church, last night discussed, "The Worst Thing in Wellsville." He is scheduled to talk tonight on "The High Peak of Christian Experience."

Rev. Frye said that he is a sworn enemy against the picture show, the greatest enemy the preacher has.

"Some of you folks thought that I was going to spend the entire time preaching against the picture show as though that were the worst thing in Wellsville. However bad that may be, it is not the worst thing in Wellsville. Neither am I going to spend my time preaching against the public dance. If I did I would preach but little gospel.

"Some people thought that I was going to spend my time preaching against hypocrites. A hypocrite is so small that it takes a magnifying glass to see him. But the fellow who hides behind him is still smaller. The hypocrites are not all in the church.

"I am going to talk about the thing that makes folks hyprocrites, that makes folks run to the picture shows, that makes you want to dance.

"You will find it in Gen. 4-7 and Romans 6-23.

"'If thou doest well shalt thou not be accepted? and if thou doest not well sin lieth at the door?

"The wages of sin is death but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

"Able's offering was accepted, Cain's offering was rejected because of sin in the heart.

"He that regardeth iniquity in his heart the Lord will not hear. An offering with unconfessed sin is in vain.

"The subject of sin is an unpopular subject. But you will find that the express purpose of the gospel is to uncover sin. The preacher who preaches against sin is not popular in the church.

"The man who caters to public opinion desires the applause of men and carries on his meanness under the cloak of religion.

"Sin lies at the bottom of all evil. Jeremiah said the heart is deceitful above all things and is desperately wicked, who can know it.

"The awful sin of the cigarette habit is an astounding evil among our boys and girls.

"A father sought for a reptile in the forest. He secured it and put it in a small box, took it home and sat with his wife in the front room rejoicing that he had acquired the reptile with which he expected to make his fortune. While they were rejoicing together the little boy reached into the box and the reptile bit him. The parents heard the scream. Soon the boy died.

"How many parents say no harm in playing cards, no harm in the dance, etc. It does no good to paint the pump when the water within is poisoned.

PENNSY PAYS OUT RECORD DIVIDENDS

$8,665,000 in Checks Mailed to Stockholders.

177TH PAYMENT

First Disbursement at New Quarterly Rate.

Checks for the largest quarterly dividend disbursement in the history of the Pennsylvania Railroad company have been mailed by the company's treasury department in Philadelphia.

Totaling 185,591 in number, the checks fill 38 government mail sacks. The aggregate amount is $8,655,000. These checks comprise the first payment of dividend at the new rate of 1 3-4 per cent quarterly (equivalent to seven per cent annually) as recently declared by the board of directors. This disbursement is also the 177th dividend paid by the Pennsylvania Railroad company. It continues the company's unbroken record of paying cash return to its stockholders in every year since it was incorporated in 1848.

The preparation of the Pennsylvania's dividend checks requires the services of a special clerical force, varying in number from 20 to 100 for approximately three weeks. Each check bears the facsimile signature of the company's treasurer, H. H. Rea, and is countersigned by three assistant cashiers who use simmigraph pens, signing ten checks at one movement. The total work of signing is equivalent to 70 full days at eight hours for each man writing with an ordinary pen. Instead of postage stamps, a mail metering machine is used which seals and stamps each envelope under a correct number of the postoffice department.

This saves the company's force the work of sealing the envelopes and affixing the stamps, and the postoffice the work of canceling the stamps.

All of the checks, with the exception of those intended for foreign countries, are delivered to the postoffice in a single day. Foreign checks are sent out earlier in order to reach stockholders by November 30, the date the dividend is payable.

These quarterly dividends go to every state of the union, the island possessions of the United States, every country in Europe, all of the possessions of the British empire, and many points in Asia, Central America, South America, the West Indies and other places.

Trans-Atlantic countries, with but few exceptions, receive their checks through the Midland Bank, of London, which is the European fiscal agent of the Pennsy. These checks are drawn in dollars but are converted by the bank into sterling at the current rate of exchange.

CHARGE HALL-MILLS JURORS HAVE MADE UP MINDS

HOTEL OWNER CLAIMS VOTE WILL BE 9-3

Alleges Veniremen Talk Freely of Prejudice Against State.

ADVISES JUDGE

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 30.—Sensational charges that the Hall-Mills murder trial jury already has made up its mind, that it stands nine for acquittal and three for conviction and that it has talked freely of its prejudice against the state's case, today caused a furore in Somerville and reports were circulated that Prosecutor Alexander Simpson plans to demand a mistrial.

The charges were made by Gilbert Van Doren, owner of the Colonial hotel, where the jury is quartered. Van Doren, third largest taxpayer in Somerset county, who has lived here for 56 years, wrote a letter containing these charges to county Judge Frank L. Cleary, sitting in the case with Justice Charles W. Parker.

Van Doren, 78 years old and independently wealthy, today admitted it was he who wrote to Judge Cleary complaining of the actions of the jury. He lives at the hotel.

Three for Conviction.

He was interviewed this morning in his "office" and room on the second floor of the hotel. He is a gray-haired, gray-mustached little man, ruddy faced and wrinkled.

"I'm sorry I'm dragged into this," he said, "but now that I'm in it, I'm not going to back down. I thought I could give the information to Judge Cleary without my name getting in the newspapers.

"But what I said in the letter about the jury is right. I've been staying here at the hotel all along and could see and hear what was going on.

"Three of the jurors are for conviction. I can name them. The other nine are for acquittal. He said the jurors talked the case over loudly and freely at the hotel; that they made no secret of their prejudice against the state's case even before Mrs. Jane Gibson appeared as a witness; that after she appeared, he repeatedly heard her referred to as "liar," that he heard the jurors make such statements as "Simpson and his Hudson county officers have come to Somerset county to show us how to run things, but they won't get away with it."

Ready To Tell Story.

Van Doren declared he wrote to Judge Cleary because he thought it was his duty to do as a citizen who did not want a stain cast on the name of Somerset county, that he "wouldn't take the stand for $10,000," but that he will take the stand and tell what he knows if he is requested to do so.

"Why you couldn't help hearing what the jury was saying around this hotel," Van Doren said. "They leave their doors wide open. There are twenty to twenty-five roomers stopping here all the time.

"I've talked and jollied with the jurors. They have no compunction in talking with me. Why, I know eleven of the twelve jurors." I was joking with one of them the other day. I said: 'Well, soon you'll be locked up for three or four days and you'll have to pay for your own feed.' The jurors laughter and replied: 'Don't kid yourself, we won't be in there twenty minutes.' "

Van Doren was disturbed this morning because he had been drawn into the case. He said he has been under the care of a doctor and dislikes the idea of perhaps having to testify in court.

"If Simpson subpoenas me, I'll go and testify," he said. "And if he does, I'll give him the name of one of the constables in charge of the jury who sits in here and talks about the case right along."

Detectives Obtain Affidavits.

It is reported that Prosecutor Simpson plans a move for a mistrial, either today or tomorrow. If he makes such a motion, he will allege improprieties in connection with the conduct of the jury.

Simpson said today that for several days, defectives for the prosecution have been obtaining affidavits tending to show that several members of the jury have not been paying proper attention to the evidence, and that one of the jurors fell asleep during the testimony of Mrs. Jane Gibson.

When Simpson came into the court room this morning he would not discuss his plans regarding a motion for a mistrial. It was learned, however, that his assistants are actively seeking evidence regarding the jury and that one matter being investigated is a report that a Somerville minister called one of the jurors aside the other day and talked to him for five minutes.

Attorneys for the defense indicated their surprise at the turn of developments. Timothy N. Pfeiffer, of defense counsel, said that in the event of a mistrial, the defense would plead, at the opening of a new trial, that their clients "have been placed in former jeopardy," and move that the new trial be dismissed.

stupid immigration laws and have more people here? Farmers vote to keep out the sort of immigration to which this country owes everything. And then the farmers weep because they have surplus products. They will weep more if Europe organizes a boycott against the United States trade.

IF SENATOR BORAH, head of foreign relations in the senate, thinks Europe is planning a United States boycott, the Mexican situation should interest him. Luckily, American republics do not owe us any billions. It should be possible to keep friendly with them and refrain from bullying them.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Gains and losses in the industrial stocks were evenly distributed in the early trading in the stock market today. Rallies in the speculative leaders at the opening of the market were fortified behind a 5¼ per cent call loan renewal rate and a symposium on general business conditions by industrial leaders which indicated a decline in the volume of 1927 national business.

Selling ex-dividend 1¾ per cent, U. S. Steel declined to 146 against yesterday's high level of 150¾, while Baldwin at 153½ showed a loss of 6 points and General Motors sold heavily around 138. This display of weakness by the market leaders encouraged the bears to redouble their efforts for lower prices, since the path of least resistance was downward.

Hall-Mills Case

he "didn't know how you got on the stand."

Joseph A. Faurot, famous fingerprint expert, was recalled when Dr. Cooper left the stand. Simpson handed him three enlargements of "S-17." Faurot pointed out to the jury the points on the card which did not appear in the huge defense enlargement."

On cross-examination Robert H. McCarter of the defense asked Faurot if it was not a fact that the "distortion" he referred to "arises from the fact that when a picture is enlarged, the rays cause a certain obscurity or failure of brilliancy at the outside which is not true in the centre?"

Faurot said "yes." Faurot admitted that the distortion he pointed out in the defense's exhibit was on the outside, not in center.

Fred Drewen, fingerprint expert of Jersey City, followed Faurot on the stand. Drewen also pointed out "distortions" on the defense's enlarged fingerprint pictures.

Drewen was excused from the stand and court was adjourned for luncheon.

Handwriting Expert Called.

August Hartkorn, handwriting expert and "examiner of questioned documents" was recalled to the stand at the opening of the trial. Hartkorn, a state rebuttal witness, had examined the diary of Henry Stevens' and had testified that in his opinion three pencils were used to make notations under the date of September 14, 1922.

That the date of the double murders Henry Stevens' alibi is that he was fishing at his home in Lavallette, N. J., that night and the notations in the diary had corroborated Stevens' claim.

Before Hartkorn took the stand Prosecutor Simpson asked if he could place a dozen or so characer witnesses on the stand before Hartkorn continued his testimony. He said these witnesses were from out of town and wanted to get away as soon as possible.

The court asked if that procedure was agreeable to the defense.

"No, your honor," said Robert H. McCarter of the defense, "we want to proceed in the regular way."

Hartkorn was then called.

Testimony on Diary.

Hartkorn testified he was present when a photograph of the fingerprint on "S-17," the card found near the bodies of Rev. Hall and Mrs. Mills, was taken. The state alleges the print is that of the left index finger of Willie Stevens. Hartkorn said he found the initials "I. H. S." in the lower right hand corner of the card. He was asked if they were the initials of Edward H. Schwartz, fingerprint expert of Newark, and he replied that he didn't know.

Simpson then turned him over to McCarter for cross-examination.

McCarter handed Hartkorn, Henry Stevens' diary.

"I understand you said yesterday that the entry on September 14, 1922, reading "art 1 blue 6 lbs.," was made with another pencil? McCarter said "Yes."

"What do you base that opinion on?"

"Because it is made with a softer lead."

Hartkorn testified that in his opinion Henry's entry of the 14th was intended originally for the 15th, because of a line being drawn under it to separate the two dates. He was then excused.

Dr. Walter Madde, former mayor of Trenton, N. J., testified that he knew Mrs. Jane Gibson from 1911 to 1914. He said her reputation for veracity was "fine." Defense witnesses had testified her reputation for veracity was "bad."

Maine Victory Gives G. O. P. Margin of One In Senate

By George R. Holmes.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Election of Arthur R. Gould as Republican senator from Maine means that the Republican party will be able to organize the senate of the seventieth congress by the narrow margin of a single vote.

Actually, however, the Republican victory in Maine means very little, if anything, insofar as actual or working control of the next senate is concerned.

The line-up stands today:

Republicans—48.

Democrats—47.

Farmer-Labor—1.

Actual control, if any, rests more with the Democrats than with the Republicans, despite the figures, for included in the Republican total of 48 are fully a dozen senators who as often vote with the Democrats as against them. There are perhaps half a dozen who vote oftener against the administration than with it. This is particularly true on any legislation that by any stretch of imagination may be termed "progressive."

LaFolette and Blaine in Wisconsin, Frazier and Nye in North Dakota, Norris and Howell in Nebraska, John in California, Norbeck and McMaster in South Dakota, Borah in Idaho, Couzens in Michigan—they are empervious and contemptuous of party discipline and the party whip. They vote with the Republicans on organization matters, but on legislation they are independent.

Klan is Defeated.

AUGUSTA, Me., Nov. 30.—Maine has shaken off the cloak of the Ku Klux Klan and has assured retention of Republican control of the United States senate.

These two facts, political observers said, stood forth today as the result of the election of Arthur R. Gould, business man, of Presque Isle, a Republican, to the United States senate over Fulton J. Redman, Democrat, a lawyer, of Ellsworth, by a majority of about 50,000 votes.

First a cigar salesman, then a potato farmer, a builder of railroads, a lumberman, a pioneer in the great north country of Aroostook—Maine's vast potato belt—Gould entered politics practically unknown, except to his friends and business associates. He was repudiated by the governor of Maine, a Republican, because he and his friends were alleged to have exceeded the legal campaign expenditure allowance—a question disapproved by a state probe but yet to come before Senator Reed's campaign fund investigators. He was denounced by the K. K. K. and it was stated that the Klan had thrown its support to Redman.

But the 70-year-old millionaire in spite of his opposition swept every county in the state. It was the deathknell of the Klan as a political factor in Maine, said political experts.

Saturday night, but that the news is being suppressed; also that the Roumanian minister of war, M. Mircescu, is expected to leave Roumania tomorrow "for a trip abroad." His trip is believed to have a double motive: First, to give Premier Averescu an opportunity to take charge of the Roumanian army as temporary minister of war, to prepare against a possible forthcoming revolution, and second, to permit M. Mircescu to personally take charge of the Roumanian intelligence service abroad as a guaranty that former Crown Prince Carol will not be able to return to Roumania, as it is suspected he intends to do—perhaps in the returning retinue of Queen Marie who arrives in Paris today.

The Roumanian newspapers today contained no news concerning King Ferdinand's condition, except for the favorable official communiques issued by the government, and which the majority of the populace believes to be untrue.

The government has informed the editors and proprietors of newspapers that confiscation will immediately follow the publication of any item concerning the king's health or the question of succession to the throne, other than the news contained in the official bulletins.

Premier Averescu is reported to be trying to get the peasants' party leaders to forsake their support of Prince Carol's cause and to accept the government's solution of the question of succession to the throne.

Stars in "La Boheme" at American Theatre.

Has Lillian Gish, star of many roles, found the ideal one—her supreme contribution to the art of the screen?

Many people say so, after having seen her Mimi in "La Boheme." Never before did role fit artist, and artist fit role, so ideally as Lillian Gish and the character of the little wistful waif of the Latin Quarter, in the quaint romance now playing at the American theater.

"La Boheme" is known and loved by millions; Lillian Gish is famous wherever the motion picture is shown. Her roles have been many and varied; she was a southern rose in "The Birth of a Nation," a quaint Yankee maid in "Way Down East," a little beaten waif of Limehouse in "Broken Blossoms," and a French revolutionary heroine in "Orphans of the Storm." An ethereal nun in "The White Sister," and an aristocratic mediaeval maid in "Romola"—she has played practically every type of womanhood.

But the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production potrays her in a role that she seems literally to live and breathe; she does not act Mimi—she veritably IS Mimi! Her delicate romance; her glorious faith and her wonderful love for her poet, her wistful appeal—she is veritably the embodiment of the soul of woman.

A notable cast was directed by King Vidor in the new picture, Miss Gish's first American-made play in some years. John Gilbert, as the poet Rodolphe, reaches the heights of genius opposite Miss Gish, and Roy D'Arcy repeats his triumphs in "The Merry Widow" as the suave boulevardier, who represents all the hero's jealous fears.

Renee Andoree makes a charming Musetta, while Gino Corrado, Edward Everett Horton and George Hassell are a lovable trio of Bohemians in the quaint French quarter.

The cast is an ideal setting for the star—both are perfect in the famous romance of the art quarter.

It is a picture ever to be remembered.

FIGHT PLAN TO POSTPONE M'DERMOTT CASE

Hint Delay in Trial of Alleged Mellett Slayer.

LAWYER TO QUIT

Cleveland Men Testify at Canton Grand Jury Session.

CANTON, O., Nov. 30.—E. L. Mills, counsel for Pat McDermott, notified Judge E. W. Diehl this morning that he will not withdraw as Pat's counsel, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. This indicates there will be no change in the plans to try McDermott for first degree murder indictment next Monday.

CANTON, O., Nov. 30.—Every effort will be made by Prosecutor C. B. McClintock to prevent postponement of the trial of Pat McDermott, first of the trio of men indicted for the slaying of Don Mellett, Canton publisher, when the case is called in common pleas court here December 6, McClintock declared today.

The prosecutor announced he will have E. L. Mills, counsel for McDermott, summoned into court today if possible, to ascertain the truth of reports that Mills plans to withdraw as McDermott's counsel. Such a step, if not announced soon, might result in newly appointed counsel for McDermott obtaining a postponement on the grounds they had not had sufficient time to prepare a defense.

Ben Nadel, Cleveland bootlegger, was scheduled to appear before the reconvened grand jury today, as the Mellett murder probe continued. His associate, Dan Pfaff, testified before the probers yesterday.

Included in the witnesses who were to testify today were Mrs. Don R. Mellett, widow of the publisher, and her sister-in law, Mrs. Lloyd Mellett. It was reported that several witnesses yesterday identified McDermott as the man seen hanging around in the vicinity of the Mellett home on the day before the slaying. Efforts were to be made by the prosecutor today to establish Nadel as the man seen shadowing Mellett at the Molly Stark club on the night of July 15, just prior to the killing.

D. W. DAVIS, 75, SALEM, DIES

Demarst W. Davis, 75, member of the draft board in district No. 2 of Columbiana county during the World War and a leader in the Republican party in the county, died in his home on the Salem-Damascus road, near Salem, yesterday following a several weeks' illness of heart disease. He is survived by his widow and one brother, D. L. Davis of Salem.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday afternoon, in charge of the Knight Templars. Burial will be made in the Grandview Burial Park at Salem.

DEATH ROLL

McLane Funeral Services.

Funeral services for Mrs. Adeline McLane, lifelong resident of Columbiana county, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home, 307 Jefferson street, in charge of Rev. L. J. Davison, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church. Burial will be made in the Calcutta United Presbyterian cemetery.

Friends can view the body tonight.

TWO MORE AUTOS STOLEN HERE

Two automobiles were reported stolen here last night. One was later recovered.

William H. Frank, 513 Monroe street, left his Studebaker roadster parked on Fifth street near the Elks' club and when he returned for it the car was gone. Captain Conley located the car on Broadway where it had been abandoned.

The other machine, a 1923 Ford coupe, owned by C. H. Nickle, Hookstown, was stolen from its parking place on East Fourth street while Nickle was attending a motion picture show. It carried Pennsylvania license C-2924.

Annexation O. K.

Chairman Conrad Berg joined with Kelly and Bye in supporting it upon roll call by Clerk L. H. Johnson.

The city council has already appropriated $25,000 from the water works fund for the extension of water mains to the new territory and another $25,000 is available should it be needed. Pipe for the work has been ordered and the improvement will be started early in the spring. In addition to city water service, residents of the territory will receive fire and police protection and street lights. The city probably will employ a motorcycle policeman to patrol suburban territory.

No Appeal From Decision.

Opponents of annexation have no appeal from the decision of the commissioners. Township trustees opposed the move because revenue for road work will be reduced.

The new territory will add no small sum to the municipality's tax duplicate. Taxes from the new districts will not be received by the city until December, 1927, County Treasurer Jo Pike said today. The tax books which go out tomorrow are based on returns made on tax listing day which was April 11, this year.

The annexation application was one of the first acts of the planning commission after the appointment of that body had been authorized, by council upon recommendation of Mayor Benedum. The commission outlined the territory to be added to the city, their plans being approved by council, which enacted the necessary legislation.

ROTARY PLANS YULE PARTY

Crippled Children Will be Guests December 21.

Plans for the annual Christmas party which members of the Rotary club will tender crippled children on Tuesday, December 21, were discussed at today's noon luncheon at the Y. M. C. A.

A committee consisting of Dr. Frank G. Fowler, chairman; D. M. Ogilvie, Frank Campbell, Leon Rubin, J. Donald Thompson and Charles Bowman were named to make arrangements for the entertainment which will be featured at the Christmas week meeting.

About 50 members and their guests attended today's meeting. H. P. Vincent, official at the R. Thomas & Son's plant, was among the guests. The singing was led by T. E. Lewis with Mrs. Danks Cochran as accompanist.

Leon Rubin will be chairman of next week's luncheon, at which the boys' work committee's activities will be called to the club's attention. Richard Victor will be the speaker.

W. F. Bailey presided today. The speaker was Captain H. N. Wood, Youngstown representative of the Pennsylvania-Ohio Electric company, whose subject was "Public Utilities and the Community." Captain Wood declared that East Liverpool, occupying a position on the river, rich in coal deposits and other resources, was the center of a power generating district second to none in the United States. He discussed the part which public utilities, such as power, telephones, street cars and railroads, play in the growth of any community.

$500,000,000. There remains to be allotted approximately 118,500 Indians with unallotted lands of about 35,000,000 acres valued at $69,500,000. Eighty-five per cent of the Indians of the Five Civilized Tribes are no longer under the jurisdiction of the Indian Bureau, and about 30,000 others have received patents in fee and are free to dispose of their lands as they see fit. Thus practically one-third of the Indians of the United States are no longer wards of the government.

Interior Department Report.

Such are some of the figures from an Interior Department report or document just issued by way of answer to current misinformation and misrepresentation about the American Indian and the administration of his affairs by the government. This publication affords interesting reading to sentimentalists who have been prone to commiserate with "Lo, the poor Indian" without being sure of their reasons for so doing, for it tells the authentic and revealing story of how Uncle Sam has handled the Indian problem since the Indian Bureau was created in 1824 as a division of the War Department, to be transferred a quarter of a century later to the Department of the Interior when that department was established.

There are now on the statute books about 370 Indian treaties and 2,000 laws relating to Indian affairs. The first treaty between the United States and an Indian tribe was made with the Delaware Indians on September 17, 1778. No treaties have been made with Indian tribes since the passage by congress of the act of March 3, 1871, which was based on the theory that the federal government can not recognize an independent nation or sovereignty existing within the boundaries of its own territory.

The question of citizenship of Indians was long a vexed one. Indians allotted under the General Allotment Act of 1887 became citizens of the United States, but there have been a number of other acts on this subject, culminating in that of 1919, which provided that Indian soldiers and sailors who served in the World war could be granted citizenship by courts of competent jurisdiction, and that of 1924 which declared all Indians born within the territorial limits of the United States to be citizens, provided that the granting of such citizenship should not impair or affect the right of any Indian to tribal or other property. Prior to the passage of this last act about two-thirds of the Indians were citizens.

The total Indian property of all kinds in the United States is now valued at more than $1,500,000,000. There are approximately 40,000 Indian families living in permanent homes, it is stated, and nearly 10,000 families still living in tents, teepees and wickiups.

Perhaps no phase of the story of what the government has done for the Indian is more interesting or more important than that which shows the reduction of the death rate of Indians from 32.24 per thousand in 1913 to 21.84 per thousand in 1924. The first hospital among the Indians was established in 1832 and in 1900 there were but five such hospitals. In 1925 there were 82, including sanatoria, school, agency and general hospitals, which gave medical treatment to over 27,600 Indians.

There are about 180 physicians on the reservations, 135 nurses and 40 field matrons, and in addition there are seven traveling dentists, and also eye, ear, nose and threat specialists.

What the government has done for the Indian in an educational way dates from an appropriation by the Continental Congress in 1775 of $500 for the schooling of Indian youth at Dartmouth college and has expended until now about $6,000,000 is expended annually in the instruction of 67,000 Indian children. Indian schools were among the first in the country to furnish medical and dental service and require the weighing of children at stated intervals, as well as to give each child careful physical examination with a view of taking careful preventive measures to avoid disease.

Indians made a brilliant war record during the late embroglio that almost wrecked the world. There were 10,000 of them in the army and 2,000 in the navy. Some 10,000 Indian members of the Red Cross made more than 100,000 garments and sent more than 500 Christmas boxes overseas, and in all the Indians of the country bought $25,000,000 of government bonds.

Illustrative of what Indian fighting men did may be noted the Croix de Guerre citation of Private Joseph Oklahombi, a full-blood Choctaw, which tells that he "rushed on machine gun nests, capturing 171 prisoners; stormed a strongly held position containing more than 50 machine guns and mortars; turned the captured guns on the enemy; held the position for four days in spite of constant barrage of large projectiles and gas shells, and crossed No Man's Land many times to get information concerning the enemy and to assist his wounded comrades."

One phase of the Indian problem is still serious—keeping fire-water away from them. Despite federal prohibition of all liquor traffic it is still necessary for congress to appropriate $22,000 to suppress the traffic among the Indians yearly. That, however, is far less proportionately than its costs to "suppress" the traffic among the whites of the country.

A man from Nebraska tel's this: "For three nights I was kept awake by a bothersome persistent cough, and so were others of the family; and I felt no better for that. YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

Hurry, Mother! Remove poisons from little stomach, liver, bowels

Give "California Fig Syrup" if cross, bilious or feverish

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that the little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless, "fruity laxative" because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup;" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

COLOR, CHARM IN ROSE-MARIE

Hammerstein Success Comes to Ceramic on December 7.

There is an abundance of color, charm, sensational dancing and delightful melody with a background of a real plot in "Rose-Marie" that most spectacular of all musical plays that Arthur Hammerstein is sending to the Ceramic theatre for one day only, Tuesday, December 7.

"Rose-Marie" claims to have all the elements which go to make up the best in musical comedy in rather generous proportions. The costumes are designed with a rare sense of graceful lines and color impressions; any number of graceful girls and clever dances appear in any number of ensembles; the scenic treatment is beautiful to the eye while the comedy and amazing dancing is eagerly approved by the audience.

"Rose-Marie" depends on no one thing to entertain an audience for it has comedy, farce, melodrama and extravaganza all so closely woven together that there is never a moment when the play drags; it is all kaildeoscopic action. Tell me, if you can, where you have found this before?

Roudolf Friml and Herbert Stothart have written many glorious scores before but there is real inspiration in "The Indian Love Call." "Rose Marie," the song of "The Mounties," "The Door of My Dreams" and the other numbers that we too soldom hear in the modern theatre, but the overwhelming patronage that has attended "Rose-Marie" shows that there is a vast patronage thirsting for something in the theatre other than medicore airs and the jazz variety.

Arthur, like his illustrious father, Oscar Hammerstein, gets his inspiration from music and contends that music should be sung properly and understandingly to inspire, in turn, the audience—that is why he has chosen the best from the five "Rose-Maries" of last season." In the cast is Ethel Louise Wright, Paul Donah, Grace Wells, Charles Meakins, Peggy Pates, Houston Richards, Frank Harrington, Karyl Kunkel, James Moore, Neil Moore and over ninety others including a symphony orchestra.

FOR Sour Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Hereafter instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug-store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

MENJOU SCORES IN "CAD ACE"

King of Sophisticated Comedy at Ceramic Theatre.

"The King of Main Street," "The Grand Duchess and the Waiter," "A Social Celebrity" and now—"The Ace of Cads." Every one of them a long time coming but each well worth waiting for! Why? Because of Adolphe Menjou, king of sophisticated comedy and newly appointed "Ace of Cads."

Adapted by Forrest Halsey from Michael Arlen's story, "The Ace of Cads" arrived at the Ceramic theatre on yesterday to the accompaniment of audible "ohs" and "ahs." The picture is noteworthy because—

It serves as Luther Reed's first directorial assignment. Paramount is lucky to have recognized this "comer" before any of its competitors.

Performances of all the players, Alice Joyce, Norman Trevor, Philip Strange and Suzanne Fleming included, are far above par. Miss Fleming, said to have been discovered by Menjou himself, joins the ranks of Ziegfield girls on their way to screen eminence.

The story as it has been handled, is a thing of absorbing interest. Colorful to an extreme, the action covers a period from 1906 to the present year. Scenes take place against backgrounds provided by Paris, London, the World war and an English Guards regiment.

Briefly, "The Ace of Cads" was a man who had one great love. The passage of time, the frailty of human nature or the horror of poverty could not kill it. Imagine this if you will, and then think of Menjou as the lover. Superb—that's the word!

HINDES TO LEAD CHESTER HIGH

Star Tackle is Elected 1927 Football Captain.

Richard Hindes, junior, will lead the Purple and Gold scholastic eleven of Chester on the gridiron next fall.

Hindes was elected captain of the 1927 outfit last night at the team's banquet in the Masonic temple, Chester.

The vote was unanimous. Hindes plays a tackle position on the team and if opposing linemen were called upon to testify they would say that he plays it mighty well.

ALL-AMERICAN GRID CANDIDATES

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

For the third year in succession the powerful eleven of Alabama University is sitting on top of the southern football world. And "Red" Brown, wild running, triple-threat fullback of the Alabama team, has been one of the outstanding members of the team.

BOERINGER

Brown helped his team run up a total of 209 points against the opposition for the season—which included Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech, Sewanee, Louisiana State, Miss. A. M., Kentucky and Florida. And he played an important part in the defensive play of the team, which held its opponents to two touchdowns for the year. Vanderbilt and the Mississippi A. and M. team each crossed Alabama's goal line once.

Boeringer, center of Knute Rockne's powerful Notre Dame eleven, makes a bid for All-American honors, following in the footsteps of Adam Walsh of '24 and other great ball passers the South Bend team has had.

Boeringer is not only a powerful offensive man but has uncanny ability in breaking through the opposing line to "mess up" plays before the opposing backfield gets well under way.

College Reformers Would Ban Barbaric Yells at Grid Games

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 30.—A movement has been started by the Butler Collegian, the daily student paper at Butler college here to take the blood and thunder out of college rooting.

"Blood must Cease to Flow!" was the title of an editorial appearing in the Collegian. It required whether it was befitting for intelligent and civilized young Americans to wildly demand that their team render its opponents limb from limb.

The editorial follows:

"What would a football game be without organized cheering? Pepless, dry, and certainly most uninteresting. Many followers of the great American game proclaim that cheering is one of the chief factors that make college football and other athletic contests much more peppy than any professional game could ever hope to be.

"At the same time we surely should use some discretion when choosing our yells. Is "Jerk a leg off, jerk an arm off, rah, rah, rah," an appropriate yell for a school that is composed of supposedly highly intellectual eds and co-eds? Hardly. It sounds more like a yell that barbarians, uncivilized humans, living in the wilderness would give.

"Let us hope that in the future the cheering section of Butler will root for the team with as much vim and vigor as in the past, but with some thought as to their utterances."

BISONS LOSE STAR QUARTET

Carey, Neel, Kinsey and Shives Play Last Game.

BETHANY, W. Va., Nov. 30.—It was a fighting Bethany college football team which was forced to bow to the Geneva college Covenanters last Saturday at Beaver Falls. Going into the game minus the services of two regular men, and with mud a foot thick facing them, the Green and White gridders, with the Tri-State conference championship at stake, were defeated, 20-0. However, those closely observing the innerworks of the Bison backfield, could easily see that Geneva got all the breaks, especially those which were responsible for the first two touchdowns, as the Bethany machine worked wonders after the first quarter.

At the end of the first half, Bethany had made 13 first downs to four for Geneva, proving that the West Virginians outplayed their Pennsylvania rivals during the second quarter. The game marked the last one for Captain Carey, Hump Neel, Earl Kinsey and Chauncey Shives, all of whom will leave lasting impressions as football heroes on the books of Bethany college gridiron history.

Around Carl Hamill, Dale Fiers, and Bobby Stobbs in the backfield, and Gilgen, Price, Fickley, Hagberg, Burwell, Griffith and Tinson in the line, Coach Nuss will build his 1927 eleven. Jack Hamill, Wheeling boy and brother of Carl, was lost to this year's team just prior to the opening contest, and from him too, big things are looked for next fall.

After two weeks' rest, the Bethany athletes will turn to basketball, in which sport Coach Nuss is looking forward to a great season. Captain Beckwith, Carey, Hanna, Tinson, Ryan, Neel, Hamill, Jaycox, and Segiel are left from last year's varsity and with the addition of several new men, the season should undoubtedly be successful.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Capitulating to the annual impulse, the writer today has selected an All-American football team for the season of 1926, and, in all due modesty, he cannot resist the conviction that it is truly representative of all the virtues and few, if any, foibles of our modern eleven.

Forward passing, in spite of legislative efforts to the contrary, was the scul of all versatile attacks this year. The team has the two greatest of the day and age, Winslett, of Alabama, and Friedman, of Michigan.

Pass catchers? Hanson, of Syracuse, is a genius, the equal of Oosterbaan, of Michigan, in this department and his superior in all others, while Friedman, Harry Wilson, of the Army, and Kaer, of Southern California, are almost equally adept.

Open field runners? They don't often come as good as Wilson and Kaer. Line cracking? Joesting, that's all. Generalship? Benny, where art thou?

Don't Need Punter.

It would be difficult to believe that such an attack could be detained even temporarily but if that remote supposition became finite, either Friedman or Wilson could and would oblige with a field goal. They also would be available for the point after touchdown, which reached the maximum of its importance this year. There is no outstanding punter on this team, but if you think the boys would need one, that's your mistake, not mine.

As for the defense, that well may be left in the capable hands of such as Boeringer, the roving center; Friedman, the star safety man; Joesting, a fine man behind the line, and the two tackling ends, Hanson and Winslett.

The latter are the most versatile pair of wings football has known since Brick Mueller's day. They, therefore, got the nomination over Shipkey, Broda, Oosterbaan, Hubbard, Bacchus, Lindenmeyer, Missouri, and Wheeler, Minnesota, everything else being equal. As far as the writer was concerned, Oosterbaan's bland indifference in the Navy game ruined his prospects.

Tackles are Good.

Wickhorst was a fine offensive and defense tackle all season and his single lapse in the Army game was to be expected since none of us are 100 per cent. Stiner just about carried the Nebraska team and it was quite an outfit, at that. Yoder was little, if any, behind either of the first two and Dixon and Cothran, of Lafayette, were unusually good. Cothran, however, was banished from the squad for his final game and so gives place to the next best who happen to be Kivorkian and Raskowski. It was a question, and still is, as to whether either man has anything on Sprague, of the Army; Lassman, of N. Y. U.; Nelson, of Iowa; Johnson, of Northwestern; Mancat, of Colgate; Pickharl, of Alabama; Eddy, of the Navy, or several others of equal rank.

The guards were extremely difficult of selection, once one progressed beyond Smith, who was the most efficient workman the position has known in several seasons. Hess, of Ohio State, was a hot choice last year but those who saw both in action declare Shively to be the better man. Connaughton attracted great attention because of his size and speed. He tore the Navy apart but some of his late games were not so impressive. Sturhahn, of Yale, played magnificently with a losing team; Mayer was consistently good and so was Swan. Lovette, Michigan; Taylor, Southern California, and Carey, Cornell, were also among the outstanding candidates.

Backs Plentiful.

Boeringer was the centre of the year with no rival very close. The nearest approach was effected by Cravath with Butler in third position, although Reitsch, of Illinois, depreciated the latter's standing considerably Daly, of the Army, was good but didn't carry the matter to extremes. Bettencourt, St. Mary's, and Craine, Marquette, were well beyond the average, too.

There can be little argument on the first team backfield but plenty on those of the second and third teams. Men like Weston, Boston College; Flanagan, Notre Dame; Wilcox, Purdue; Hyland, Stanford; Kirkleskie, Lafayette; Murrell and Cagle, Army; Hamilton, Navy; Kutsch, Iowa; Morton, Georgia; Slagle, Princeton; Lewis, Northwestern; Brown, Alabama, and Daugherty, Illinois, among others, were so efficient that it seems like cruelty to undergraduates to leave them unmentioned. Slagle was one of the great backs of the country for a comparative few minutes this season. But that was all he played during the campaign and one teror voice never made a quartet.

M'ALLISTER NEXT PILOT?

Mentioned as Possible Successor to Speaker.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 30.—If public sentiment, dope and all the other elements which habitually attend a baseball discussion have anything to do with the decision, Jack McAllister, of Marietta, assistant manager of the Cleveland Indians will succeed Tris Speaker, who resigned yesterday.

The hot stove boys were disseminating hot tips here today that "Happy" Jack, scout, coach and assistant manager for 12 years, would step into the versatile shoes of the famous Texan who has decided to "enter trade."

I've got a half-nelson on jimmy-pipe joy

I TOOK P. A. for better or worse . . . and found it better! Better than anything I had ever smoked. That's my story and I'm going to stick to it. When siren-brands try to flirt, I just give them the icy stare. I know what I like in a pipe, and what I like is Prince Albert!

The instant you break the seal on the tidy red tin and get that wonderful fragrance of real tobacco, you know you are in for a pipe-treat. Your mouth fairly waters for a taste of tobacco that smells as good as that. Then you load up and light up—ah! . . .

Cool. Sweet. Fragrant. Old words, I'll admit, but you get a brand-new idea of how much they can mean in a pipe-bowl packed with P. A. Maybe you've always thought such pipe-pleasure was "just around the corner." Try a load of Prince Albert and turn that corner!

Get a half-nelson on the pipe-joy that's due you. Before you do another thing, buy a tin of Prince Albert and tuck a neat wad into your pipe. Notice how mild it is, yet how delightfully full-bodied. Here's a smoke that you can pal around with, morning to midnight.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

Muskingum Objects To 'Set-Up' Claims

Conference Champs Assert They Didn't Pick on All The Easy Ones; Played With Kenyon, Heidelberg and Denison, Teams Which Beat Them Previous Year.

By Stanley D. Koch.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 30.—With the last dying embers of the 1926 Ohio conference football season turning into drab ashes, there only remains the eulogy.

Muskingum won the title, with an undefeated record. But there are those dismayed adherents of other lost causes who will point to the record of the Muskies and claim that all their opponents were weak. It is true that the Magenta didn't hook up with Oberlin, Wooster, Mt. Union, Ohio Wesleyan, Wittenberg or Ohio university.

But they did play Kenyon, who had defeated them, 27-0, the year before; Denison, who won 12-0, and Heidelberg who held a 14-7 victory from 1925. Therefore, as far as Coach Lang's eleven is concerned, its schedule included three opponents before whom the Muskingum team had fallen in the previous year. And over all three, the Muskies triumphed. This hardly serves to indicate that the New Concord outfit went out after easy games only.

Oberlin's staggering defeat at the hands of Miami revealed the first lose by the Bicyclists since 1923. Some of the best Oberlin alibi artists have concluded that the off-week prior to the Miami game did its work and strenuous efforts are being made to have no off-weeks in the 1927 schedule. Of course, the Congregationalists redeemed themselves, when a week later they upset the hitherto undefeated Wooster Juggernaut and removed its jugger to a 6-0 tune. That game was like almost every other hard game for the Red and Gold. One little break, one score and the Oberlin defense tightened to a point of impenetrability. Oberlin had a great eleven again this year.

Wooster, apparently unbeatable, bumped into catastrophe in the Oberlin game and wasn't able to resuscitate itself on time to avert a second disaster at the hands of the up-and doing Mt. Unionists. The Purple came down like the wolves on the fold and kept the Woosterites on the run all the time. That victory, the first for Mt. Union since time immemorial, was a glowing tribute to Coach Johnny Thorpe, who with mediocre material, except Captain Lamar Armstrong, developed a neat eleven.

On the other hand, Ohio Wesleyan was a disappointment. The battling Bishops dropped a bad game to Wooster, were tied by Ohio and barely nosed out Wittenberg and Western Reserve. The last three games were thrillers for Wittenberg. The first was lost by one point to Wesleyan, then Cincinnati was defeated by a two point margin and Ohio by a 7-6 score.

As for the Ohio eleven, the boys from Athens were strong except at both ends of the schedule. Akron defeated the Green nad White, 20, in the first conference game, and Wittenberg won the 7-6 game as the finale. All the others, except or including the 0-0 tie with Wesleyan went on the right side of the ledger.

One of the biggest tragedies of the race was the miserable failure of the Western Reserve team, heralded as being the best of the league under the tutelage of Gordon L. Locke, the pioneer mentor found fraternity politics, time-worn conventions and a general apathetic condition preventing Reserve from gaining its real stride. He had no forward passer and the backs seemingly would provide interference for a few of their mates but not for others.

While zealously fighting a blaze, the volunteer fire department of Bulkington, England, drained the village pond and left the fish floundering in the mude.

CHRYSLER PIN SQUAD IN FORM

Set High Marks in Beating Smith News Five.

Smith News and Chryslers set a few league marks for the rest of the crowd to shoot at in their duckpin battle last night at the Liberty alleys. The Smith News gang shot a total score of 1,934, which was good, but not good enough to stand up with the 2,117 score registered by the Chryslers. The auto outfit took all three games.

As a result of the exhibition, the Chryslers now hold the league record for high three-game series—2,117; high single game—747, and Welch tops the loop with high single game performance of 218. These figures, along with Johnny Green's 563 for three-game series, will keep the league marksmen busy for a while.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions.
"Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

When the clubhead is started away from the ball with the hands the clubhead will trail behind the hands just slightly, until the weight of the clubhead gets into motion, at which time it immediately catches up with the hands. Then it should stay largely even with the hands all the way back, and it will if you continue to propel it with the hands and arms. When the hands cease to direct the clubhead and the body steps in and seeks to do it, you readily accumulate a feeling of tightness and rigidity about the arms and shoulders, which is bad for the golf swing. This happens because the body, seeking to shove the club back, causes the arms and hands to cease all efforts with the club so that they hang lifeless and having nothing else to do they become stiff and rigid.

Write Your Name In Book of Life, Urges Dr. O. A. Newlin

First United Presbyterian Church Evangelist Calls for Genuine Repentance in Sermon, "Source of Permanent Joy."

"Unless your name is written in the Book of Life as the result of genuine repentance of your sins you will not mingle with the redeemed that have gone on before," declared Rev. O. A. Newlin, Winona Lake, Ind., evangelist at the First United Presbyterian revival last evening. His subject was "The Source of Permanent Joy."

Despite the inclement night a good-sized audience was in attendance. The invocation was made by Dr. F. A. Dean, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, and the benediction was given by Rev. E. E. Lashley, pastor of the Newell Presbyterian church. In attendance also was Dr. Frank Fowler, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

The song service, before and after the discourse of the visiting minister, was in charge of Prof. John C. Ussher, of Emsworth, Pa.

Rev. Mr. Newlin, commenting as he read the Scripture lesson anent the storm that buffeted Christ and his disciples as they crossed the sea of Tiberias remarked the striking detail of Mark's narrative of the incident as compared to Luke and Mathew's version of it. "All save four of the chapters of Mark begin with the word 'And,'" he said. "He was particularly given to the use of the word straightway.' He gives the information that 'other little ships' accompanied that in which Jesus rode. And these as the storm was stilled were likewise saved from dangers. So we in our perplexities are not the only ones in like dilemmas. As they we frequently benefit from good that come to those about. So prayer frequently, though unheard by us, contributes to our good."

The subject of Rev. Mr. Newlin's discourse at tonight's service will be: "The Pearl of Parables."

That God uses a book in which are written the names of those who repent of their sins and thus turn to Him was affirmed by the evangelist to be a basic truisim of the Holy Scripture. "Eight times in the Bible is it stated that God has and uses for purposes of enrollment such a book," he said. "Moses knew this fact when he asked God to blot his own name from the book in case it was not possible for him to forgive Israel's great sin at Mt. Sinai."

Then he pointed out that God himself attested the fact when he said. "Whosoever sinneth against me him will I blot out of the Book of Life." The idea of this sin being repented of made possible the return of the name to the book was explained.

Record of this book, it was indicated, was to be found in comments by the psalmist Daniel and minor prophets. Paul referred to it by saying "whose names are written in heaven" and John in Revelations averred "And the books were opened" and also "Whosoever was not found in the Book of Life was cast into the lake of fire."

Using Jesus' affirmation regarding the book as a text: "Rather rejoice because your names are written in heaven," he disclosed these to have been said to the seventy disciples as following a tour in which they reported even the devil was subservient to them. They should feel greater exaltation at the fact of the presence of their names in this book rather than in the success of the work they had performed.

"Even Jesus at times could not do his mighty works because of unbelief. So we too may find our success seemingly lessened for the same reason," he said. "We are too much concerned at results sometimes. We become despondent because we fail to see victory. But the Lord accomplishes his ends in various ways. Years ago there was but one convert, a little girl, in a four weeks' revival. It loomed a failure. But for 27 years now that girl, long a grown woman, has been one of the leading missionaries to India where a large section is under her direct control. The big thing to rejoice about is not what we do or have done but the fact that our names are written in the Book of Life following the repentance of our sins."

Rev. Mr. Newlin deprecated the sentiment of the song, "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder I'll Be There." "Of course you will be there," he said. But will our names be written in the Book of Like. That will be the only important thing to us. Unless, repentant of our sins, we have merited our having them there all will be lost to us as is the case of a student failing in his examination. In Lisbon your name attached to the description of certain property makes you it owner. Occasionally there are errors in human records as was the case of the blind union veteran, who feeling with his hands, found his name not on the monument erected for Pennsylvania soldiers. But the Keystone state remade the tablet with his name at the top of the list and pail his way again to Gettysburg field that he might feel out the truth. But God makes no errors in his book notations. There are not devils enough in hell to blot your name out if it is therein.

"If you have the consciousness that because of unrepeated sin your name is not in this Book of Life it is manifestly your duty to affect a reconciliation with God through repentance that will merit forgiveness and insure its being placed on its pages.

"It is fine to be a member of a church; it is and should be a comfort but there is need for a greater assurance than that which is the certainty that you have become reconciled with God, thus knowing that the move has automatically put your name in this most important book to all mankind."

FIRE INSURANCE BOOST PROPOSED

The increase in the fire insurance premiums as proposed in a memorandum, filed with W. E. White, state deputy insurance commissioner, will not amount to more than 5 per cent, if that much, Mr. White said yesterday, correcting the impression that the increase would amount to 15 per cent. The proposed increases will go into effect January 1, and will affect only such risks as business houses, stores, schools and other buildings in unprotected places and where the losses have been heaviest in the last several years.

The memorandum was filed with Mr. White by T. B. Sellers, manager of the West Virginia bureau at Columbus, O.

The new rates may be put in effect by the companies without waiting the approval of the state. The state can act only when discriminatory rates are reported and then it can hold a hearing and if the evidence warrants, it may demand a revision of the rate, taking the matter to the courts to enforce it.

The tax commissioner is required to assemble the assessors once each year and at these meetings, which are open to the public, interested citizens usually appear and discuss their problems.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN.

It came out that Maybury had worked with his college dramatic club. And casual references to certain doings in San Francisco stirred the suspicion that he was not unacquainted with chorus girls and late parties. Hester perceived his boyish desire to establish himself with her as a bit of a gay dog. But she didn't mind. His good humor bubbled through his talk. She found herself laughing with him. The thought came—it was a sobering yet stirring little thought, carrying with it a faint warm sense of guilt—that boys sometimes fell wonderfully in love with older women.

The dishes were pushed back. He offered her a cigarette, which she accepted with a defensive little laugh and permitted him to light. She kept her eyes away from Sadie. He seemed to have forgotten Grace Appleby and her red hair.

Mr. Watt got deliberately to his feet, fingered his glasses and surveyed the room. The chatter quieted.

"My dear young friends . . ." he began.

Henry Harper, who was lighting a cigar, cackled out at this point, "Shoot the words, Murry!"

"Isn't he a scream, your Mr. J. Murry Watt?" whispered Maybury, and Hester, her eyes dancing, nodded.

"My dear young friends, I have an announcement to make which I am sure will be of the greatest interest to all of you. During my long career as an actor—and I may say it has been my privilege to observe much and at first hand the lonely struggle of the artist in a materialistic world—I have participated in only a few such stirring moments as that in which we now find ourselves. As we all know, there have been great souls in the theater, heroic souls. The names come to mind of Edwin Booth and Lawrence Barrett, of Henry Irving and Ellen Terry. On one occasion, when I was leading man with Modjeska . . . ."

"Passing lightly over the next thirty years," cackled Harper, "what's happened?"

Mr. Watt beamed down upon him. "My dear Henry, considering what I have to tell you all, considering what an occasion this dinner represents in the career of the Wayside Theater, I can afford to treat your ill-timed observations with the ignominy they invite."

And Joe Maybury whispered in Hester's ear, "Hear, hear!" with so loud a British accent that she laughed aloud.

"In a word, dear friends, as I was about to remark, while all are familiar with those great figures who have given their all, their very souls, to that art which draws into its service all the other arts, it is not so often that we learn of an outsider who comes loyally and as is the duty of really civilized man, to their support." glances were exchenaged about the table. Sadie caught Hester's eye at last and saw that she was sobered.

"As you may have inferred, as the discerning among you may have inferred from my making that last remark on this extraordinary occasion" —he waved to include the table, the rrom, even the ocean outside—"such a splendid person has come, sans peur et sans reproche, to the support of the Wayside Theater. For the sum of four thousand dollars . . . ."

Hester couldn't help looking up again. Sadie's mouth was shaped into a little round "o" of amazement. Hester shrugged.,

. . . . . for the sum of four thousand dollars in cash, a half interest in the Wayside Theatre has been purchased by"—again he paused and looked around to watch the effect he was producing—"by Mr. Julian Reed. I am glad to be able to inferm you that the thing couldn't have been more modestly or handsomely done. I shall continue as your director." A low groan from Harper was blandly ignored. "And now, dear friends, I congratulate you. I am sure I need not attempt to voice my gratitude and my appreciation of the loyalty and patience you have all exhibited during certain dark days that we, as a company, have passed through. It is enough to say, as at last I am able to say, that your faith and mine has been rewarded. The dark days are over."

Hester, confused, felt a little stab of memory. During that night hour by the ocean Julian hadn't been the lame puppy, but a gentle and understanding man. And she had yielded her lips to his. Now he was coming back as an unbelievable benefactor. She like the others would owe her very living to him. A shiveer ran through her slender body . . . . But she couldn't help it now. Even if he had done it for her, foolishly, blindly, she couldn't help it. It had happened. She shrugged again. After all, the present was reality. That warm glow was still about her heart. She didn't care. This boy didn't think her old. Or did her? The test would come when they left this room. Would he walk with her or seize the opportunity to slip away? She'd have to give him that opportunity.

She walked alone from the room. A giggling Sadie rushed after her, saying, in an excited whisper, "My word, Hester, that's double what he had in his letter of credit. Murry's going right through him! And where does he GET it?"

"I'm sure I don't know," Hester replied discreetly. But her breath was curiously short. She was trying not to glance back toward the dining room.

Then she saw him coming. He walked beautifully. How tall and lithe and clean he was! How he radiated the very spirit of vigorous Western youth! She introduced him to Sadie, and then, white and still, watched the two of them. Wasn't Sadie more his kind? It might be the end of an absurd little dream.

The three of them walked out together into the bold sunshine. There were few bathers out there now, and the wide beach glittered invitingly. Sadie turned back toward the others. Would he follow?

But he bent over her. "We musn't stop our visit now," he said. "Couldn't you stick it out a little longer?"

She hesitated. It would be like her, or like the girl she had been, to shrink back into that queerly inaccessible nature of her granite-souled forfathers. She drew in a long breath, then lifted her eyes to his and slowly smiled.

"We might sit on the beach until it's time to start," said she. "The trucks

"We musn't stop our visit now," he said.

are packed. I don't think they'll need you."

"It looks like a good chance to borrow one of those big umbrellas," said he, with a musical little laugh.

There can be little privacy in a traveling troups. In the Wayside Theater there was next to none. By night the actors sleep in the dressing tent at the right of the stage, the actresses in the tent on the left. Mr. Watt had a small tent that he shared with the stage manager. The crew set up their cots on the stage. Early in the morning all were wakened to attack the problem of packing. And then came the ride, long or short as might be, to the next town on the itinerary. Meals were a problem, to be fitted into the routine as swiftly and easily as possible.

This program spelled hard work during all of every day. It was a healthy, hard life, all in the open air. Muscles developed, faces grew brown and firm; the seven to eight hours of nightly slumber became a joy to be looked to eagerly, the waking a humorous torture.

It followed naturally from this sort of crowded living that even the less experienced members of the troupe learned to take in the emotional twistings and turnings that were inevitable among such temperamental folk with quietly observant eyes. What personal comment there might be was let fall guardedly by two and two. They knew each other too deeply to risk talk. Usually a brief phrase or even a momentarily lifted brow was enough to convey a world of meaning. Each individual was weighed and shrewdly catalogued. Honesty was felt, talent respected, vanity smiled at, weakness quietly accepted. And yet not a person among them but assumed that his inner life was shrewdly hidden away.
